AFTER 12 YEARS IN ONE PLACE

We are compelled by the increase in our manufacturing business to move. Up to the present three buildings have been occupied by us, with the various work rooms inconveniently separated. Convenience, economy and competition require concentration in manufacturing, and this we have obtained by bringing together our

Binding, Lithographing, Engraving, Embossing and Printing departments under one roof at 27 Wellington Street West. In this five-storey modern warehouse will also be carried on our commercial and municipal business, the importance of which is well known throughout the country.

The retail department, consisting of books, fine stationery, fancy goods, etc., will occupy larger and more convenient premises at 12 King Street West (north side, close to Yonge Street), where "Hart's" reputation for the best in fine stationery and books will be increased by the advantages which a large and thoroughly-equipped factory in connection must necessarily give.

HART & RIDDELL, ³¹⁻³³ KING ST. W.

During removal everything is subject to reduction in price.
