

can decide what is right and what is wrong.

Then there is the Church. I was brought up in the Church of England. I have not much use for it. The Church of England in Wales was disestablished. Do you think the Baptists, the Presbyterians, the Methodists and others will be satisfied to see it represented by twelve or fifteen peers in the House of Lords?

It has been said that the Government of the day is not fit to fill its office. There are many good men in the country, and if a new party is to be formed, it must be done in such a way as to get rid of all the dead-wood. Principles which will draw the people together for the redemption of Canada will have to be advanced. I never had anything from any Government. I never asked for anything, and I am not asking for anything to-day. I once brought my little grandson up here—he was killed in the war, poor fellow. I said to him, "What do you think of it all?" Well," he said, "it is a good show, grandpa." Yes, it is a good show, but there must be something substantial behind it. At present we have to keep up the Red Cross, the Red Triangle Clubs, the Women's Union, and the Christian Messengers—and now, in St. John, we have the Millionaires' Club. We hear that Mrs. Tom Bubble entertained a party at the Millionaires' Club.

Some Hon. SENATORS: Oh, oh.

Hon. Mr. DOMVILLE: You laugh, but is it right that some people should be allowed to arrogate to themselves such a position? The people have to be reckoned with. Any smart man can see the handwriting on the wall, and will trim his sails to the wind. We must go into the temple among the Pharisees and money-lenders and drive them out. I would go one step further. I would say that no man in Canada should own more than one million, actual money. If a man cannot live on $60,000 a year, of what use is he? We must wake up to the future. We must unite together and let bygones be bygones.

Reference has been made to the province of Quebec. The Jesuits came to this continent and settled that country. We can read what they did and what they suffered. Let me tell you, honourable gentlemen, that Quebec, if it stands pat, will hold the balance of power. The people of that province stand together as a united force—and let us hope that they will always exert their influence in the best interests of the country. I remember a time when the late King was going through Kingston. There were

Hon. Mr. DOMVILLE.

Orange arches all round, and he refused to go under them. He would not recognize this hierarchy of Orangery. If we are the descendants of British people; if we have the right idea of what they were in the past, and what their better classes are to-day, we can form a judgment of our duty and can carry it out.

There are enough good men in Canada outside of politics, to carry on the work of the country; but they cannot get into either this or the other Chamber. We must withdraw the umbra that is being thrown over Canada. I do not want to see an election. I do not care a snap for either one side or the other. The Government are not going to give up this session; they are going to stand together in self-defence—and for the indemnity. Of course the members of the Senate do not have to stand for election, as my honourable friend knows; if they did, many of them would never return. The people will elect men in whom the public have confidence regardless of the party to which they belong. We have come to the time when we must realize that the working classes should be allowed to live as cheaply as possible, the middle classes to live in comfort, and those who have the wealth of the country should contribute more to the welfare of the public.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Schaffner, the debate was adjourned.

The Senate adjourned until to-morrow at 3 p.m.

THE SENATE.

Thursday, March 4, 1920.

The Senate met at 3 p.m., the Speaker in the Chair.

Prayers and routine proceedings.

THE LATE LIEUTENANT-COLONEL BAKER, M.P.

FORM OF MEMORIAL.

Hon. GEORGE G. FOSTER moved:

That a Special Committee composed of the Honourable Messieurs Bradbury, Casgrain, Pope and the mover be appointed to confer and act with a like Committee of the House of Commons in determining the form of the Memorial to be erected in the Parliament Buildings to the late Lieutenant-Colonel Baker, M.P. for Brome, who lost his life on the field of battle.

He said: Honourable gentlemen, in presenting the motion for the appointment of this committee, I may explain to the honourable members of this House that it is really a motion for the re-appointment of
