

FEAR GIRLS OF ONTARIO UNDERMINING HEALTH

Ontario Girl Guides Pass Resolution Urging Appeal To Parents.

HOLD ANNUAL SESSION

Claim Young Girls Indulge in Too Many Late Parties and Entertainments.

That the young girls of Ontario are undermining their health and their better principles by indulging in late parties, meetings and entertainments, was the fear expressed by the Ontario Council of Girl Guides, meeting in Croydon Hall yesterday afternoon, with the result that the council, which is composed of representative women from all over the province, passed a strong resolution urging an appeal be made to parents, Guides and young people in general, insisting that their parties and meetings begin at a suitably early hour and end before midnight. The resolution was introduced by Mrs. J. H. Hodgson of Toronto and seconded by Mrs. Stanley Wallace of Walkerville.

The resolution reads as follows: "Whereas the principles of this association are set down for the purpose of helping the girlhood of this country, and

"Whereas late hours tend toward the undermining of health, especially of young people, and

"Whereas there is a modern tendency to continue meetings, parties and entertainments of all kinds until the early hours of the morning, thereby necessitating the return home of the young people on the street, by street car or taxi-cab at an hour which is far from conducive to the health and best principles of growing girlhood, and

"Whereas there is much undue worry borne by parents because of said late hours kept by their children, thereby causing much anxiety and worry which could be easily avoided and which children in this enlightened age should not so thoughtlessly impose upon their parents.

"Therefore, be it resolved that this association go on record as endorsing an appeal to parents, guides and young people in general, to insist that their meetings, parties and entertainments begin at a suitable early hour and end before midnight."

The passing of this resolution was perhaps the most important piece of business accomplished by the guide council in its annual session yesterday.

Mrs. E. B. Smith of this city was again elected Provincial Commissioner, with Mrs. Allan McLean, deputy commissioner, Miss Beth Pennington, secretary, and Miss Doris Anden, treasurer, all of these offices having been the unanimous vote of the meeting. The executive also includes Mrs. C. H. Hill of London, Mrs. E. A. Hardy of Toronto, Mrs. W. R. Lang of Toronto, Mrs. Clarence Foreman of Waterloo, Mrs. Hendrie of Hamilton, Miss James of Toronto, Mrs. Hodgson of Toronto, Miss Helen Aylward of London, Mrs. Wallace Campbell of Walkerville, Mrs. Crowe of Guelph, Mrs. Burrows of Toronto, Mrs. Gordon Ratcliffe of Toronto, and Mrs. Fullerton of Coburn.

The next annual meeting of the Girl Guide council will be held in Toronto, the invitation of Mrs. Frank Hodgins, Toronto, yesterday's meeting, which was accepted at the Ontario Girl Guiding throughout Ontario has just completed a most successful year, according to the reports which were presented yesterday.

Many Companies. There are now in the province 168 companies of Guides, 15 Brownie Packs and 5 Ranger Packs, with a total of 3,572 Guides, with 347 officers. During the year 42 new companies have been organized, 10 new Brownie Packs formed, and 10 Ranger Companies. Eighteen new Guide districts have been opened up. They are: Burk's Falls, Cobden, Coe Hill, Elmville, Erin, Froquois Falls, Kirkandine, Lucknow, Nipigon, Pembroke, Port Carleton, Port Hope, Port Stanley, Port Thomas, Schreiber, Sutton West, Tillsonburg and Woodstock. During the year the Brownie work has grown tremendously, according to the report of Miss Beth Pennington, the secretary: 5,553 badges and pins were issued. The receipts of the provincial council treasurer, Miss Doris Anden, during the year amounted to $5,661.61, and the expenditure $4,615.75, leaving a balance of $1,045.86.

An interesting recommendation which is to go from the provincial council to headquarters is that the Canadian guide commissioners' uniforms be made after the fashion of the English uniform. This motion was made by Mrs. Lang of Toronto and seconded by Miss Syme of Ottawa. The provincial commissioner, Mrs. E. B. Smith, and Miss Dorothy MacGregor of Toronto were appointed to represent the provincial council at the annual meeting of the Canadian Girl Guide Association in London.

