The results of all these Observations and Experiences are given by Mr. BOWLES, in the Letters which constitute this volume, with a freshness and fullness which have won for them, as published in THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN, wide attention and much commendation. The New York Times says of them:—"THE WHOLE SERIES IS THE ABLEST AND MOST VALUABLE REPORT EVER MADE OF THE CHARACTERISTICS OF THE WESTERN AND PACIFIC PORTIONS OF OUR UNION."

In the volume the Letters have been carefully revised, and some additions made. Accompanying them are also given, as part of the history of this rare Summer's Journey, copious Extracts from the Speeches of Mr. COLFAX at various points on the route; additional information concerning the Mormons; several valuable papers on Mines and Mining; a full account of the route from Oregon through Idaho to Salt Lake City, with descriptions of the Mines and population of Idaho, new and interesting facts as to the Yosemite and the Big Trees, and the Agriculture of California,—altogether nearly 100 pages of very valuable Supplementary Papers.

The volume will be found especially comprehensive and authentic in information and ideas as to the Pacific Railroad; the Mormons, their social habits, political purposes, and religious polity; and the Mines,—three great practical themes of now universal and pressing interest to the people of the East.

The accompanying Map contains all the Territory of the United States, from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Ocean, with the latest divisions into States and Territories; the routes traveled and described by Mr. BOWLES and his correspondents; all the principal Mining Districts, and the general features and principal cities and towns of the whole country. It is prepared expressly from latest surveys for this volume.

The book contains about 500 large duodecimo pages, finely printed and bound, and is sold at the bookstores, or sent by mail postage paid, for $2.
