year was the Westmins er cup, at Kempton park, when, receiving only three pounds from Tristan, he beat the famous son of Hermit by a length, with Wallenstein third. At Ascot he recently wen the Orange cup, which Mr. Peck so gallastly presented to the Prince of Wales, subsequently receiving in return, it is said, £600. For the Northumberland plate Barcaldine, ridden by Fred. Archer, carried the steadying impost of 136 lbs., giving a year and 13 lbs. to last year's winner, Victor Emanue', who was unplaced, and yet winning hands down over two miles of heavy going, Shréwsbury, 4 yrs., by Brown Bread, being second with 119 lbs. up. Barcaldine is in the Liverpool cup to be run to-day, but he will scarcely be allowed to start with a crushing 145 lbs. on his back, the weight he is called upon to carry. Barcaldine was bred in Ireased and was bought by Mr. Robert Peck, his present owner, for $650 or 130 guineas. He is now valued at twelve thousand pounds, or about a hundred times his purchase money, one short year ago, Mr. Peck, who calls him the horse of a certury, having actually refused ten thousand guineas for him.

Mr J. H. Low was the breeder of Barcaldine, and he ran in his colors until the famous row with Sir John Astley in the fall of 1881, when the sporting baronet charged the Irish sportsman with making overtures to him to throw a race with the three-year-old Barcaldine, and Mr. Low and his horse were ruled off the Jockey club courses. Barcaldine was consequently given a long rest, and to this fact is partly attributed his present excellence.

Referring to the Orange cup affair, mentioned above, London Truth says: "As some silly and illnatured remarks have been made on the subject of the Orange cup and its acceptance by the Prince of Wales, it may be as well to state that the prince insisted on presenting Peck with 'a check for the full value of the trophy.
