

THE WORLD'S HOME MAGAZINE FOR WOMEN

EDITED BY LAURA E. McCULLY, B. A.

WORLD'S DAILY FASHION HINT

The little coat is made of navy blue cloth, trimmed with black soutache and large gilt buttons, bearing a popular Indian symbol in blue enamel. The bands around the sleeves hang loose from the sleeve caps, and are lined like the coat with deep red satin. The dress has yoke and undersleeves of turquoise blue cashmere. The rest of the gown is brown, with trimming bands of Persian embroidery and gilt buttons with blue loops. The tassels are of mixed silk, with some gold threads to match the embroidery.

At the Theatres

Paderewski, on Wednesday evening, will be greeted by a very large audience at Massey Hall. He opens the program with a new work of his own, "Variations and Fugue," which will reveal his extraordinary command over the secrets of the keyboard. The Beethoven Sonata in B-flat is not so well known here as the G sharp minor "Moonlight" sonata, but it is a mixture of song, rondo and sonata, and has a truly Mozartian simplicity of melody, harmony and structure. Of the three transcriptions of Schubert, by Liszt, which will follow, the "Erl-King" is the best known. Hans von Bulow says that no singer he ever heard made it so effective, and Liszt himself cannot be revealed in its eloquence more impressively than Paderewski. It is recognized that Paderewski is the unrivalled interpreter of Chopin, and he will give this composer's nocturnes in major, Etudes No. 10 and Opus 10, and Scherzo in B-flat. Stojowski's "Chant d'Amour" is full of lovely melodies, and the Liszt Klavierübung No. 3, while unfamiliar, is ravishingly beautiful. These notes on the program are all the exhortation that her husband, the constant critic of The New York Evening Post.

Miss Ethel Barrymore appears at the Princess this evening in her new successful play, "Her Sister." Miss Barrymore, a chronicler of the theatre, encounters a dramatist who has written her a play impossible of intelligent interpretation at her hands. It is claimed that she ever aims to be natural in her acting. Her winsomeness, it is added, is the chief factor in all she does, and she is moreover a fine actress and agreeable in all she undertakes. The one respect in which she shies is declared to be her lovable personality, so wholesome and homely and lovable. The Fitch-Leno comedy, "Her Sister," is the first collaboration of a modern play by two authors of different nationalities ever undertaken in this country. Mr. Fitch representing America and Mr. Lennox, England.

In presenting J. M. Barrie's dainty comedy, "Quality Street," the management of the Royal Alexandra Theatre does so with the utmost confidence that the play-going public of Toronto will appreciate the efforts made to produce the best plays and comedies in the market. In "Quality Street," the dramatic witchery of Barrie's takes us back to the Napoleonic wars and the days of the great Duke of Wellington. The part of Frobisher Thrusell was written especially by Mr. Barrie for Miss Maude Adams. It resembles very much the part of Lady Babbalanza in "The Little Minister."

The Grand offers Pixley and Luder's merry musical comedy, "The Burmese Boy." Gus Weinburg will be welcomed back to Toronto in the role of Peter Stuyvesant, the burlesque. He has enthused new business into his part, and the piece has been entirely rewritten and brought up-to-date.

River Styx. The Rooney Sisters sing and dance. Willis and Hassan are known as the world's greatest equilibrist. There are others also to round out a good program.

The Sam Devere Company, which comes to the Star Theatre this week will be a new, up-to-date attraction. Two musical comedies and an all-star olio of five acts will constitute the program offered. Phil J. Ott and Nettie Nelson head the company, and assist from their work in the two comedies, they present in the olio their successful comedy creation, Dr. Nearer A. Doctor, assisted by Al Stedman and the eight Devere Poles. Other acts are offered by the old-time favorites, Teddy Stinson and Dorothy Wadsworth, West, Al, Himer and Al, and the La Belle Sisters. The comedies are entitled, "Mr. Pianist From Mars" and "The Belle of Boston."

