Wedding Bells.

LEWIS-HALL.

St. George's Church, North River, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, July 16th, when Mr. E. V. Hall, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Brigue, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Miss Alice Edythe Lewis, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lewis, of St. John's.

Precisely at noon the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father escorted by Mrs. A. H. Seymour, her great-aunt and as matron of honour, with the Misses Claudine and Ellaline Severn as bridesmaids.

The groom was ably supported by Mr. Frank F. Willis, of Harvey & Co. There was a lavish display of bunting and the Sanctuary and chancel of the church were tastefully decorated with flowers by the ladies of the congregation.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank Severn, uncle of the bride, and incumbent of the mission.

The bride was exquisitely gowned in Brussels net and white satin, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas. The little bridesmaids looked charming in pale yellow silk.

The matron of honor wore a gown of silver grey, with pearls, the present of the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to the Parsonage at Salmon Cove where luncheon was served and the bride and groom honoured with the usual toasts.

The bride and groom immediately after luncheon motored to Carbonear where they connected with the train for Old Perlican, where the honeymoon will be spent.

Among the many presents received were very handsome ones from the Cathedral Choir, of which the bride was a member; a beautifully illuminated address and gift from the Sunday School of St. John's; also a gold piece from St. Margaret's Guild. If there is any truth in the adage "happy is the bride that the sun shines on," the present bride's future happiness is assured.

War Marriages of Men Overseas.

The House of Lords has passed the second reading of the Matrimonial Causes (Dominion troops) Bill, the object of which is to enable the high court in England and Ireland and the court of session in Scotland to entertain matrimonial proceedings in respect of marriages contracted by colonial soldiers in the United Kingdom during the war, although the soldiers are not domiciled in the United Kingdom. The proceedings may be instituted by either party to the marriage. The act is to apply to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Newfoundland, and as from such date is to be applied to those dominions. It is to be applied to other British possessions and protectorates by order-in-council.

The matrimonial causes which the Bill gives the courts power to entertain are, in England, suits for dissolution of marriage, judicial separation and restitution of conjugal rights; in Scotland, actions for divorce, separation a mensa et thoro, and adherence; and in Ireland, proceedings for divorce a mensa et thoro, restitution of conjugal rights and criminal conversation.

After the Lord Chancellor had moved the second reading of the bill, Lord Phillimore said he thought it went a little farther than was intended. He agreed that a colonial soldier who had married an English girl should be answerable to the English courts during their residence in that country, but when the colonial soldier had returned home they ought to settle their differences in their own country.

Viscount Haldane suggested that there should be a time limit. The Lord Chancellor promised that the suggestion should receive consideration before the committee stage.