LAFOLLETTE ILL. Robert M. Lafollette, head of the prospective third party in the United States, who is ill with pneumonia.

The World's Guide Camp to be held in England this summer. Mrs. Frank Hodgins of Toronto and Mrs. Clarence Foreman of Waterloo were named to represent the Ontario council at the meeting of the provincial council early in April.

Inspiring Address. Mrs. H. D. Warren of Toronto, Dominion commissioner for Girl Guides, gave an inspiring address before the meeting. "Guiding certainly is a grand game," she said, and congratulated the Ontario council on the progress it had made. She touched on the rivalry which exists between the Girl Guide movement and the C. G. I. T. movement, but declared that while she thought the C. G. I. T. movement to be one of the finest, she believed that the Girl Guide movement, because it was imperial, was doing a bigger work than the C. G. I. T. Miss Joyce Walton, commissioner for Greater London, England, and Red Cord Diplomat Guide, gave an insight into her guide work among the factory girls of Old London.

Outlining the ideals of guiding in a most inspirational manner, she said: "We're aiming at reconstructing a new world, and guiding will help. Each guide should be alive, skilled in homecraft and hand-craft. She must be filled with the spirit of service for others, and must keep her physically fit. We want each of us to be one who really guides."

Reports from the divisional commissioners were exceedingly interesting. Among which the Toronto report, given by Mrs. Frank Hodgins, stood out. Toronto has now 2,193 Guides in 53 companies, 19 Brownie Packs, 5 Ranger Companies and 1 Cadet Company. Other reports were given by Miss Syme of Ottawa, Mrs. Forest of Port Hope, Mrs. Sharpe of Uxbridge, Mrs. Watt of Bradford, and Mrs. Stanley Wallace of Walkerville.

The next annual meeting of the Girl Guide council will be held in Toronto, the invitation of Mrs. Frank Hodgins, Toronto, yesterday's meeting, which was accepted at the Ontario Girl Guiding throughout Ontario has just completed a most successful year, according to the reports which were presented yesterday.

SIR CHAS. V. STANFORD, NOTED COMPOSER, DIES

Former Organist in Trinity College Passes Away in the British Capital.

Associated Press Despatch. London, March 29.—Sir Charles V. Stanford, the noted Irish composer, died today at his home here. Born in Dublin in 1858, Stanford for many years was organist of Trinity College, professor of music at Cambridge University, and conductor of the Cambridge University Musical Society for more than twenty years.

Stanford's music has been adjudged by the critics as strongly individualistic, with the characteristic marked by his Irish nativity well imparted. His Irish symphony has been frequently performed here and abroad, and his light opera "Shamus O'Brien" had a long run in London in the "90's." His choral writings are accounted his strongest works, notably his choral ballad "Revenge" and his five "Songs of the Sea" for soloist, male chorus and orchestra.

Church News

MAITLAND ST. LADIES' AID.

A term of almost half a century as an officer of the Ladies' Aid is the unique record of Mrs. William Tack, treasurer of the society in connection with the Maitland Street Baptist Church. Mrs. Tack bids fair to celebrate her jubilee, as she resumed office again at a recent meeting when officers were elected. Presenting her with a handsome electric table lamp, the society recognized Mrs. Tack's quite unusual service. Mrs. M. Robertson and Mrs. F. Kennedy, two members of long standing, conducted the presentation, which bore with it an address expressing the appreciation and regard of the members for Mrs. Tack.

The officers elected were the following: President, Mrs. G. Haslam; vice-president, Mrs. J. Gibson; first vice-president, Mrs. J. Coleman; secretary, Mrs. Newman; assistant secretary, Mrs. J. Prescott; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Tack; assistant treasurer, Mrs. T. Roe; organist, Mrs. M. Fisher; social committee, Mrs. M. Robertson, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Kennedy; sick committee, Mrs. Dorey, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Collings and Mrs. Newman.

TRAINMEN ARE KILLED.

