THAT MYSTERIOUS WORM.

How Insect Gets Into a Hazel Nut.

Where did the worm in the hazel nut come from? That question has puzzled many a boy. He knows that the nuts he gathered were carefully culled and that none were stored that gave any evidence of being unsound. And yet, a few months later, when he begins to crack the nuts, he finds that a surprisingly large number are wormy.

Where did the little fat white worm come from?

The worm is the larva of a strange-looking insect known as the hazelnut weevil, an insect that belongs to the same family as the much-dreaded boll-weevil, which is periodically so destructive to the farmer's grain.

The insect is provided with a long, slender proboscis, or snout, at the extremity of which is a peculiar hooklike appendage. The proboscis is a modification of the mouth parts, and but for this snout the worm would never find its way into the nut. In the late summer, while the nut is still green and tender, the mother weevil goes in search of a place to lay her egg. The egg must be kept safe from harm during the larva hatches, it is highly important, for the weevil's point of view, that there be food close at hand so that the baby weevil will not die a prematurely early death.

Instinct has taught the mother weevil that no better place could be found for her egg than the inside of a hazelnut, for there lies safety for her egg and food for her offspring. So the mother weevil begins to peck away with her queer-looking snout, and in due time she has made a tiny tunnel to the centre of the nut. Then she lays an egg, poking it well down into the tunnel with her snout.

In a short time nature closes the opening and the egg lies safely within, finally hatching into a little white grub. The grub finds food plenty and grows fat and rotund.

When the food is all gone and he is full grown, the baby weevil gnaws his way out of the hazelnut that has sheltered him and is ready for the next step in his development, that all-important step which will transform him into a weevil exactly like his mother.

Deer Startled Winnipeg.
Vigor Rho, a contractor living in Winnipeg, is minus a pair of trousers and about two square feet of cuticle, as a result of two thrilling hand-to-hand battles with Maggie, a wild deer, which strayed into that city a few weeks ago.

Maggie crowded enough experiences into one afternoon to last her for the rest of her life, even if she lives to be 600 years old.

Here is a list of Maggie's thrills, arranged in chronological order:
Chased by dogs east of city.
Wandered into town through St. Boniface.
Strolled down Main street.
Dodged autos, street cars and other traffic.

Jumped over a "fiver."
Seized by tail by would-be hero.
Hurled said hero into City Hall flower bed by speeding up and turning corner at William avenue on "high."
Chased by two motorcycle cops.
Cornered on Bannatyne avenue by Mr. Rho.
Tore off Rho's trousers.
Bit him on neck.
Tied up with rope, put in collar.
Attacked by big dog.
Staged second battle with Rho.
Tied up again.
Enjoyed auto sight-seeing tour of city.
Chased tame deer in new home, City Park.
All known rules of the ring and mat were suspended when Mr. Rho chased Maggie into a corner of his yard, after she had outdistanced motorcycle police in a chase on William avenue.

"It was catch-if-catch rules," said Mr. Rho, relating experiences.

"I made a jump for the door, and we had a great old wrestling match. I got my arms around her neck, but she kicked with her hind feet and her sharp hoofs tore my trousers off. Then she pawed my hands and arms and tried to bite my neck."
A large crowd had gathered to watch the battle, but no one offered to help Rho. Blood was streaming from his arms as he fought for a toe-hold.

"Weeeweeewee," a woman spectator screamed. "That deer is eating the man." Maggie was trying to get her teeth in the back of Rho's neck.

Maggie shook herself loose from Rho and leaped over his head, in an effort to escape. Rho, however, made a flying tackle and grabbed the animal's hind feet as they sailed aloft, and deer and man came down in a heap. Rho applied a half-Nelson, and his wife got a piece of rope and tied up the deer's feet.

Noise and Birds.
One thinks of birds as shy and delicate creatures easily frightened by a sudden sound. That's error. A bird is disturbed by noise only so long as the noise is associated with danger. The moment noise ceases to threaten them, birds seem to mind it not at all. The gentle, lispish phoebe chooses to nest under bridges across which wagons and trucks pass frequently with a deafening roar. If the bridge is under railroad tracks, where the racket is much greater, it's all one to phoebe. The gravel roof of some high office building in the noisy centre of the city is often the chosen nesting place of Mrs. Night Hawk. The creature more harried by nerves and noise is the one that makes the most noise of all. That's man!

Change Name of Nushka.
The Postmaster-General has issued the order that the name of Nushka village will be changed to Val Garnet. The change is in honor of a gallant priest who died in the bush fire of 1916.

RANKIN—THOMPSON

Miss Ila Marie Thompson, of Port Huron, formerly of Arkona, and Mr. Clifford E. Rankin, of Uttoxeter, were quietly married in Sarnia on Wednesday evening at six o'clock at the First M.E. Parsonage, Rev. Dr. Manning officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Thompson, of Arkona, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rankin, of Uttoxeter. After a wedding supper served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Harry Stimpson, Poplar st., Mr. and Mrs. Rankin left for points east. They will make their home on the groom's farm near Uttoxeter.

FOSTER—CRAWFORD

A very pretty wedding took place Labor Day at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crawford, Caradoc st., Stratroy, when their second daughter, Eva Irene, was united in marriage to Mr. Richard Inch Foster, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Foster, of Kerwood. Rev. Dr. I. A. Brown, of Melbourne, formerly of Kerwood, officiated, in the presence of only immediate relatives. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore her travelling suit of navy blue tricotine. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents among them being one from the Methodist church choir and from the Sunday School class. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial cheque. The happy couple left by motor for London, taking the evening train to Hamilton, Toronto and Niagara Falls. On their return will reside on the groom's farm, Kerwood.

BROWNE—BAIRD

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baird, Parkhill, on Monday, Sept. 6th, when Myrel, their youngest daughter, became the bride of Mr. Clarence E. Browne.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Johnston, in the presence of the two families.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful suit of navy blue garbardin with black velvet hat, carrying pink roses, and standing in front of a bow of ferns and asters.

The presents were beautiful and numerous, showing the esteem in which the young couple are held. Miss Aity Zapfe, niece of the bride, played the wedding march and little Patricia Racey acted as flower girl.

A dainty luncheon was served, after which the bride and groom left by motor for a trip to Hamilton, Niagara and other places.

HANGED HIMSELF IN HIS OWN BARN

Isaac Reville, a farmer, aged 66 years, residing on lot 22, con. 10, Euphemia, committed suicide by hanging in his own barn on Friday of last week. From particulars which we have been able to obtain, the deceased had been despondent and acting queerly for a while, but he was not thought to be so bad as to endanger his life. However, when his son went to the barn on Friday he found him hanging from a beam in the barn by a rope around his neck, dead. He had climbed up to the beam by means of a ladder and jumped off. Dr. Martyn, coroner, was called on Saturday and after an examination of the remains, decided that it was a clear case of suicide and that no inquest was necessary. He leaves three sons and one daughter, all grown up.

Big Cash From Bulls.

Since prominence has been given to the matter of the purchase by a Wellington County breeder, of a Shorthorn bull at the extraordinary price of $24,000, many people, stockmen and others, have expressed doubt as to the possibility of the owner ever securing adequate returns on his investment. An idea of the possibilities in this direction may be gained from the fact that another Wellington County breeder, whose Shorthorn bull cost nothing like $24,000, but yet is an outstanding, fine animal and a great stock-getter, receives a fee of $500 for the service of his animal, and finds lots of business at the price charged.

Dairy Notes.

Use clean bedding only.
A good-sized barrel in a dairy cow indicates large capacity for digestion. There should be a good spring of ribs.
