It Means Something

To have the largest circulation in Western Ontario, to carry more advertising than any other newspaper printed or published in this district. It means that gives an advertiser the kind of satisfaction he wants, at a price he is satisfied to pay. It is the only reason. The secret others are seeking to solve. That The Planet is ever winning increased patronage and approval.

"The Planet"

MONDAY, SEPT. 23.

TREES ARE SO BEAUTIFUL.

"I want to see the trees, they are so beautiful." This is what the dying President said when the nurse sought to arrange the pillows so that the light would not shine into his eyes. The room in which Mr. McKinley lay dying looked out upon the handsome grove which surrounds the Milburn residence, and his last view of the earth was a vision of beautiful, stately trees, rustling leaves, and waving branches. The dying President's remark was another of those touches of nature which make the whole world kin. For long the tendency on this continent was to destroy the beautiful in nature. Wild beasts were shot for their flesh or their fur, wild birds for their feathers, trees were slaughtered everywhere in response to the demand of a cold commercialism for lumber. But times are changing. Wild life is being preserved, streets are no longer bare of trees, public parks are everywhere, and reforestation is a practical science.

As originally created, this continent was marvelously beautiful; as spoiled by civilization it had fair for a time to become utterly ugly. It is an evidence of a better spirit that agencies for preserving the beauty of the earth's surface are now so numerous and so active. Human nature is wonderfully susceptible to environment. It is not too much to hope that human nature will be the better if its surroundings are beautiful.

A LIBERAL BOGEY.

The Globe, on the very doubtful authority of The Winnipeg Free Press, says that the government of Manitoba has introduced direct taxation, though one of the chief cries against Greenway was that his government was drifting towards the same thing. This, the Globe thinks, is significant for Ontario, especially as Mr. Whitney has for many months been warning the people of the Province that the finances were steadily pointing towards direct taxation.

We are by no means satisfied, however, that the Conservative government of Manitoba has resorted to direct taxation, and if it has we feel entirely what bearing that has on Mr. Whitney's course. He has nothing whatever to do with Manitoba, nor does the policy of the government of that province in any way affect him. It is true that he has accused the Ross Government of drifting towards direct taxation; but he is not alone in the opinion that that is where they will pull up. Even the Liberals admit that unless there is a change in the financial management of the province there will soon be no other alternative. No one now believes in the famous surplus, and The Globe does not add to the strength of its argument when it asserts that the government is not financially hard up. As a matter of fact, it has had considerable difficulty for years past in making ends meet.

Salt Rheum

You may call it eczema, tetter or milk crust. But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, owes its existence to the presence of humors in the system.

It will continue to exist, annoy, and perhaps agonize, as long as these humors remain.

It is always radically and permanently cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla
which expels all humors, and is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions.

DANGEROUS SUGGESTIONS.

"I wish that the policemen in Buffalo who seized the pistol of the scoundrel who shot our adored President, had taken the butt of the weapon and dashed the man's brains out on the spot." T. De Witt Talmage.

Rev. Dr. Naylor, in McKinley's church in Washington: "If I had been in Buffalo I would have blown the scoundrel to atoms."

Such utterances being expectorations of two metropolitan divines go a very long way towards explaining the lawlessness prevailing in many parts of the United States, properly comments the Ridgeway Standard. There is never any occasion for acting in such a manner. To do so would be to descend to a level with the murderous assassin.

WHY WE CHEER.

Don't err, it isn't the Duke of York alone the nation cheers, says the Toronto Star, but the throne and the people behind it—the beef-eaters, the sturdy men, those who have made the little island great.

We look at the Duke, and past him away down the long avenue of British history. We cheer because Wellington won at Waterloo; we cheer because the maimed, glorious Nelson fell and every man did his duty; we cheer because of Alfred the Great, the with a soul that wanted to reach out and love the whole world; we cheer because of Alfred the Great, the road maker and burner of pancakes; we cheer because of Cromwell, the old-time rough rider; because of Shakespeare, the poet for all time, and Milton, his brother in immortality; because of Byron and Tennyson, Burns and Gladstone; we cheer because of her whom we loved, our Queen, his grandmother; because of our King, whom we respect, his father.

The arches, the great guns, the hats doffed, courtiers on their knees, the cheers, are not for the Duke alone, but in honor of the great part of the little island that he represents, and in whose history he may some time take a vital part as King.

