BURMAH.—The Karan converts of the Baptist Burman Mission constitute forty-six churches on the west side of the Irrawaddy, each of which is supplied with a preacher; none of them have less than one hundred and fifty members, and several exceed three hundred. A surprising change has passed over them, since they embraced the Gospel of Christ. Old things have passed away, and all things are become new. Supposing thirty-six of the Churches contain one hundred and fifty members each, and ten only two hundred, then the whole number of members would be 7,400. And yet, as it should be remembered, a single tract, which found its way to them, was the means of awakening the Karan conscience, and introducing this great change.

Microscopes.—Upon examining the edge of the sharpest razor with a microscope, it will appear fully as broad as the back of a knife, rough, uneven, and full of notches and furrows. An exceedingly small needle resembles an iron bar. But the sting of a bee, seen through the same instrument, exhibits everywhere the most beautiful polish without the least flaw, blemish or inequality, and it ends in a point too fine to be discerned. The threads of a fine lawn are coarser than the yarn with which ropes are made for anchors. But a silk worm's web appears perfectly smooth and shining, and everywhere equal. The smallest dot that is made with a pen appears irregular and uneven. But the little specks on the wings or bodies of insects are found to be the accurate circle. How magnificent are the works of God!

POETRY.

POEM.

Now from Heaven on high
Christ hath heard my sigh,
Mark'd my mournful cry:
I am weary, weary!

He hath given me peace;
Even though pains increase,
Love shall never cease:
I am weary, weary!

Dawn, Thou Heavenly Light,
On my vanished sight;
All there's pure and bright:
I am weary, weary!
