80 HUSKY GRID CANDIDATES CAVORT AROUND IN DRIZZLE

Kiwanian "Booster" Day May Be Declared For O. R. F. U. Opening, October 28

ALL CITY SQUADS OUT AT ONCE MAKE BIG SHOWING

Western Shows Full Roster Last Night-O. R. F. U. Crew Begin To Shake-Out-Forty C. I. Students Also Chase Pigskin.

T least 70 players, and probably nearer 80, were out at Tecumseh Park last night chasing four slippery and clammy pigskins all over the lot in a fine Haig and Haig drizzle that finally ended in a regular downpour, in which the O. R. F. U. bunch still worked to tougher themselves up.

Seventy padded young huskles ranging all the way from the Central Collegiate seconds to the Western and O. R. F. U. warriors padded around various parts of the park, each squad in various stages of trainingan inspiring sight for the rugby enthusiast, which London has seldom been guilty of putting on.

In addition to the various squads out there was a big lineup of railbirds getting their feathers wet in the drizzle as they stood grouped near their favorites. Western was again out nearly to full strength, and in the future every available man who may be let off lectures will be allowed to go until the workouts ease up.

Analyzed Games.

Coach Reid took the squad over Saturday's game in Toronto, analyzed Western's faults in holding, and proceeded right away to have the squad put the lesson into practice. Saturday against O. A. C. will see a big improvement in Western's defense as a result of last Saturday's games, for Reid took the trouble to point out to the unobservant that it was McGill's defense that enabled them to stave off defeat for almost three-quarters against Varsity's admittedly superior strength, and their defense was nothing more or less than sheer grit, and Mitchell-Eiget Indian. against Varsity II. in the morning should patch up the defense considerably.

Even with the slippery condition of the squad showed up to better advantage at ball carrying. There are a couple of new additions to the squad which look promising, and may find their way into the line-up Saturday against the Guelph Aggies.

Rowan's Stalwarts Untangle.

Coach Tom Rowan was beginning to see some rays of light, even in yesterdary's drizzle, as his squad shades out where he can mentally place them into position. A few figured there wouldn't be any workout, in view of the weather, but there were at least fifteen who refused to let a little thing like rain interfere with getting out.

Tonight's practice will consist almost entirely of signals and straight conditioning. The tackling practices have been getting more strenuous each light, and now the candidates park a knee or boot in a friendly sort of way on the faces of players playing the role of "live" dummies.

Sergt.-Major Blake had his two squads out yesterday, and the two numbered around 40 players. Blake was concentrating on the firsts, who look much huskier than the railbirds credited. They have had some good experience in their games with Petrolea High and St. Thomas, and it is showing in their workouts.

Both squads will be in great condition by the time their first games roll around in the O. R. F. U junior series and the Inter-County League, in which latter the seconds will compete.

Twenty candidates have always been a high water-mark for the local collegiate, but this year the L. C. I. youngsters look like a swarm when they trot out to battle with the mud, each other and the intricacies of rugby.

On Oct. 28 the newly-formed Weston Turf Club will give a meet at Weston, and from there the Dufferin Park meet will commence on Thanksgiving Day. The fall fairs have had plenty of spirited racing and an abundance of speed will winter in Toronto this year.

Walters should have an opportunity to familiarize himself with race conditions at Gloucester. Of the four entries in the Nova Scotia series, only two could be elegible to go to Gloucester. Blue Nose and Mahaska, both of Lunenburg. The other Lunenburg vessel, Margaret K. Kiwanians Favor Plan To Get Behind O.R.F.U. For Fresh Start

IT is altogether likely that the Kiwanian will put on one of their famous "booster" days to start the local O. R. F. U. football season off, when Petrolea comes here on Oct. 28 for the opening game of the season. The matter will be taken up at the Friday luncheon and by the directors Tuesday next, and if it is at all possible to arrange the ceremonies, London's O. R. F. U. season will start off with a bang, touched off by the familiar Kiwanian pep and tinder.

The chamber of commerce directors will also be interviewed, and at least the fullest moral support of the members is already assured.

KITCHENER HAS 3 STRONG TEAMS

O. Rumpel Will Again Head K. H. A.-Lots of Material.

Owing to the late start made, even after all the noise over the O. R. F. U. prospects in London this season, it's just possible that Wallaceburg might win the opener Saturday.

The locals are not going down to the 'Burg with that idea in mind, but it's a possibility that they are perfectly sane enough to admit.

However, with another week's work under their belts, they should be ready for Sarnia the next week-end.

Yesterday's showing of rugby material at Tecumseh Park was the best argument that could be put forward for the absolute need of O. R. F. U. football in London.

Senior rugby with the game making a showing like that, isn't any utter impossibility with a few more years to go.

Dockstader was among the casualties of Western, who indulged in a little light workout on the outer frings of the squad. The little outside has a badly scraped knee.

Yorkie Richardson and Bill Friend are among the exponents of English rugger on the O. R. F. U. squad. The pair got away for a regular rugger rum Monday night.

The addition of Scotty Hogg, the former player of the Dominion junior champlons, as a trainer rounds out the squad nicely. "Tammus" is one of the best rugby trainers in the business and right now that is what the squad needs.

Windsor is one of the biggest men trying out, and as well as possessing weight, he's fast and takes a nice diving tackle. There'll be no dragging for yards while referee fumbles with the whistle when this package attaches himself around the knees.