Rehearsal of Toronto Festival Chorus for the Messiah will be held at the College of Music Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Those who propose taking part in the work must be present. The Messiah will be given December 30th.

Player Pianos the Craze of the Day. People talk of the walking craze, but more remarkable than this is the craze that has taken hold of the people for player pianos. It is a revelation to know that one can buy a handsome automatic interior player piano that everyone in the home, the mother and all the children, can play, that they may not have learned a note of music. And it is the classical and popular music of the day that is played. Heintzman & Co., Limited, 115-117 West King-street, Toronto, are showing an unusually large variety of "player pianos" for Christmas giving, and they are selling on a small payment per month.

The M. and O. Club held its fourth weekly dance on Friday, Nov. 22, at the Old Orchard Club-house. The officers are Mr. Arthur Rostance, president; Miss Wilson, secretary-treasurer; Miss Bromley, Mr. George Southwick, Mr. Spencer Grant, committee. It was decided to hold a domino dance on Dec. 15.

"It's Only a Cold, A Trifling Cough."

Thousands have said this when they caught cold. Thousands have neglected to cure the cold. Thousands have filled a Consumptive's grave through neglect. Never neglect a cough or cold. It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It strikes at the very foundation of all throat or lung complaints, relieves: Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Sore Throat, and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.

It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. It cures all the lung troubles, whooping cough, pleurisy, and all the ailments of the chest and throat. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three lines the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

Mrs. C. E. Bissette, Lombard, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with a hard dry cough for a long time, especially in the mornings, but after having used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, for a few weeks, I find my cough has left me. I can positively say that this remedy is well worth a trial."

The "Love at First Sight" Story Revived.

That ancient plot of the antiquated story book, namely, the "Love at First Sight" motif, is coming back into fashion again. There can be no doubt of it. Pick up any popular magazine and see. From cover to cover and what this occupation should apparently have escaped her observation. A woman who has had the tastes and cultivation of a gentleman of means ought to be able, after a short, practical (very practical) experience, to take up such an occupation with success. She would, of course, have to fit herself for it by being as adaptable as possible, and would find reward in a widened point of view. The New York Evening Post gives an excellent article on the subject, from which we quote:

The direct, businesslike air, the well-tailored clothes and sensible evening hat, the jaunty suit cases, all proclaimed the business woman. She was the direct product of her dealings with heads of departments, crusty wholesale merchants, and ogling "drummers." There was nothing pretentious, nothing self-conscious, about dress or manner. She was simply composed and confident. And a business woman in truth she proved to be, the head of a department in the biggest shop in California. She was returning from her usual fall trip to New York, where she had laid in her winter stock, to the customer, whose lines had been cast in much more retired places than the most bustling markets of the occasion, all this woman had to say of her work and experience was most interesting.

Replying to the question, "how did you come to be the head of a department," the business woman said: "By no royal road, I assure you." "I began as hundreds of others have done, a raw 'prentice hand. But I worked and was interested, did my work or complain, and little by little I've passed along thru the successive phases."

The little fragment of life history was not detailed, but the hints one gathered of the steps by which she had climbed to success were pathetically real. She had been forced by the exigencies of the case to be the "man" of the family. A mother and widowed sister were her chief cares, and she had accepted the responsibility unhesitatingly. It was this unhesitating acceptance that had made her successful, and when the roll call of humble heroines is properly compiled, let us not forget the girls who carry the heavy burden of family care with smiling ease, unconscious of their heroism.

"Is a buyer's position, in your idea, a good one for a woman?" "Without a doubt," came the direct answer. "Think how much it means to her to be able to get out of an awful rut of selling behind a counter. I know personally a score of women who buy big houses in the west, who are making excellent salaries and getting a lot out of life, in addition. Contact with business men is so broadening; women working among them are apt to grow narrow and petty. In my work we bump elbows with all sorts, from the head of the firm with millions at stake in his business to the smallest, most mischievous delivery boy, and it's good for us."

