

Fight "I am Ready" --Jim Jeffries

Note and Comment

Everyone has a royal choice of sports this Dominion Day. Yachting, boating, baseball, lacrosse, golf, tennis, bowling, cricket and horse races right at home.

Read the statement of James J. Jeffries right off his own bat and you will agree with Thomas Browne that he is in shape again and that Jack Johnson really referred to the boxer when he declared: "May the best man win."

James W. Coffroth has made an impression with his clean-cut prediction that Johnson will whip Jeffries. Coffroth, who gets credit for chasing the fight from Flaco, has managed contests in which both Jeffries and Johnson have been principals. Consequently he is in a position to know something about the men. He says Jeffries will "blow up" after he has found it impossible to put a glove on the negro, Bill Delaney, who will handle Johnson, also declares that Jeffries is "fat inside" and will not have lung power enough to go more than ten rounds at top speed. This was before the oxygen arrived at Reno for Jeffries' use on Monday.

Warped round by contact with the pro never even thought of chartering a car for the fight.

Even the board of directors of the Eastern League would not stand for the bunkum decision of President Pat Powers, who must have had his judgment warped round by contact with the promoters. The directors do not care to have their names referred to as the joke baseball league.

Ganzel of Rochester, sometimes smiles when his team loses, one of which days yesterday was not. After taking the John felt more like a bludgeoned man. The Hustlers do not seem so strong without McMillan.

Besides the Toronto Zingari another team of cricketers are playing this summer in England. The team was organized by the Philadelphia, where the game was instituted in the early 50's at the instigation of a group of Englishmen who had charge of the institution's grounds. Interest in the game increased until a professional coach was secured in 1888, and then it was so keenly manifested that the first cricket team representing an American educational institution was sent abroad under the leadership of Lester, 38, one of the greatest cricketers that America is said to have produced. He was born in England. The results of this trip were so satisfactory that another team was sent to England in 1900, and still another one was sent over in 1904. This was the last one until the team was sent to England at the present time.

City Lawn Tennis Championships.

The entries for the tournament on the Rusholme courts are so large that it is impossible for the committee to complete the draw in time for publication in the Friday papers. A start, however, will be made on Dominion Day in the men's open singles, novice and handicap, and those who have entered and wish to play in these events are requested to call at the club house on Friday morning, when the draws will be noted and games arranged wherever possible. The ladies' events will not be started this week.

JIM JEFFRIES TELLS WHY HE IS IN CONDITION AGAIN

Undefeated Heavyweight Reviews His Training From the Time the Public Called Him to the Present.

RENO, June 30.—Four days before the fight, James J. Jeffries gives out a signed statement telling of the different events leading up to the present, including the doubt entertained as to his ability to come back.

"It was not so long ago," he says, "that I had made up my mind to train according to my own ideas. I have never altered this plan, although it brought me in for some harsh criticisms. I began to wonder into condition much easier and much more rapidly than I had hoped for. This reason I took to be the fact that I was working hard and conscientiously with me, while Berger saw to it that no detail was lacking to make my camp life a comfortable one."

"The fact that I was laboring daily did not protect me from adverse criticism. Eastern writers, who had never been within a thousand miles of the training quarters, printed stories to the effect that I was sick and could not possibly get into condition. The effect of these stories was widespread and resulted in hundreds of letters and telegrams being sent into our camp, asking for the real facts."

"One of the first writers to visit me was H. M. Walker, a man from my home, the sporting editor of the Los Angeles Examiner. Walker trailed me from the time I got up at 5 o'clock in the morning until I blew out my bed-room lamp at night. He went on the head with me to the training table, and, in fact, kept two eyes on me constantly, even walking to the village with me when I went for my mail."

"Walker pronounced my condition to all that it should be, but I understand that his decision was acutely in some quarters at the time for the reason that he was known to be a strong personal friend of mine, and it was feared that he had allowed this fact to blind him to my shortcomings."

"Nothing could have been further from the real facts. Walker gave the situation, just as he found it, to the public. W. W. Naughton, the San Francisco boxing man, known all over the world as a conservative and keen-eyed critic, endorsed my condition, but the eastern public clamored for the verdict of a writer who was not a Californian."

"Edward Smith, sporting editor of the Chicago American, made a trip across the continent for the express purpose of passing judgment on my condition. At the end of an hour's inspection Smith had telegraphed to the eastern people that Jeffries was ready."

