THE WEEKLY BRITISH COLONIST

VOL 11.

VICTORIA, VANCOUVER ISLAND. WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1870.

THE BRITISH COLONIST PUBLISHED DAILY BY DAVID W. HIGGINS

TERMS:

WEEKLY BRITISH COLONIST PUBLISHED WEDNESDAY MORNING,

PAYABLE INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.
OFFICE-Colonist Building, Government and Languets, adjoining Bank of British Columbia.

Confederation and Customs Tariffs.

Although the Terms of Union agreed apon at Ottawa have not yet been officially promulgated, enough is known regarding them to justify the assumption that Confederation is no longer a question of terms. It is, in reality, only a question of time; and we do not see very well why the formal admission of British Columbia should be delayed beyoud next Deminion Day. Such would not be an inappropriate day to select for so interesting a ceremony; and there are substantial reasons why union should be coincident with the commencement of the Federal fiscal year.

Let no one infer that we undervalue the important question of terms in an fixed; and they are so good that it is morally certain they will meet with remuy acceptance at the hands of the people of British Columbia. The terms agreed upon at Ottawa are really more favorable to British Columbia than give the people the choice of Customs people, or any portion of them, can no longer say that they will not have Confederation unless it shall be accompanied by Responsible Government; for it is to be left to the free choice of the people whether they shall have Responsible Government with Confederation. The people, or any portion of them, can no longer say that they will not accept Confederation unless permission be granted to retain the present tariff of Customs-for choice of tariffs will also be submitted to them. Thus, the terms being unexceptionably good, and these two questions, which alone threstened to involve the main question in any doubt, having been so arranged as to present no possible difficulty, we conceive ourselves to be fully justified in dealing with Confederation as something certain to take place. And, if such a degree of certainty exists, we think it is safe to go a step further and affirm that the sooner union takes place the better. This must appear on reflection. Confederation is to bring in its immediate train certain material advantages, of which the Railway and fortnightly communication with San Francisco by steamships may, perhaps, be regarded as the chief. Taking the greater first, it has been agreed by the Canadian Government that in the first year after union the necessary surveys for the railway shall be made, and that in the second year work shall commence.

This being the case, it follows that the sooner union takes place the sooner will this great work, which is to infuse fresh capital, fresh population and new life into the colony, be commenced; and it is equally obvious that every month's delay in completing union is a month's delay in commencing the railway. And so also in regard to steam communication, and, in fact, in regard to the financial, postal, and other advantages which union aball bring with it. To delay union is to postpone the blessings with which it is to be accompanied; and it will readily be admitted that the colony osire for union. The terms are the Dominion, the same power to manage its own local affairs as is possessed by the other Provinces. We have seen Responsible Government engrafted upon Manitoba, while yet in its gristle state as a colony. It is scarcely conceivable that the comparatively old and experienced colonists on the Pacific would be joyed by all the other Provinces and has just been conferred upon the people conditions of the choice about to be submitted, as well as with the results likely to flow therefrom. We shall, therefore, have to reserve for a future

Having, with candor and, we trust, clearness, stated the case, it is proposed to devote a little consideration to the two subjects which it has been seen are to be very soon presented to the people for their free and intelligent shoice; for it will at once appear that if the voters at the next election are to say whether they prefer to have Responsible Government simultaneously with union, and whether they desire to retain the existing Custhoroughly ventilated. Upon the question of Responsible Government we imagine it will be unnecessary to offer any lengthened remarks. The subject has already been so much discussed, and the minds of the people must be so fully made up upon it that any discussion has already been so much discussed, and the minds of the people must be so ful-ly made up upon it that any discussion to 17° N. Whatever difference of opinion might have existed as to the desirability of investing the people of British Columbia with full powers of self-government, as a separate and distinct colony of the British Crown, we incline to the belief that no difference of opinion can exist respecting the desirability of according to British Columbia, as a Province of

MAINLAND SCHOOLS,-Mr Alston, Inep tor-General of Schools, held an examination of the District School at Yale on Friday at Manitoba. Self-respect, if not selflast, and expressed himself well pleased with interest, would forbid our acceptance of any less liberal constitution than those possessed by the other Provinces. It may, therefore, safely be assumed that the people of British Columbia no longer need to be educated up to the political standard of self-government. But, in so far as the tariff question is concerned, we are disposed to think that the case is

The terms are in reality more favorable in a financial point of view. They are more favorable in that they place within the contemporary indulged in another of those very significant paregraphs so common to his THE ENTERPRISE, this morning, will sail at 4 o'clock for Nanaimo and New West-minster, taking in tow to the former port the ship Shooting Star. Respectively and the said that after the battle of the sixth the French abandoned their works. Ineffectual efforts were made to check the Prussians. Luderbron was taken by the Bavarians. The French continue to retreat towards Bitche. The Wittemburg cavalry picked up scores of prisoners. The line of retreat is covered with dead and wounded.

Specials from Paris the scenes at the Corps Legislatif Hall, yes-terday, that the Decutes had demanded the d position of the Emperor. Outside, wild crowds assembled and refused to disperse. Bodies of cavalry and lancers were stationed in all the surrounding streets and court yards. People thronged around the Hall of the Corps Legislavif. The Police repeatedly charged on the mob, but the latter re-formed after the charge. Bodies of the National Guard threw down their arms and fraternized with the populace; other detatehments re-mained passive in the barracks. The correspondent reports that as he was going to post his dispatch he heard the sound of drame and bugles everywhere. Inside the hall the cene was fearful.