If genuine enthusiasm for a chosen calling is any indication of one's success, this woman had achieved it. She so evidently believed that women had more opportunities in business than in their other activities, and she proved what she had to say by so many interesting stories drawn from the lives of her associates that she was convincing.

"It used to be hard to get beyond the salesgirl class," she said. "The buyers were largely men, but the growth of the big department stores has given women the chance to buy and to make good. Now they are generally accepted as heads of certain departments. Underwear and ready-made dresses for women and children, coats, millinery, notions and toilet accessories are among the things that naturally fall to their lot. It is such exciting business, this matter of buying. First one has the chance to discover the newest fashions, before they're displayed on the counters. Then there is the breathless business of buying. We must think of our patrons, gauging to a nicety the styles that will appeal to them. We must keep in mind our limit of expenditure, and plan our budget wisely. The goods once bought, I go back to my work in the store anxious to see my taste vindicated and my department make a good record in the season's sales."

The perquisites of any position are often a very pleasant feature, and the entertained audience of one soon learned that her companion's profession was rich in perquisites. Chief among these were the privilege of staying at the best hotels in every city and traveling on the best trains. No business house of standing would be outdone by a rival firm in this matter of taking care of its buyers. So seated and berths on the fastest trains, and good rooms and meals in the best hotels, were among the pleasant accessories of the business of the buyer.

Another perquisite was the opportunity of seeing so much of the country. As long as she did not consume an undue amount of time en route, she was allowed to select her own railroad line. By northern, southern, and mid-western routes she had crossed the continent, with occasional stopovers at the most important places. On this very trip she had stayed two days in Philadelphia, sight-seeing and visiting the shops, conversing with head milliners, only too willing to aid this conferee. In her spring visit she had taken a day trip to Boston, and had slipped out to a certain woman's college for which her little niece was destined.

Then the talk drifted into wider channels, harboring itself at last in the topic of women traveling salesmen. These are usually busy days to mothers all over the land, but a glance over this page will help solve the problem as to what to give. The children will get more keen enjoyment from these home-made toys than from the most expensive ones, bought in the shops. Baby will be delighted with a rag doll, such as the one shown here, and as for "Tiger" and Teddy Bear, they are sure to receive a welcome in any household where there is a child. They are not at all difficult to make. Baskin, cotton plush and cotton dannel may all be used in the making.

Mrs. Peter McDonald and her daughter will receive on Tuesday at their home, 175 East Foxborough-street, Rosedale, and not again till the New Year.

Women as Travelers and Buyers.

A field by no means over-worked offers itself to the woman with talent and taste enough to become the expert buyer of a firm. We so frequently hear sad stories of the sufferings of the lady of quality who becomes poor, that we wonder what this occupation should apparently have escaped her observation. A woman who has had the tastes and cultivation of a gentleman of means ought to be able, after a short, practical (very practical) experience, to take up such an occupation with success. She would, of course, have to fit herself for it by being as adaptable as possible, and would find reward in a widened point of view. The New York Evening Post gives an excellent article on the subject, from which we quote:

The direct, businesslike air, the well-tailored clothes and sensible evening hat, the jaunty suit cases, all proclaimed the business woman. She was the direct product of her dealings with heads of departments, crusty wholesale merchants, and ogling "drummers." There was nothing pretentious, nothing self-conscious, about dress or manner. She was simply composed and confident. And a business woman in truth she proved to be, the head of a department in the biggest shop in California. She was returning from her usual fall trip to New York, where she had laid in her winter stock, to the customer, whose lines had been cast in much more retired places than the most bustling markets of the occasion, all this woman had to say of her work and experience was most interesting.

Replying to the question, "how did you come to be the head of a department," the business woman said: "By no royal road, I assure you." "I began as hundreds of others have done, a raw 'prentice hand. But I worked and was interested, did my work or complain, and little by little I've passed along thru the successive phases."

