Continued from first page. Yellow and white streamers, tied at a certain distance apart with strings of natural flowers, caused many expressions of admiration from the people. From the summit of these as well as other buildings numerous flags of all nations other buildings numerous negs of the astron were floaling in the breeze. Notre Dame street, from Jacques Cartier square to the Notre Dame church especially, never was seen gayer than this morning, and probably never was there a more gorgeous display of ounting and flags than on this occadisplay of ounting and flags than on this occa-sion. Commencing from Jacques Cartier square, the buildings on both sides of the street were one mass of streamers. Many who could procure the arms of the Pope, Cardinal and Archhishop took the opportunity to exhibit them in their stores or dwellings to advantage. Strings of flags were su pended across the street and many of the stores placed the pictures of the Pope, Cardinal and Archhishop outside, which apflags were su pended across the street and many of the stores placed the pictures of the Pops, Cardinal and Archbishop outside, which ap-peared well among the many flowing colors. In the four windows of the dwalling house above Mrs. Archambault's millinery store were the four large letters in yellow and white roses of natural flowers, "O. T." and "A. F.," mean-ing Cardinal Taschereau and Archbishop Fabre. At the stores of Measurs. Laviolette, Cadieux, Derome and Bisvillon & Cu., corner of St. Gabriel and Notre Dame streets, an elaborate display was made. The same can be said of the Ferries Block, also on the corner of Notre Dame and St, Gabriel streets. The Notre Dame street arch, which was erected opposite St. Lambert's Hill, was of a very pretty design, and was about twenty fire fer in height, strongly constructed. It was built in the form of a double arch in height, and in the top openng a very faithful hust of Montreal's Archbishop was placed. At the sides were the Papal, Cardinlate and Archiepiscopal arms with appropriate inscrip-tions beceath. From the City Hall to the Notre Dame Church on both sides of the street posts were erected at squal distances apart, and upon each one was placed one of the shields hearing the nums of the dignitaries of the upon each one was placed one of the shields bearing the arms of the dignitaries of the Church. Three flags were flying from each of these, and the spectacle was very grand.

THE CITT HALL.

...... building through which His Lin sence and His Grace will pass was magnifi-cently decorated. At the main entrance a large canopy has been erected supported by two crim-son covered masts surmounted by gilded spe rs. Above the facade streamers have been hung and Above the facade streamers unversed hour buy flags are flying, while numerous magic lanterns, which will be used for this evening's illumination, are already suspended in readiness to be lighted. On entering the building the first object to attract the eye is the magnificent drapings above the entrace to the revenue de-partment. The pillars and stairways leading to the Council Chamber, in which the reception was held this afternoon, are decorated with banners, banneretts, shields bearing the civic arms as well as those of the dignitaries of the church. These are surgemented with face and church. These are surmounted with flags, and are placed at equal distances apart. The shields are connected with tastefully arrayed festoons of red, white, blue and yellow bunting. Above the doors leading to the different departments in the building the arms of the Pope, Cardinal and Archbishop have been placed with appro-priate inscript ons. From the main entrance and up both stairways leading to the Council Chamber a magnificent Brussels carpet has been laid.

In the c uncil chamber a most elaborate display has been made, and this handsome room, for the occasion, has been transformed into a perfect fairy hower, under the direction of Mr. Guiltault, of the Viger garden. In front of the galleries are mosses of blooming plants, while each pillar, cornice and moulding is enveloped with a profusion of cut natural flowers. Over with a profusion of cut natural, flowers. Over the throne has been erected a magnificent can-opy, and beneath this are two golden wreaths in floral designs. On the three large windows opposite, the Mayor's throne are the arms of His Holiness the Pope. His Eminence the Cardinal on his right asd His Grace Archbishop Fabre on his left. From the chandelier in the centre to the various poets of the chamber are hung many colored streamers. All around the room baskets of flowers are supported, while a large and rich bouquet hances from the chandelier in and rich bouquet hangs from the chandelier in the centre. MGR. OBSTAND METL. In replying to the address Monsignor O'Bryen expressed his anyrise at the honor paid him by the Irish citizens of Montreal. His mission ended at Quebec when he had delivered the Cardinal's hat, and he caused to be the Pope's representative epresentative.

