From the Charlottetown Patriot. Times without number have we read of the wonderful cures effected by Dr.

Williams' Pink Pills, but generally the testimonials telling the tale had laid the scene in some of the other provinces. This time, however, the matter is brought directly home, and the testimony comes from a much respected and Christian woman. Mrs. Sarah Strickland, now residing in the suburbs of Charlottetown, has been married many years and blessed with a large family, and although never enjoying a robust constitution, had, until a year ago, been in comparatively good health, About that time she began to feel "run down," her blood became thin, and a general feeling of lassitude took possession of both her mind and body. Her family and friends viewed with alarm the gradand development of her illness, and when a cough, at first incipient, but afterwards almost constant, especially at nights,set in, doctors were summoned, and everything that loving, tender care, and medical skill, could do, was resorted to, in order to save the affectionate wife and mother, whose days appeared to benumbered. Her appetite was almost com-pletely gone. Food was partaken of without relish, and Mrs. Strickland was anable to do even the ordinary, lighter work of the household. She became greatly emaciated, and in order to partake of even the most dainty nourishment a stimulant had at first to be administered. While this gloom hung ever the home, and the mother sorrowfully thought of how soon she would have to say farewell to her young family, she was induced by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Though utterly 'discouraged, and almost disgusted with medicine, she yielded more in a friendly way than in a hopeful spirit. After using the pills for a short time, a gleam of hope, a wish to get well again, took possession of her, and the treatment was cheerfully continued. It was no false feeling, but a genuine effort, nature was making to re-assert itself, and before many boxes were used the family were joking their mother on her appetite, her disappearing cough and the fright she had given them. The use of the Pink Pills was continued for some time longer, Pills was continued for some time longer, against tenants on the adjoining properand now Mrs. Strickland's elastic step and general excellent health would lead ants, the decrees going by default.
