TREED INDEED -A few days ago four little girls nearing their teens went with a stepladder, to the woods to gather nuts from a large beach tree. Its branches being some height from the ground, two of the number made the ascent while those below held the ladder, when high in the tree one of them climbed circus fashion over the other's shoulders to the main top, but when she came to get down lost all courage. The other one got down safely and an alarm was given to our Dunlop trustee elect who heroically got up the tree and with coolness and some difficulty brought her down all safe but crying bitterly with fright.
