that the ranch of "Chevenne Harry" Buford interferes with this scheme of territorial empire, and tries to buy the territorial empire, and tries to buy the land. When Harry refuses to sell, Merritt tries force. Failing in this, he employs a crafty lawyer, who succeeds in causing the land to revert to the Merritt estate.

Cheated of his birthright, Harry journeys to Chicago to meet Merritt and receive justice at his hands. His journey is in vain, and all he brings back from his trip is a memory of his humiliation by Merritt's pretty young daughter. Mary, who has made him the butt of a joke at a dinner party in her home.

"Cheyenne Harry" decides to take the law into his own hands to regain what is rightfully his. How he accomplishes this, how he outwits Merritt and his crowd, how he makes his pretty daughter sorry for the insult, and how he finally finds love and happiness are told in the photoplay. The vaudeville feature is "The Venetian Four," presenting "A Night in Venice," a novelty singing and musical offering. Mrs. Joe Martin, the educated monk, will be shown in a special two-reel comedy, "The Good Ship Rock "Rye," and a Mutt and Jeff cartoon will also be shown.

at YOUNG'S

This week, to interest prospective buyers of Diamonds, we are displaying in our windows a great variety of Diamonds, mounted in rings, pendants and brooches, at prices from $25.00 to $125.00. We are limiting this display to these prices because they seem to be the amount the average man cares to invest in a diamond. A special feature of this display will be an extensive showing of our special $100.00 Diamond Ring. The loose stones will be shown, and also the stones mounted in various styles of settings.

Do not miss this display, as it will be of special interest TO ALL PEOPLE interested in Diamonds. 'Every Diamond marked in plain figures.'
