ALL IS QUIET AT BOWLING GREENS

Their Homes and Play Has Ceased.

festerday's Rainstorm Soaked the Only One Allowed Past the First Sack Lawns and Rendered Play Next to Impossible.

The bowling tournament is a thing A the past. Yesterday afternoon the McNee trophy match was brought down to three rinks, all from London. Bert Heaman won from E. A. Caug-ell, of Aylmer, in as hard a battle as has been seen on the green for some He will now fight it out with Skip Charlie Abbott for a position in the inals against Barney Vining's four. By a singular coincidence Abbott and Heaman battled for the O. B. A. championship at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Abbott won then, and Heaman hopes to even matters now.

Caughill, of Aylmer, and Ray, of Strathroy, tossed for fourth prize in the Consolation, and the Aylmer skip won the choice, Bowlers Off for Home.

Practically all the outside bowlers have returned home. Bawden and Little, of Ridgetown, who were in the Jewelry class in the Scotch doubles, departed, taking a prize with them. They did not wish to remain another

It is expected that Heaman and Abbott will play on Tuesday next for the McNee trophy, and then the finals will be played later.

TWO FAST GAMES FOR THE HOLIDAY

Management of London Team Arranges Matches With Johnston's Strath-

The management of the London Baseball Club have arranged a series of games with the Strathroy team for the championship of Middlesex. The first meeting will take place at Tecumseh Park on Civic Holiday, when two games will be played, at 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. The Strathroy team is now under the wing of Abbie Johnson, the old Londoner, late of the South Michigan League, who has frilled them in such a fine shape that the team that beats them will have to hustle. The locals have been practicing regularly, and the fans that go to see these games will witness good exhibitions. The management of the London Basegames will witness good exhibitions. batteries: Strathroy, Smith, Holt Newton; London, Tether, Clarke,

McNEE MATCH POSTPONED SOX HELD DOWN TIGHT

-Summers Touched for But One Hit

Chicago, July 29.—The most sensational game of ball and the greatest pitching duel ever witnessed at Comiskey Park was played this afternoon between the White Sox and the Tigers and only one of the most brilliant pieces of base running of the year by Ty Cobb allowed the Tigers to score the only run of the game in the seventh inning.

Only once were the White Sox able to Only once were the White Sox able to reach first base through hitting Eddie Summers safely, and this hit was good for but one base. On but two other different occasions did members of Duffy's organization get as far as the initial sack, and these were through passes issued by the Tiger twirler.

"You can't stop the Tigers now," is the sentiment of Chicago fans at present. Their work of the past few days is what has made them look good right here in Chicago. It has been 27 innings since they have been scored on, and this is due to the work of their pitchers, who they have been scored on, and this is due to the work of their pitchers, who have come back from the slump that have come back from the slump that they were in on the eastern trip.

Pitted against Summers Duffy had big Ed. Walsh. The "spitball artist" was working well enough for him to win almost any game played so far this season, and had it not been for the great work of Cobb in the seventh inning the game would probably have ended with the result helps a sorreless tie.

work of Cobb in the seventh inning the game would probably have ended with the result being a scoreless tie. Cobb's Great Play. The play came after Cobb had started the inning with a clean single to left, his second hit of the day. Crawford flied to Parent and then Cobb, seeing there was little chance of him being brought in from first with Walsh pitching the way he was, stole second. Still the Georgian had to rely upon himself to get the rest of the way around the circuit, for, as the remainder of the inning showed, he would have died on base and the game would have been scoreless. Lathers came up to sacrifice Cobb to third. He laid the ball down the third base line perfectly, in fact, so well did the same would have been scoreless. Quinn is pitching great ball this season. New York, July 29.—Tommy Burns is at his old tricks again of holding up fight promoters for more money after having agreed to fight for a certain amount. Hugh McIntosh is the promoter this time, and Burns agreed to accept a hig percentage of the gross receipts to fight Sam Langford a twenty-round battle in London in September, but when he heard that Langford had signed for the fight he notified McIntosh that he must get an additional 15 per cent of the receipts he notified McIntosh that he must get an additional 15 per cent of the receipts or he would call off the match. This extra percentage will figure up to over $10,000. McIntosh is to meet Joe Wood-man, manager of Langford, today, and talk the matter over with him. It is like-ly that Burns' demand will be granted.