Newark, Ohio, March 29.—Four Baltimore and Ohio trainmen were reported to have been killed when a freight train on the Shawnee river crossed a bridge south of here this morning. High water was said to have caused the trestle to give way.

HOLD BOX SOCIAL.

The box social held by the Theban Sanatorium, O. O. H. and P. in Alma block last night was a decided success, over 150 attending. Cards formed an important part of the program, after which all retired to the luncheon room, where the social got under full swing when the variety box was won by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Anden.

CHILDREN ENJOY REAL HOME LIFE AT DAY NURSERY

Welfare Drive Will Aid Noble Work Done by the City Institution.

PLAY FACILITIES

Working mothers are insured an opportunity to keep the family together by the services of the London Day Nursery operated under a board of London women, the headquarters of which are located on King street, near Wellington. This is one of the 14 agencies affiliated in the London United Welfare Fund, the canvass for which is to be conducted throughout the city next week.

Like many other welfare projects of the United Fund, this is an enterprise which helps those who help themselves. Those who utilize this agency are not recipients of charity in which they do not themselves co-operate. Each mother pays a fee of 25 cents per day for on child and an additional 10 cents if another child is left at the nursery from the same family. The remainder of the fund required for the support of the nursery comes from the United Welfare Association.

This institution provides for play facilities for the younger children while those of school age attend regularly a nearby public school, returning to the nursery at noon where all receive a nourishing meal prepared according to approved dietary prescriptions.

Numbers of homes would be broken up, an unwelcome mothers would be compelled to commit their children to welfare institutions where they would lack the advantages of home life with their own parent or parents. Furthermore, the opportunity for younger children to associate in their play with children of their own age, under competent supervision, solves a problem where unregulated play in the open streets proves serious for many mothers.

The nursery provides an inside play room with toys and play apparatus for bad weather, and an outdoor playground for seasons when the weather is favorable for its use.

MARCH IS PREPARING FOR ROARING FINISH

month of hourly changes. There is one perhaps, it is a stepping stone toward summer and a last farewell to winter. These are the only possible features about this four weeks of sublime concentrated misery that one can view with any comfort and consolation.

What have we today with us, oh Londoners? Rain, squalls, and wind, a nasty, gusty wind that hasn't the decency to blow like a man strong and steady, but comes in puffs and gusts, and you come out of the house to get a little fresh air, and the flood searches out your weakest spot and gives you a shock that needs all Sunday, and all of it. Every doorway is a doorway to a doorway, and whenever a pedestrian comes along looking more than usually disgruntled it slips over his head and christens him King of the May as he goes by.

Optimist Arrives.

There was an optimist in the office this morning, who came in red of face, sparkling of eye, and husky of step. He marched it was more than a walk, into the building with the air of a conquering general. "My this is the kind of weather to make a chap feel good," he belated. "This is great. It's as good as a tonic. You can get a real breath of the briny this morning. But you've got to walk to enjoy it."

He came over to the underlings in the office and surveyed them with scrutinizing eye. "How many of you fellows walked down today? Only two of you, eh? Well, that's why you look such a bilious crowd. Look at me, I'm 65, and walked a mile and a half, and I'm going to walk home at noon as well."

He looked round in a most patronizing and objectionable way. "There were no steam-heated apartments when I was a young man. I was raised hard, grew up hard, and I'm hard. I'm hard, and you're soft. That's what's the matter—soft. March is the best month in the year, if you know how to treat her, but you've got to walk to enjoy it."

We were all very glad when he left. His boisterous flippancy was a direct challenge to the weather man, and if Monday is worse than today, the blame will assuredly lie at his door. He's not fit, rather, for he will probably walk, no matter what the weather does.

So you see there are all kinds of people in the world. Some like March and some don't. Perhaps it is a matter of the state of one's liver, after all, as health experts tell us. There is a bottle of sulphur and molasses at home on the dresser. But it doesn't look inviting. Probably walking is the easier way, and it's cheaper. So we'll walk to the office for the rest of this month!

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT.

A slight improvement in the condition of Mrs. Ada Webster, who has been in the St. Joseph's Hospital, was reported today by authorities at that institution. Little hope is held out for her recovery.