The little fragment of life history was not detailed, but the hints one gathered of the steps by which she had climbed to success were pathetically real. She had been forced by the exigencies of the case to be the "man" of the family. A mother and widowed sister were her chief cares, and she had accepted the responsibility unhesitatingly. It was this unhesitating acceptance that had made her successful, and when the roll call of humble heroines is properly compiled, let us not forget the girls who carry the heavy burden of family care with smiling ease, unconscious of their heroism.

"Is a buyer's position, in your idea, a good one for a woman?" "Without a doubt," came the direct answer. "Think how much it means to her to be able to get out of an awful rut of selling behind a counter. I know personally a score of women who buy big houses in the west, who are making excellent salaries and getting a lot out of life, in addition. Contact with business men is so broadening; women working among them are apt to grow narrow and petty. In my work we bump elbows with all sorts, from the head of the firm with millions at stake in his business to the smallest, most mischievous delivery boy, and it's good for us."

If genuine enthusiasm for a chosen calling is any indication of one's success, this woman had achieved it. She so evidently believed that women had more opportunities in business than in their other activities, and she proved what she had to say by so many interesting stories drawn from the lives of her associates that she was convincing.

"It used to be hard to get beyond the salesgirl class," she said. "The buyers were largely men, but the growth of the big department stores has given women the chance to buy and to make good. Now they are generally accepted as heads of certain departments. Underwear and ready-made dresses for women and children, coats, millinery, notions and toilet accessories are among the things that naturally fall to their lot. It is such exciting business, this matter of buying. First one has the chance to discover the newest fashions, before they're displayed on the counters. Then there is the breathless business of buying. We must think of our patrons, gauging to a nicety the styles that will appeal to them. We must keep in mind our limit of expenditure, and plan our budget wisely. The goods once bought, I go back to my work in the store anxious to see my taste vindicated and my department make a good record in the season's sales."

The perquisites of any position are often a very pleasant feature, and the entertained audience of one soon learned that her companion's profession was rich in perquisites. Chief among these were the privilege of staying at the best hotels in every city and traveling on the best trains. No business house of standing would be outdone by a rival firm in this matter of taking care of its buyers. So seated and berths on the fastest trains, and good rooms and meals in the best hotels, were among the pleasant accessories of the business of the buyer.

Another perquisite was the opportunity of seeing so much of the country. As long as she did not consume an undue amount of time en route, she was allowed to select her own railroad line. By northern, southern, and mid-western routes she had crossed the continent, with occasional stopovers at the most important places. On this very trip she had stayed two days in Philadelphia, sight-seeing and visiting the shops, conversing with head milliners, only too willing to aid this conferee. In her spring visit she had taken a day trip to Boston, and had slipped out to a certain woman's college for which her little niece was destined.

Then the talk drifted into wider channels, harboring itself at last in the topic of women traveling salesmen. These are usually busy days to mothers all over the land, but a glance over this page will help solve the problem as to what to give. The children will get more keen enjoyment from these home-made toys than from the most expensive ones, bought in the shops. Baby will be delighted with a rag doll, such as the one shown here, and as for "Tiger" and Teddy Bear, they are sure to receive a welcome in any household where there is a child. They are not at all difficult to make. Baskin, cotton plush and cotton dannel may all be used in the making.

Mrs. Peter McDonald and her daughter will receive on Tuesday at their home, 175 East Foxborough-street, Rosedale, and not again till the New Year.

Kipling acknowledges that. But that seems no good reason why the reading public should get absolutely nothing but slang, colloquial stories which it would take a language expert to understand and ridiculously muddled love tales. This is not mere random "knocking," but one starves for a half-way readable story, and one whose genius starves for the money it would fetch. What a pity our magazine publishers don't study to better purpose the law of supply and demand?

Personal.
Mrs. J. H. Morin (Edith Russell) will hold her post-nuptial reception at her mother's residence, 73 Huntley-street, on Thursday, Nov. 27.

The ladies of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Lutheran Church will hold a bazaar of Christmas articles on Wednesday and Thursday next, in the Sunday school-room of the church on Bond-street.

Mr. Percy McMaster of the Metropolitan Bank, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McMaster, has been transferred to the branch of that bank at Bancroft, Ont.

