Notes and Comments.

We are without doubt being favoured by exceptionally beautiful weather. The air is most agreeable and the temperature pleasantly warm. The weather is as near ideal as it well can be. If the "spell" will last to take us over the Regatta everybody will be well pleased.

This morning the city resounded with guns in welcome of the large body of delegates from North America, who arrived in town at 10 o'clock via Placentia. This week will be largely devoted to meetings of the Orange brethren. It is the first time the Orange body of North America has held its Sovereign Grand Lodge conference in Newfoundland.

This morning we were pleased to receive a visit from our old friend the Rev. D. Blackall. Mr. Blackall was one of our colleagues at Bishop Field College. Later he entered Queen's College, and was ordained by the Bishop of Newfoundland. He had charge of a mission in Newtown, B. B., and at other places and some six years ago left for England, where he remained nearly two years. For the past four years he has been in New Brunswick. He was the first of the Orange delegates from the continent to arrive here. He comes as proxy for the Master of the Charlotte County Lodge of New Brunswick, of which he is chaplain. He delivered rousing speeches at Victoria Hall on Thursday and Friday night. Many of his Newfoundland friends will be pleased with the opportunity of greeting him once more. His wife who is a Harbor Grace lady, accompanies him.

PROSPERO BACK.—The s.s. Prospero, Capt. A. Kean, arrived yesterday from Sydney, which port she went to get bunker coal. The coaster is now taking freight and sails for the northward on Wednesday morning. Quite a number of round-trippers are booked to go by her.

ST. PETERSBURG, Today.
The proposal made by the Russian Government that a joint naval demonstration be made off Constantinople to coincide with the mobilization of Russian troops in the south western provinces has been abandoned. Germany flatly declined to consider the Russian's allies, Britain and France, replied evasively. Russia is unable to assume the task single handed of bringing pressure to bear upon the Turks in Europe. She is unwilling to do so in Asia Minor, realising such course would encourage an American uprising which would only further complicate the Turkish problem. Owing to the breakdown of the European concert, the Russian Government sees no hope of arresting the Turks by force. Russia however, may land a force on Burgas, a Black Sea port, 75 miles Northeast of Adrianople for the protection of lives and property of Russian subjects, if the Turks march in that direction. At a Council of Ministers it was agreed that the Russian Government do their utmost to avert further bloodshed in the Balkans. If a program of military operations led to wholesale massacres the responsibility would rest on the other Powers. Russian policy is understood now to be entirely concerned with patching up the Balkan League, including Roumania as the sole means of arresting the Turkish forces.

JOHN B. AYRE.

Rev. M. S. Stewart.

Rev. M. S. Stewart, the missionary of Ungava, arrived in the city yesterday by the S.S. Kyle. Mr. Stewart has spent the last thirteen years, except for his vacation, in the frozen north, volunteering for service there after failing the arduous mission of Flower's Cove, in the Straits of Belle Isle. He still looks forward to return there. He proposes to appeal for subscriptions for a motor boat, which he will be able to use for some three months in the year. At present he depends for his journeys on kayaks in summer and dog team in winter. On his return to St. John's it took 99 days to reach Macovick where he joined the s.s. Kyle. Mr. Stewart has with him an Esquimaux boy, whom he proposes to place at school here and educate for the missionary work. Mr. Stewart has associated with him in his labours the Rev. E. Hester, who was ordained for the work two years ago at St. Mary's Church in the city. They have under their spiritual guidance some 900 Esquimaux and Indians. At Moosonee a school will be opened next May. Mr. Stewart is the guest of the Rev. Canon Dolt, Waterford Bridge Road.

A Hero of the Victoria Cross

Lendon's Tribute to Major Melkior of the Gordons.

London, July 27.—To have survived the perils of three campaigns, to die in 'hottest' of the war, to be buried in a peaceful place in Hyde Park, and to be a "ways ending" to the career of a soldier like Major Melkior, who in the army one of the Gordons—a regiment, which, it has been said, fought and killed its way round the world—and he served the Chitral expedition of 1895, Tirah expedition of 1897, and Boer war. It was in this last campaign that Major Melkior won his Victoria Cross, the cheapest from money point of view, yet the coveted of the trophies of war. For Melkior was only forty years of age at the time of his death and he had given promise of attaining a high position in the profession of his choice. The mishap brought his life to an untimely end, would not have occurred if the loss of a soldier's life had not been the result of wounds received at Elandslaagte, and his quality as a soldier may be inferred from story of his submission to the surgeon's knife. Puffing a cigarette, said to the surgeons when they were preparing for the operation: "silly beggars didn't know I was wounded." But the loss of his right arm prevented him from his startled horse, and he was heavily to the ground. By his the army has lost a gallant officer and the general staff of the army an administrator and adviser of experience and ability.

Thousands of people lined the route taken by the funeral procession of Major Melkior, V.C., on Monday. The gallant Major had died so often that his grimy face was a familiar sight. But the people who their heads as he went through the streets were thinking less of his honors than of the last honor of all, when he laid down his life for children in a London park. On June 2nd Major Melkior, riding through Hyde Park to a review of the University of London "training" corps. Such his horse bolted, taking fright at a band. Straight ahead was a gallop, and a chance to pull up, there were children in the way.
