

"Peasants in Exile" pleases us by a sweet simplicity throughout; it is, moreover, tinged from beginning to end by the naïve piety that comes so natural to a Polish peasant. The English translation has been well executed—so well indeed that we are confident it will meet with widespread approval. We take pleasure, then, in recommending the book to our readers. It can be had from "The Ave Maria," Notre Dame, Indiana, for seventy-five cents a copy, retail.

Athletics.

For the first time since the addition of hockey to our list of sports, Varsity is not represented in the city league. Owing to the increased number of city teams and the consequent lengthening of the schedule, our players were reluctantly forced to forego the pleasure of a race for championship honors. This season marks the institution of a local league of four teams, captained by Messrs. Bonin, McGlade, Morin and Meehan, respectively; and that no enthusiasm may be lacking, the victors will be tendered a complimentary banquet and a more lasting remembrancer of their prowess in the form of a group photo to each member of the team.