Mrs. N. W. Lumpers (nee Montgomery) will receive for the first time since her marriage on Wednesday, Nov. 27, afternoon and evening, at her residence, 28 Dundas-street, and not again until after the New Year.

Mrs. George E. Smith (nee Louise Faircloth) will receive at her home, 380 West King-street, tomorrow afternoon and evening, and afterwards on the first Tuesday of each month.

Mrs. R. A. Mitchell, 30 Willocks-street, will receive on Tuesday, the 26th inst., and on the first Tuesday in each month after the New Year.

The large and spacious ballroom of the Arlyon for the Insane was the scene of a charming musicale on Nov. 21, when an unusually interesting program of vocal and instrumental solos, humorous and dramatic readings and one-act plays was given under the direction of Mr. Lee Sullivan before an audience of 600 people. Mr. Alden Cutting sang two delightful solos, "Mona" and "Star of My Life." Miss Luella Hunt, a promising young elocutionist, won well merited applause, particularly in "The Old Maid's Prayer." Miss Flora Watts was also successful in her lighter selections. Miss Eva Warrington, in ballads, was a favorite with the audience, and Miss Marie Milnes sang classical songs acceptably. Praise is due also to Miss Lillian Martin, the solo pianist and accompanist. Miss Eva Fegan, Mrs. J. E. Scott and Messrs. J. Arthur Carson and Fred Shearns all distinguished themselves in the playlets. After the entertainment, refreshments were served in the supper-room, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all who were fortunate enough to be present.

A charming musical event of Saturday was the program arranged by Miss Irving, rendered at the Strolling Players' studio. Many members of that club were present, and the music was by the best artists and arrangers of Toronto, and was enthusiastically applauded and enjoyed. The following was the program:

Solo (Special request)
Madame Gray Burnand,
"Zauberlied" (Meyer-Heinund), and
"Hills of Sky" (Victor Harris)
Mr. Henry J. Lausz.
"Love's Enchantment".....Hawley
Miss Irene Currie Love.
"Death and the Maiden".....Schubert
"Mighty Lak a Rose".....Schubert
Mrs. Heves Oliphant.
"Carmen".....Lane Wilson
Miss Lena May Perry.
Ballad.....(By request)
Mr. George Dixon.
Arts—"Save Me from God".....Randgear
"Cherry Ripe".....Randgear
Mr. Master Clarence Quarrington.
Miss Marshall acted as accompanist.

The annual meeting of the ladies' board of the Western Hospital will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 27, at 8 o'clock, in the Nurses' Home, Rosebery-avenue.

Under the auspices of the Victoria Women's Residence Association, Mr. Currie will lecture in the chapel of Victoria College on the recent explorations in Egypt with which he has been connected on Tuesday evening.

Christmas Toys For the Little Ones.

Only a few more weeks and it will be time to fill the Christmas stockings. These are usually busy days to mothers all over the land, but a glance over this page will help solve the problem as to what to give. The children will get more keen enjoyment from these home-made toys than from the most expensive ones, bought in the shops. Baby will be delighted with a rag doll, such as the one shown here, and as for "Tiger" and Teddy Bear, they are sure to receive a welcome in any household where there is a child. They are not at all difficult to make. Baskin, cotton plush and cotton dannel may all be used in the making.

Animal Set—No. 5223, contains an elephant, monkey and rabbit, and set No. 5224 consists of a sheep, dog and pig. 15 cents for each or 25 cents for both sets.
Teddy Bear—No. 5712. Sizes for 12, 15 and 18 inches. Price 10 cents.
Tiger—No. 5844. One size, 8 inches. Price 10 cents.
Rag Doll—No. 5890. One size, 18 inches. Price 10 cents.
Doll's Wardrobe—No. 5895, consisting of Peter Pan dress, over blouse dress with gullie, petticoat and drawers. Sizes 14, 15, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 24-inch doll. Price 15 cents.
Teddy Bear Outfit—No. 5892, consisting of Rough Rider suit and overalls. Price 10 cents.