But he was proud to be welcomed as a Catholie prelate and as an Irishman by his fellow-countrymen, who, like himself, also lived in exile. He thought that too much praise had been accorded his slight services to Ire'and, but been accorded his slight services to Ireland, but he would say that he was never ashamed of as-serting his Irish nationality and of advocating Ireland's rights. (Applause.) He would consuder the Irishman to be no man who would not stand by his convictions and proclaum them before the world. (Ap-plause.) He way a Home Ruler, and he con-sidered that Home Rule was not a question of mere politics, but one of these sacred rights which belong to every people and for which they should strive. The Holy Father, Leo XIII., was in sympathy with the Irish people and their was in sympathy with the Irish people and their struggles, for none more than the Pope knew what it was to be the victim of tyranny and of governmental robbery. The Pope, like the what it was to be the victim of tyranny and of governmental robbery. The Pope, like the Irish, had been existed, and it was only natural that he should feel for them in their days of trial when dying by the roadside or rotting in the workhouse owing to the misgovernment of the country. (Applause.) Mgr. O'Bryen said he was given credit for frontening the designs of building applies in frustrating the designs of Iteland's enemies in frustrating the designs of Iteland's enemies in Rome. Well, he did not know that he deserved it, but he would say that one day a prominent Tory met him in the streets of Rome and charged him and Rev. Dr. Kirby, president of the Ir:sh College, with poisoning the minds of the Pope and of the Cardinals in favor of Ireland and with killing the anti Irish diplomatists. Mgr. O'Bryen replied he had done no poisoning or killing, but sump y attended to his duties and spoke the truth. (Applause).

It would give him great pleasure to tell the Holy Father of the devotion of the Irish-Canadians to the Holy See, and of their love for old Ireland. He was about to visit Ireland, with the analysis of the interval with the sanction of His Holintss, for the pur-pose of observing the progress of the National movement and of the state of affairs generally, and to report at Rome. Mgr. O'Bryen then alluded in a familiar tone to a previous visit he had made to Montreal 9 years ago, and entertained his hearers with Rev. Father Dowd as the best known Irish prise outside the United States and told of the hearty reception and hospitality he had met with since his a rival in Canada. He imparted the Papal blessing to all those present, and the pleasant interview was then brought to a close. Mgr. O'Bryen will go to Ottawa for four or five days.

TO CARDINAL TASCHEREAU, Archbishop's Paises, Quebec :

THE CRISIS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

ALISBURY TO CONSULT WITH THE TORY MEMDERS-MUCH DEPENDING ON HARTINGTON.

LONDON, July 26 .- The Marquis of Salisbary has convened a meeting of Con-servative members of the House of Commons at the Carleton club to morrow. Lord Hartington, it is said, will pro-bably be selected as secretary for the colonies. There are ramors of a hitch in the forming of the new cabinet on account of the conflicting claims of two leading ministers of the last Conservative Government. The $5.00 to $2.85; Middlings, $2.70 to $2.75; Times says it is believed the Marquis of Salisbury offered to serve under Lord Har-tington as premier if the latter would assume the work of forming a coalition government.

LORD CHARLES BERISFORD.

NEW YORK, July 25.-Justin McCarthy's weekly letter has the following :-There is some talk of Lord Charles Baresford, the granulated. In sacks $2 00 to $2 10. Moullie fighting sailor of the Nile and the Soudan, $22 00 to $23 00 ner to be and the soudan. for Irish secretary. It is hardly serious, I should think, and, yet I don't know where they could find a better man for the position, in which, under the present circumstances, no genius and no statemanship could bear fruit. For myself, I would rather see Berss-ford in office, as Irish secretary, than one of the regular dead best politicians. Beresford is a gallant and dashing sailor. He is an Irishman who never deales his country, and is popular among all men. He never patronized a man in all his life, and would just as warmly shake hands with an Irish peasant as with an Irish peer. He does not care three straws about politics, and does not know enough about Dublin Castle traditions to hold them in the slightest reverence. Of course, he is not a man of any political ability or experience whatever in an attempt to govern Ir-land on Tory principles. We shall never again in Ireland take a chief secretary seriously unless we know that he is commissioned to prepare a scheme for Home Rule. "Send us your clever men, your statemen," such would be my advice to Lord Salisbury, "when you have made up your mind to do that, but if you are not. ready for that just at this moment, send us some jolly good fellow, who, as Mrs. Bertram in 'Guy Mannering' says of the old-fashioned collector of excise, will sing his song and take his drink and draw his satary, and give no trouble to himself or anybody else. Lord Charles Bereaford would do quite well."