The royal souvenir edition of the Ottawa Citizen has reached this office and it is a gem. Profusely and handsomely illustrated on toned paper and containing 28 eight-column pages of excellent reading matter, it is an issue that well deserves the enormous circulation it is securing. The Planet—itsself somewhat of a leader in the matter of artistic special numbers—doffs its bonnet to The Citizen and heartily congratulates everyone concerned in its magnificent publication.

MODEST HUTTON.

Tilbury News.
If prominent men are in danger of their lives as the Pan-American, the editor of The News will be a little chary about going.

SO DELIGHTFULLY MODERN.

Smart Set.
"Is your new rector an agreeable man?"

"Indeed he is—real nice; plays golf and squash, owns a naphtha launch, and automony, and besides, he isn't a bit religious."

GO WEST, YOUNG WOMAN.

Philadelphia Ledger.
The census returns showing a preponderance of males in the west indicate that Horace Greeley's famous advice: "Go west, young man," was taken literally, and the young women stayed at home.

SHY ON THE PLUNK QUALIFICATION.

Kingston Whig.
The Ottawa Citizen nominates a number of the editors of Ontario for seats in the senate. The Hamilton Herald adds: "Men of light and leading all, but not a millionaire among them." Is that a bar? The men of wealth are not always the wisest and the best.

LEST HE FORGET.

Kingston News.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier has lost his memory. He has forgotten that it is his turn to answer Mr. R. L. Richardson's last letter. When the Cooke inquiry was on Sir Richard Christie's side that his memory was bad. It is a pity that two members of the cabinet are afflicted with the same thing.

MRS. MCKINLEY'S CONDITION.

Canton, O., Sept. 20.—Mrs. McKinley's condition is favorable this morning—more favorable than at any time since the return from Washington. Last night she had considerable rest, the house and adjacent streets after 11 o'clock being kept as quiet as possible by a small military guard. It was hoped by the attending physicians that she would be able to leave her home today, and to give attention to some matters calculated to take her mind from the depressing incidents of the past week. Those about her take a very hopeful view. Mrs. McKinley went to the cemetery about noon, and spent some little time at the vault in which the casket of the late President lies. She bore the trip bravely.

Baby's Ailments

The interesting statements of Madame Sampson-Livinski, how Ozone cured her babe.

Baby's food is hard to keep these hot days. It ferments, through vigorous germ life, and when it reaches baby's stomach it won't assimilate or allow itself to be assimilated. Instead, it forms gases, sour liquids, and causes bowel disorder. Mothers should sterilize baby's food with Powley's Liquefied Ozone or else give it in doses diluted with water or milk after feeding. Just read this letter:

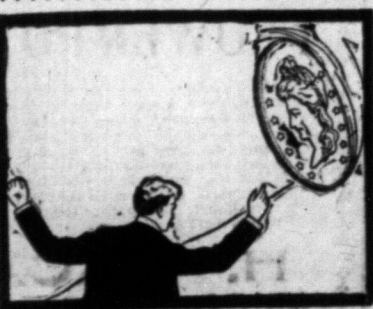

"My baby was nearly a skeleton from indigestion, and I could not get anything to stay on her stomach, and I had given up hope of raising my darling, when by mere chance I was advised to try Powley's Liquefied Ozone. I had not given her the Ozone for two days when all vomiting ceased, and in one month I scarcely knew my child, so great was the change. It is now two months since I first started giving her the Ozone, and her picture is proof of the work it has done. Mothers who desire their babies to live would profit by giving them Ozone. Any mother wishing to verify this can do so by calling or writing to my address, 391 Church Street, Toronto, and find living proof."

—Signed, MADAME SAMPSON-LIVINSKI, 391 Church St. Toronto.

Ozone is oxygen in stable, liquid form. It rectifies any organ of the body that is not working properly. It destroys germs of disease. Unlike other preparations of like object it can be taken internally freely. It is especially adapted for baby's ailments. Many a baby will live through this summer, thanks to Powley's Liquefied Ozone.

Consult our physician about your case. Write full details and you will get a specialist's advice free. Your letters are absolutely confidential. Address the Consulting Department, The Liquefied Ozone Co., 229 Kinzie St., Chicago, U.S.A.

Caressing in Public.

"THE woman who bestows her caresses in public," says Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in dealing with a letter from a husband who considers his wife too demonstrative, "is like the woman who wears diamonds at breakfast, or goes shopping in an evening gown. A demonstrative nature, coupled with loyalty, is a jewel of rarest price for a man to possess in a wife, but he wants it set in the gold of good sense, and clasped with good taste. I do not believe in a love which hides itself from all observers, nor do I approve of a love which displays itself to crowds in public places."

