

CONTENTS.

xiii

	PAGE.
Hope appointed lieutenant-governor	247
Commissioners of loyalist claims at Sydney	248
Regulations as to western trade	249
Private vessels allowed on lakes	250
Thomas Carleton governor of New Brunswick	250
Death of Hope	251
William Smith appointed chief justice	251

BOOK XXV.—CHAPTER I.

[1786-1789.]

Arrival of Carleton as lord Dorchester	255
Receives separate commissions for the several provinces	255
William Smith, the new chief justice	256
His theories of law	256
Petition to the council	257
Monk's statement of condition of the law	257
The commission to investigate the procedure in the courts	258
Dorchester divides Upper Canada into districts	259
Visits loyalist settlements	259
British population	260
Dorchester recommends incorporation of militia battalions	261
Monk removed from position of attorney general	261
Influence of railways on continent	261
The Apalachian range considered barrier to a political relationship	262
Dissatisfaction in Kentucky	263
Descent by Mississippi to seaboard	263
Geographical disadvantages felt at lake Champlain	264
Silas Deane's project of Chambly canal	264
Arrival of prince William Henry [William IV.]	265

	PAGE.
Dr. Inglis appointed bishop of Nova Scotia	265
Feeling against episcopacy in the old provinces	266
Archbishop Secker	266
The Dutch council of New York, 1664	267
Early efforts in New York for establishment of bishop	268
Archbishop Secker's pamphlet	269
Bishop Gibson's application for authority	270
Proposed bishop of Quebec	271
Steps taken in United States	272
Rev. William White, first bishop of Pennsylvania	273
Establishment episcopacy United States	274
Charles Inglis appointed bishop of Nova Scotia	274
His character	275
Visits Canada	275
The title "my lord" given to a bishop	276n.

CHAPTER II.

[1787-1790.]

Committee on education	278
Bishop Hubert's report	278
Bishop Bailly de Messein	279
His character	279
Wounded when with M. de Beaujeu's party	280
Mgr. Hubert's mandement	280
Mgr. Bailly's reply in Quebec Gazette	281
His criticism of the mandement	282
His recommendation in favour of education	283
Dorchester on the jesuit estates	284
Report of council on education	285
Amherst promised grant of jesuit estates	286
Renews his claim	287
Specification of estates	288
Petition against such a grant	289