Louisville, Ky., April 12, 1882.

Bailey Reflector Co.-Gents : We take pleas ure in testifying that your reflectors are a com-plete success in the diffusion of light over every part of the auditorium of our new church building. Small print can be read in any part of the room, and all who have seen it units in declar-ing it is the most delightful light in the city.

At Point St. Charles cattle yards the offerings of cattle were large, but business was quiet and few sales were made, prices for export stock being assier at 42c to 5c per lb live weight. For butchers' prices were steady at 3c to 4c per lb., live weight. There was an extra demand for

THE HALF-HOLIDAY.

JULY 28, 1886.

Newspapers advocating the Saturday halfholiday and refusing to give it to their own employés are as inconsistent as a tippling clergyman when he lectures his flock on the evils of intemperance. They each do more harm than good to the cause they profess to help. A column of excuses from a newspaper for not giving the boliday is about as acceptable to those interested as a long letter of whitewash from the inconsistent parson's doctor would be to his, the payon's bearers.

BRITISH LIVE STOCK TRADE.

There were large offerings at Liverpool and trade dragged miserably. Sellers submitted to reduced values and prime Canadian steers were soli at 12c. Fair to choice grades were at 1112, poor to medium at 101c, and inferior and bulls at 8 to 94c. The sheep trade has come in for a larger share of the current depression on beavy supplies and a dragging demand, Values have declined one cent per pound and transactions were made on the following basis : Best sheep 12c, secondary qualities 10c to 11c. merinos 91c to 101c and inferior and rams 7c to 81c.

There is, of course, no disputing the truth of a thing that can be proved by mathematic-al demonstration. For instance, this pro-position advanced by a professor of mathema-tics to his pupils : "It is evident that If it stock there was a fair demand and takes one bricklayer twelve days to erect a wall of given dimensions, twelve bricklayers ought to do the work in one day, 288 in an sheep, of which the offerings were large and hour, 17,280 in a minute, and 1,036,800 brick and gold, and over the main entrance a huge canopy erected, supported with two posts cov-ered with red bunting. The English and French national flags were floating from the windows, while bunting was tastefully festooned from the facade.

AN IRISH WELCOME.

The Address by the Irish Societies to the Papal Ablegate-His Patriotic Reply,

After the banquet at the Cabinet de Lecture Monsigner O'Bryen and a large number of clergy retired to the large library room, where His Excellency mot the delegation of the Irish societies, assembled to present him with the following address :-

The Rt. Rev. Henry O'Bryen, Private Cham-berlain to His Holiness Lev XIII., and Papal Ablegate.

In the name of the Irish Catholic population of Montreal we welcome Your Excellency with all the warmth and affection of our Celtic hearts to the metropolis of the Dominion of Canada.

the metropolis of the Dominion of Canada. Your fame as a distinguished prelate of the Catholic church, and as a trusted and honored friend of the Holy Father, preceded your com-ing to these shores, and provoked an enger de-sire on the part of the faithful children of St. Patrick, scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land, to do all honor to him whom the Sovereign Pontiff had selected for the high and important mission of Papal Ablegate. But, Monsignor, if we find deep gratification in conveying to you an expression of the estrem and admination which we entertain for the vir-tues that adera you and the services that you

tues that adora you and the services that you have rendered to the Hely See, our hearts are all the more gladdened when we consider that your attachment to the Faith has not weakened, but has fortified your devotion to Fatherland. If the Clourch has found a faithful servant in