One of the interesting scenes in "Broadway Dark," which is the attraction at the Majestic Theatre, shows one of the "Palaces of Chance" in full operation. There are tables for faro and roulette, or the more plebeian game of "craps," and the room is thronged with players in evening clothes.
The bill at Shea's will be headed by Mrs. Gabriel, the original Buster, who is appearing in Al Lamar's one-act sketch, "Auntie's Visit." He has with him his famous dog, Spike. The special attraction will be Edwin Keogh and "A Bit of Blarney" picturing the earth's destruction and flight thru the Intervals.

Here with the golf clubs, Celia,
The dawn still shimmers with dew.
Away and away
To the haunts of play
Where the sweep of the cloud-filmed blue
Seems but the donee
Of a summer home,
Silvery, luscious and far,
Pierced by the morning star.

Here by my side, We are going,
The puff of my eagle-winged car
Shall bear us alone
With a clangor of song,
Unmindful of tremor and jar.
The wind blows your hair
From its tangle of care,
Shooing the light in your face,
Fresh with the dawn's flushed grace.

There we shall run untrammelled
And drop our hands in the grass.
Par on their flight
With a sky-mounting sight,
We shall follow the balls as they pass.
See the gap in the green,
The round hills rise between,
One little drink at the spring,
Then how our hearts shall ring.
—Lewis Worthington Smith in "Valley."

A thanksgiving meeting of the Toronto McAll Auxiliary will be held at the residence of Mrs. T. M. Harris, 123 St. George-street, at 3 p.m., on Wednesday, Nov. 27, in place of Thursday, as previously arranged. The meeting will be addressed by Mrs. Wilson (Miss Caven), who is home from India, and Mrs. M. Sweetnam will give a reading.

World Pattern Department

A charming afternoon gown, 219, 224-A Charming Afternoon Gown.

This model costume in pale gray broadcloth shows the popular liking for over-blouse effects. Two deep tucks in front give width to the figure. The sleeves are quite unique with their turned back corners caught down with buttons. The graceful skirt is in the fashionable walking length, and is given a close fit about the waist by the pleats being stitched to deep yoke depth and allowed to flare below that point, thus producing the necessary fullness at the lower edge. The design is suitable for broadcloth, Panama and taffeta. For 36 inches bust measure 1 1/2 yards of 44-inch material will be required for the waist, and 6 3/4 yards for the skirt.

Ladies' Overcoat, No. 219. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.
For 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

This illustration calls for two separate patterns for a waist and a skirt, which will be mailed any address on the receipt of 10 cents for each in silver or stamps.

Pattern Department
Toronto World
Send the above pattern to NAME.....
ADDRESS.....
(Use Wanted—(Give age of Child or Miss' Pattern.)

CATALOG ANNOUNCEMENT
If you have not received our new catalog covering the latest styles for fall and winter 1907-8, send for it at once. We will send it prepaid to any address for 10 cents.

NOW READY
The Toronto World Catalog of Fall and Winter Styles.
This book contains a complete assortment of practical, up-to-date designs for ladies' misses' and children's garments, also the newest embroidery designs. Practical suggestions on home dressmaking. How to make baby articles. Useful house-hold and beauty hints.
A copy of this book may be obtained by filling in the accompanying coupon and mailing it to the address given. Toronto World, Toronto, Canada.

Gentlemen—Enclosed please find 10c, for which kindly send me by address prepaid, your new catalog for fall and winter, 1907-8, in which is included persons on Home Dressmaking. Embroidery Designs, etc.

Name.....
Street Address.....
City.....State.....

Street Address.....
City.....State.....

TORONTO

BERALISTS.
BEAM OINTMENT cures
Eczema, Varicose Vein, Piles, disproportioned money re-Bay-street, Toronto.

HOTELS.
HOTEL FRONT-STREET
into, Ont. McGaw &
proprietors.
HOTEL is now at 50
feet till new premises Tedy Evans.

