U. S. POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Senator Carmack of Tennessee has accepted an invitation to take the stump in North Carolina in behalf of the Democratic candidates of that state.
In drafting its platform the New Hampshire Republican convention recognized Winston Churchill's value as an author if not as a candidate.
Congressman Robertson of Louisiana, who has been defeated for re-nomination, was one of the bitterest opponents of Cuban reciprocity.

Since Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia criticized Bryan's government ownership theory there has been talk in the old Dominion of bringing out a candidate to oppose Senator Daniel's re-nomination on a government ownership platform. From all accounts the talk of opposition is not worrying Senator Daniel much.

Politicians are watching with intense interest the developments in Kentucky, where the Democrats are split as they never have before in one of the hottest factional fights that has ever taken place in the old Bourbon state. Out of the mix up the Republicans expect to get not less than two new congressmen, and perhaps a new senator, as successor to James B. McCreary.

One of the hottest contests in the congressional campaign is that now on for the First Indiana district, where the Democrats have nominated Major G. V. Menzies, to try for the scalp of Representative John W. Foster.
Senator Tillman of South Carolina has declined to accept the renomination from the Republican party in the Thirty-second Congressional district.
Senator Tillman of South Carolina will probably take the stump in West Virginia to help out the Democratic campaign in that state before the campaign closes.

BRITAIN WARNS AMERICA.
Time is Not for Fly-Screen Invasion. British Insect Well Behaved.

London, Sept. 26.—Somebody who styles himself a friend of America, but doesn't give his name, writes The New York Times correspondent: "For pity sake warn your people about the fact that we don't want about fly screens recently sent to Washington by Consul Halstead of Birmingham. Mr. Halstead says the country is ripe for invasion by American fly screen manufacturers, and I'm afraid some of your twentieth century Lord Timothy Dexters will believe him. The fact is we don't want about fly screens. We English people haven't so much as a fly apiece. What we have are quiet, well behaved and charmingly considerate, and we don't wish to deprive them of the enjoyment they derive from their occasional visits to our homes. We English need fly screens and we have the Esquimaux need artificial fly screens, straw hats and peckaboo shirts."

DOMESTICS FOR B. C.
Salvation Army May Supply Them If Railway Fares are Paid
Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 24.—Some of the several thousand domestic servants which the Salvation Army is to bring to Canada next year will come to British Columbia to compete with Chinese and Japanese. If householders here will put up the necessary money to pay their fare from Eastern Canada to the coast, this, at least, is the opinion of Commissioner Combs and Colonel Lamb, who are here from the Army headquarters. Col. Lamb is labor commissioner in London, Ontario, and is the reason why so few of the Army immigrants reach this point is because of the additional heavy charge for transportation. This he adds, can be overcome by a guarantee of the difference in the fare from the Atlantic coast to the prairie and to British Columbia. Several offers of guarantees have already been made by people who would prefer white servants to yellow domestics.

CHILDREN LIVING LIKE WILD BEASTS

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 26.—With a tale of children unwashed for six weeks and of a girl crawling on hands and knees like a wild beast, James McCormick, of Toronto, has returned here after summering for three months in the wilds of Vancouver Island. His story is one of the most appalling and heart-rending ever heard on the coast. Away up on the north end of the island, in a rough shack in the woods, he came across a man with two children, one aged ten, the other six. The mother of the pair died in giving birth to the young child. The father has not been washed since she was born, and the other girl not since the mother passed away. The remains of the woman were buried in the backyard of the shack in which the man has lived since with his two neglected offspring. The girls have never worn shoes or stockings, and are described as being almost animals of the forest. When the rancher goes to the woods or out in his log boat the children follow him like dogs, and the rancher often travels on all fours. Both are so frightened of strangers that they run at the sight of one, and it was with difficulty that Mr. McCormick took a photograph of the motherless child. Her hair is in the utmost state of neglect. Her hair is matted, vermin bred therein, and she clothes is absolutely filthy. The smaller child's hair and body are similarly affected, and the father is in a like condition. He seldom speaks to the children, but when he does he addresses them as if they were dogs. He never beats them, however. The provincial police have been notified and it is probable the children's Aid Society will take the matter up.

CUT THE BAD OUT OF THE BOY
New York, Sept. 24.—The American says: Carl Fredericks of No. 230 Clinton street, Hoboken, nine years old and incorrigible, whose brain is to be operated upon in the hope of reforming him, will be committed to the Rahway Reformatory on Thursday, where scientists will have the aid under constant observation prior to the operation. The doctors say the brain's size must be reduced.
Tests made yesterday showed that the boy has no sense of right or wrong, and by the operation, which will probably take place within a week of the boy's commitment to the reformatory, it is hoped to overcome the criminal tendencies which have so far defied the corrective attempts of his parents.
The boy's head is of abnormal shape, the skull coming almost to a point. The ears are small but protruding, and the eyes are as sharp as a ferret's.
A strange feature of the boy's behavior is that at times it is good, but never for more than an hour. His offences, usually thefts, appear to Carl to be entirely wrong, as he has frequently robbed his parents, once making a most desperate attack upon his mother when detected by her.
The boy was subjected yesterday to an exhaustive examination, and the tests showed one final result, an abnormal brain growth, which it is hoped the operation will remove. This makes Hoboken's bad boy good.