If the Church has found a faithful servant in you, we are proud to proclaim that Ireland, also, has a true and devoted son in your Excellency. When Ireland, in the sad days of her truths and tribulations, was in need of a friend at Rome ; when Irish freedom, menaced by force and intrigue, needed a defender at the Vatican to frastrate the evil designs of the enemy, your Excellency's vigilance and putriotism were not found wanting ; but with the Walshs, the Crokes and the Nultys, who are to day the g'ory of the Irish Episcopate and the paids of the Irish people, you aided effectively in saving the National movement and Cause from a check, as severe as it would have been undeserved. For this alone the Cel-tic race awa you a debt of undying gratitude. And to the payment of that debt the Irish people InCanada are anxious to contribute warmly and space from that deard by the and space from that deard which cruel circum-stances forced as or our fathers to abandon for a freer country, our hearts still beat in as strong a stances forced as or our fathers to abandon for a freer country, our hearts still bent in as strong a unison as ever with the religious and national aspirations of the Irish race. Faith and Fatherland are still our molto; and our ambition is to be true to the one until death, while we serve the other until freedom and prosperity return to the other until freedom and prosperity return to its shores. Thug, Monsignor, when you return to the Eternal City to lay at the feet of the beloved and illustrices Leo XIII, an account of your mission and of the events attending it, you will not fail to assure His Holinoss of our profound and filial gratitude for the tokens of paternal love and solicitude which he has given to the Ohurch in Ganada by conferring the exalted and signal honor of the Cardinalate on one of her most eminent prelates and by creating two new

Mr. Taillon, of Lachine, on board the steamer "Canada," on their an-nual pi^{*}grimage to the shrine of Stc. Anne de Beaupre, returned this morning. On the way down instructions in French and English were delivered by several clergymen. Sacred music delivered by several clergymen. Sacred music delivered by several clergymen. Sacred music was also largely indulged in, until Lake St. Peter was reached, where a heavy storm was mot with. The wind having absted, sacred music and instructions were again given. The boat reached Quebec at about 5.30 yesterday morning. The pi'grims werehere transferred to two little beats, the "Montgomery" and the "St. Nichelas," and then taken to the shrine of of La Bonne Stc. DR. J. D. KERGAN'S SPECIAL CARD.

TO THE PUBLIC OF THIS PROVINCE :

Thirty years ago when we began the systematic study of the profession to which our life has been dedicated, we saw the great need of specialties, educated men who devoted themselves to a single line of thought, whose aim would be to become expert in the treatment of some particular or part of the human body. From that time until this our whole life has been devoted to the accomplishment, in a practical manner, of the aim of our early manhood. To do this successfully demanded study, thoughtful care energy meines arganization, capital, co-operative experience and or part of the human body. From that time until this our whole life has been devoted to the accomplishment, in a practical manner, of the aim of our early manhood. To do this successfully demanded study, thoughtful cure, energy, business organization, capital, co-operative experience and skill. All this took many years of hard work. At last, however, nearly ten years ago, the ambition of our life was rewarded, when the plan was completed by the organization of the "International Medical Council," when for the first time in the history of medicine a co-operative medical syndicate was formed for the express purpose of successfully treating in one institution ALLI chronic diseases and deformities, each department being in charge of a recognized expert, the whole Medical Council working in harmony with each other for a single object, viz. The restoration to health of the afflicted seeking their aid. That the aim and work of our life has been a phenomenal success it is only necessary to view the results as proved by the evidences of remarkable cures performed all over this Continent of all forms of disease incident to men, women and children, and in thousands of cases where medical gentlemen cf character and skill had failed or pronounced the case a hopeless one. Such results, we trust, will command the confidence of those who may from any cause find themselves in need of the services of those having greater experience and more complete facilities for the treatment of diseases of long standing than are at the command of the general practitioner, such as chronic affections of the brain, nervous system, eye, car, throat, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, alimentary and urinary tracts, blood, skin, bones or joints, or disease peculiar to age or sex. In conclusion we assure the invalid public of this country that no honorable effort will be spared on our own part, or on the part of the medical gentlemen associated with us in this Institution, to maintain the high reputation earned by years of devotion to the conservation