JEWELLERS.
GOLD-FILLED BRACE-years guarantee, special engraving free of charge.
Jewelry Company, 25
st. branch at 48 West
st., opposite city hall.

CHIMES.
BRIMSTON CO. exch-
nights, 55 Victoria-street,
in 4174.

OR DEALERS.
ALL SESSORS to J. S. and Spirits, 523 and 525
st. Phone North 192.
Tedy to all parts of the favored with your order.

LIVE BIRDS.
D STORE, 109 Queen-st.
in 4828.
LOCKSMITHS
LOCK AND MACHINE
17 Bay-street, manufacall kinds of keys; vault lock experts; builders and brass goods; wrought for builders; specialties
der. Phone Main 6200.

AM & SONS, Hardware Locksmithing and painting. Keys made to combinations changed. Locks grinding and brazing.
York-street, Toronto.

AGE LICENSES.
marriage licenses go to 5, 225 Queen-west; open to witnesses.
FISHING AND HATS.
HINSON, 415 Parlia-opposite Gerrard, N.

ICAL GOODS.
ES, 23 Leader-lane, distinction, perfectly fitting,
and comfortable eye-

LAR STOVES AND RANGES,
HES, 373 Yonge-street,
Stoves and Ranges,
second-hand. Phone M.

HARMACIST.
PHARMACY, 351
1822.
PURE FRAMING,
S. 431 SPADINA—OPEN
Phone M. 4510.

AND DECORATING.
DTH ART GLASS & DE-CO CO., LIMITED, 64 and Chmond, Main 222.

TOGRAPHY.
TOS, The Great Group
ers, 492 Spadina-avenue,
SON CO., LIMITED, 313-
13th-street, Main 4223.

PRINTING.
BARNARD, 246 Spadina-
st. Main 5277.

RESTAURANTS.
LIMITED, restaurant counters, open day and twenty-five-cent breakfasts and suppers. Nos. 55 Queen-street, through nd-street, Nos. 38 to 50.

ING SCHOOL.
HOOL—Lessons given,
boarding accommodations, broken to saddle and 41 D'Arcy-street, Main

NG MACHINES.
ES & CO., 142 Victoria-
st. for Jones' high speed ing and family mainenance Main 4923.

AND FURNACES.
SON, 304 Queen W. M.

SHOES.
ON, 241 KING EAST—ordered shoes. Phone

TAILORS.
R & BROS., 717 Yonge-
st. N. 760.
URN COMPANY, "Sta-ave removed from 530
to 73 East Queen-street,
High Class Tailoring, Clothing, Boots and dies' Coats, Furs and Queen-street west, Tone Main 4677.

CO AND CIGARS.
ON, direct importer of gars, Collegian Cigar
ong-street.
ARD, for best value, 123
st.

WACONISTS.
wholesale and retail to-Orders promptly at-
Phone Main 359, 127
West.

KS AND BAGS.
D LEATHER GOODS
Goods. Close prices.
street, Tel. Main 3730.

PERTAKERS.
EDDS, UNDERTAKERS
lms, 921 Queen-st.,
mbulance in connection.
181.

PERSON, undertaking par-fect Queen-street. Main one.

HOTELS.
HOTEL QUEEN-STREET
rates one dollar up proprietor.

SE — QUEEN-GEORGE.
accommodation first-class;
50 per day; special week

HOUSE, YONGE AND
streets. Rates 2.50 dol-& Kerwin, Proprietors.

NDOME, YONGE AND Hotel, electric light, moderate. J. C. Brady.

HOUSE, QUEEN AND
streets; rates $1.50 and $2
only located.

ONTARIO STOP AT THE Hotel, 100 Queen-st.,
opposite City Hall, up-to-date
Del Plenis, Proprietor.

ART.
WORTER — PORTRAIT
Painters 24 West King-

G ENGINEERS.
FINCHES — EVANS & Consulting Mining Engineers, 259 Beav. of Trade
st.; Lathford, Larger Ont.