"C. E. Van Loan followed. Van, known from ocean to ocean by the boxing public, sent the following word to his paper, The New York American: 'Jeff ready to fight on 15 minutes' notice.'"

"Jim Corbett had joined my camp by this time. He added his opinion to that of the men mentioned above. With the public finally satisfied that I was more than ready to give battle to Jack Johnson, I landed there and no more doubt and uncertainty of any kind to face—that it was my own fault."

"I don't believe it," I said. I read the telegram from San Francisco and then walked into my room and shut the door.

"I was trying to reconcile myself to the situation. It seemed incredible to me that the governor had given to Richard and Gleason, the men who were spending thousands of dollars every day in building the big fight arena and perfecting the thousand and one details of the fight, the right to make a decision on my condition."

"When I had brought myself to a realization of the true situation, I said to myself: 'I am going to fight Johnson. If I have to take him out on some island in the middle of the Pacific Ocean and have it out with him there.'"

"In less than 15 minutes I had written a letter to the effect that I would hold myself in readiness to pack up and go to any place in the world that they might select as a suitable place for the battle."

"I figured that I would keep right on training, so that the unexpected action of Governor Gillett would not in any way cause me to neglect my training. I figured that I would keep right on training, so that the unexpected action of Governor Gillett would not in any way cause me to neglect my training."

REGATTA RACES TO-DAY.

The regatta will open this morning at 11 o'clock, all races finishing at the foot of Bay-street, where the rowing events also start.

The rowing races are a mile, being to the half-mile buoy and return. The canoe races are half mile, starting at the buoy.

The regatta committee fully discussed the rowing and canoe races, and decided on the former because the latter, this owing to the low water, is impracticable.

Color Celebration.

CHICAGO, June 30.—A scare has been thrown into the colored population of Chicago because of the eagerness of eastern sporting men to wager large sums of money on Jeffries at odds of 2 to 1. Before the influx of the eastern money the prevailing odds were 10 to 7 on Jeffries, but now they have risen to 2 to 1.

There were some bets made that the fight will not go 20 rounds, while others wagered it would go the limit and would be a draw. There were a number of freak bets made, the most absurd being that Jeffries would win in the first round, while another one bet that Johnson would be declared the winner inside of five rounds.

Despite the gloom which has been cast over the colored population by the making of these preparations to celebrate Johnson's victory.

Mrs. Tiny Johnson, mother of the colored champion, will receive returns every round to his Chicago home.

Arrangements in Reno to have one of his friends telegraph a brief description of every round to his Chicago home.

A telegram was received last night by Mrs. Johnson, in which the colored champion stated: "Don't believe anything you see in the newspapers. I am in good condition. Will win sure."

Coffroth Calls Johnson.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The unofficial declaration of James Coffroth that Jim Jeffries will "blow up" when he finds he cannot win against Johnson, has suddenly stimulated betting here on the outcome of the fight championship. Johnson's followers, waiting to place their money on the short end, to 10 to 1, were satisfied to-day to bet 10 to 1 on the negro. Coffroth, as a fight promoter, has handled contests in which both Jeffries and Johnson have been principals and in consequence his prediction that Jeffries will lose has suffered. The hope of Johnson's friends. Sporting men at the racetracks think even money should prevail.

D'Annunzio's Literary Plans.

Gabriele d'Annunzio's visit to Paris will, it is whispered, have important literary results. He is making arrangements for a play to be performed at the Vaudeville Theatre, the celebrated Italian author has been collecting material about the story that came in from Paris to seek her fortune. The fact that she earns her livelihood as a "mannequin" at a leading dressmaker's will sufficiently explain d'Annunzio's visit to the French capital. He is also planning to visit to the Grand Boulevard, &c., also seem to have been studied. His previous play, "La Ville Mortu", both the vaudeville drama and the Parisian novel will be written in French. London T. P.'s Weekly.

Toronto Wins Protest and Gains Another Victory in Standing

—Rudolph Will Pitch This Morning.

It is safe to say that the coming Johnson-Jeffries fight will have nothing on the Toronto-Rochester battle yesterday afternoon at the island in the first game of the series. Both Kelley and Ganzel played their cards to the limit, while the debates that occurred between one Umpire Byron and another Kelley would, if they had been spoken in a grassy field, have been put on the market, but the picture right of the coming heavyweight fight to shame. Suffice to say there was something doing every minute, that it was the fans who got to him every time he came out to pitch.
