FOR FOUR HOURS' SLEEP.

Queer Club Formed by Some Chicago

Firm in their belief that sleep is a waste of time, a number of men and women of Chicago have organized themselves into a society which proposes to teach people that too great a part of their lives is spent in useless

The organization is called the Four Hour Sleep club, and the members are pledged to sleep but four hours a night. The members contend that sleeping in excess of that time is purely a habit that is, nothing short of sinful in this day of hurry and progress. It is an addiction, they argue, as harmful and intemperate as the excessive use of inexicants, tobacco or drugs. Members of the club who have children are reaging them to observe the same restriction with regard to alleged overindulgence in nightly rest. Some claim that a child five years of age can be trained to do on four hours' sleep, but the majority is of the opinion that children should be allowed from six to eight hours, the amount decreasing as the child grows older. The club has secured a large amoun of literature on the subject, and the members quote abundance of authority to show that they are right in their contentions. They point to Napoleon and a number of the greatest generals writers and thinkers of history, who are alleged to have taken four hours' sleep a night and less.

Mr. Gaul, the president of the club says that it was through a natural aversion he has to sleep, as well as a realization of its wastefulness, that he was induced to abandon the "habit." His wife and child, six years old, also manage to live with the stinted rest, and all seem to enjoy good health and bright mental faculties. The man who sleeps eight hours out of twenty-four and lives to be eightyone years old has in reality lived but fifty four years. Twenty-seven he has spent in this suspension of all the powers of the body and mind. On the other hand, the man who sleeps but four hours a night will have spent nearly sixty-eight years of real life if he at-tains the age of eighty-one years.

The Calendar Fad. Each year the magnificence of calen-dars increases until now the banking institution, insurance company or business house that keeps up the custom of giving them away finds that the appro priation for this purpose is assuming alarming proportions. The most artistic effects are aimed at, and the cheap and tawdry affairs that used to pass muster would no longer be tolerated. Naturally the concerns presenting the calendars do not wish to be outdone by their competitors, and thus the standard of excellence in workmanship has now reached a high point. Some idea of how much money is expended in this way may be gained from the fact that a Philadelphia artist received the sum of $750 for twelve priation for this purpose is assur ist received the sum of $750 for twelve drawings to illustrate one of this year's