"I think when the heart is full of genuine emotion it must express itself at times in a look, a word, an act, irrespective of place or surroundings, which indicates the source from which it came. The man or woman who is always cold or indifferent to another before people cannot be an ardent or genuine lover in private. Something is lacking in the nature that never reveals itself in the least degree in the presence of a third party. But men are exceedingly sensitive to public opinion, in these matters particularly, and the wife who continually offends good taste and her husband in such a case must lack tact and refinement. It is a peculiar difference in the masculine and feminine mentality that a man reverts having the public share in the least his domestic happiness, while a woman glories in it. The moment outsiders say, 'How in love with you she is!' a man's affection for a woman lessens; while a woman's increases when the world says, 'How he adores you!'"

Some Unique Advice.

In these nervous modern days, when "depression," "prostration," "melancholia," "rest-cure," and "Wells Mitchell" are household words in so many families, this concise bit of advice concerning depression and low spirits will interest many. It is from the letters of Sydney Smith, clergyman, social philosopher and wit:

"Feston, February 16, 1839.
"Dear Lady Georgiana—Nobody has suffered from low spirits more than I have done—so I feel for you.
"1st—Live as well as you dare.
"2nd—Go into the shower-bath with a small quantity of water at a temperature low enough to give you a slight sensation of cold, 75 degrees or 80 degrees.
"3rd—Amusing books.
"4th—Short views of human life—not further than dinner or tea.
"5th—Be as busy as you can.
"6th—See as much as you can of those friends who respect and like you.
"7th—And of those acquaintances who amuse you.
"8th—Make no secret of low spirits to your friends, but talk of them freely—they are always worse for dignified concealment.
"Attend to the effects tea and coffee produce upon you.
"10th—Compare your lot with that of other people.
"11th—Don't expect too much from human life—a sorry business at the best.
"12th—Avoid poetry, dramatic representations (except comedy), music, serious novels, melancholy sentimental people, and everything likely to excite feeling or emotion not ending in active benevolence.
"13th—Do good, and endeavor to please everybody of every degree.
"14th—Be as much as you can in the open air without fatigue.
"15th—Make the room where you commonly sit gay and pleasant.
"16th—Struggle by little and little against idleness.
"17th—Don't be too severe upon yourself, or underrate yourself, but do yourself justice.
"18th—Keep good blazing fires.
"19th—Be firm and constant in the exercise of rational religion.
"20th—Believe me, dear Lady Georgiana, 'Very truly yours,'
"SYDNEY SMITH."

This mixture of gastric, psychic, social, hygienic, philosophic and religious advice is most striking.

Slips of Authors.

Even experienced writers sometimes make the characters do astounding things. When Anthony Trollope pictured Andy Scott as "coming whistling up the street with a cigar in his mouth" he proved that he could never make personal experiment of the double feat of smoking a cigar and whistling a tune. Robinson Crusoe also performed a most wonderful feat. When he decided to abandon the wreck and try to swim ashore he took the precaution to remove all his clothes, and yet by some strange magic, of which the secret has been lost, the author makes him, when in this condition of Nature, fill his pockets with biscuits.

The great Shakespeare had a trick of introducing the most glaring anachronisms. For instance, he makes a clock strike in ancient Rome at a time, more than a thousand years before clocks were invented, when such an event would certainly have been the eighth wonder of the world. Quite regardless of the evidence of geography, he transports Bohemia to the seaside; and he introduces a printing-press long before the days of Gutenberg. He calmly introduces a billiard table into Cleopatra's palace, and makes cannon familiar to King John and his Barons. Thackeray was no mean rival to Shakespeare in vagaries of this kind; but in his case they appear to have been the result of pure carelessness and forgetfulness. The most flagrant case, perhaps, is where, after burying Lady Kew and effectively dismissing her from the story, he brings her to life again to help him out with his plot; and in other cases his capacity for mixing up the names of his characters is confusing, considering the number he introduces. Emile Zola, in spite of his carefulness, makes the astonishing statement in one of his novels ("Lourdes") that the deaf and dumb recovered their hearing and sight, an event which savors very much of the miraculous.

Teacher—If you can get a bun for a penny, what can you get for a penny? Johnny (eagerly)—A tea-cake? "Pick-Me-Up."
