It was Bauer's arm and not Ross' arm that was disabled in the wrestling match at Jacks.nville, Fla. It is probable the whole affair was a part of the hippodrome after the fashion of the water-struggle between Ross and Daly at Providence, R. I., a year or two ago. Oh, the tricks of these wrestlers are many and manifold.

Of all the horse diseases it fosting various sections of the continent, the disease now prevalent in Fargo Dakota, is the worst. The first symptoms is a slight swelling under the jaw, which in a short time causes the animal to struggle for breath, and, in a few days, to choke to death. Neither formentations nor outward applications seem to have the least effect.

Mr. Steinitz made the first move with the whites in all four games. The moves were called as they were made. After the Austrian had made six moves for each table, he said:

"I am ready to play a game of whist." Two ladies and a member of the club Joined Mr. Steinitz at whist. Mr. Steinitz and the lady who was his partner won the game. The Austrian then made three more moves against each of his opponents, when he again remarked that he was ready for another game of whist, but the chees players preferred to go right on with their battles.

Within about four hours from the start the Bairds and De Visser had resigned beaten. In Mr. Delmar's game the Austrian said that he was ignorant of the position of a knight because a move had not been called. He resigned to Mr. Delmar. After this the chessulen were replaced, the knight's move called, and Mr. Steinitz defeated Delmar.

On Friday night last the first Chinese prise fight on record took place in Philadelphia. It took place n a room on Ridge avenue, and forty men paid $2 an a room on Hidge avenue, and forty men paid $2 ap 'cee to see the battle. Eleven rounds were fought before Loo Hing deliberately sat down and said, "Me catchy plenty." This extraordinary announcement astonished every one, for up to the time it was made Loo had much the best of the fighting, and, beyond an egg plant under his left eve, a cut lip, and half-a-doz-n bruises, he was as Mr. Bucky O'Brien expressed it, "as fresh as a daisy." As Loo couldn't be induced to stand up and resume hostilities, the referee awarded the fight and receipts, less $2 for room rent, to Hi Sing Foon. A description of the first round asswers for all. Seven Chinamen were among the spectators. The room was lighted by three coal oil lamps, and, as there were no ropes, two short-halved men, armed with barrel staves, kept the crowd back. Hard gloves were used. Loo led off with a left-hander that caught Hi on the chin, and nearly took him off his feet. Before Hi recovered from bis astonishment his agile antagonist had landed two more blows on his neck. Then Hi said something wicked in Chineve, and rushed at his opponent like an angry bull. Loo ducked and escaped, but before he could turn Hi was showering blows on top of his bead. A clinch and fall, with Hi on top, ended the round. Him ad monthes. In the eleventh and last round, Hi appeared to have gained his second wind, for he went at Loo awasely, and dazed him with the rapidity of his blows. As Loo was reeling about, Hi made one tremendous effort, raised his hand high over his head, and brought it down like a pile-driver on top of his opponent's head. Loo went down in a heap. p'ece to see the battle. Eleven rounds were fought
