SENATE REFUSES RATIFICATION OF THE PEACE TREATY (Continued from page 1)

In seven hours of debate preceding the vote, Republican leaders declared themselves ready to take the issue to the people.

From the Democratic side several senators bitterly assailed the president for his stand and declared the administration could not afford to carry the issue as it presented itself today into the campaign. There was no reply from those who opposed ratification.

Irreconcilables and administration Democrats alike remained silent in the confidence that they were in complete control of the situation.

After the roll call, the mild reservationists in the Senate joined with the Democrats to set the preliminary stage for a reconsideration that would permit another vote on ratification, but their motion was abandoned. Compromise Democrats advised the Republicans that they thought it futile to try to change seven more Democratic votes. The motion to reconsider made by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, finally was thrown out on a point of order and no appeal was taken.

The line-up of the entire senate today was fifty-seven for ratification to thirty-nine against, including members paired. Four months ago the total alignment was forty-two for ratification and fifty-three against, with one seat vacant. Eighteen Democrats today changed from their position of Nov. 19. Seventeen who then voted against ratification favored it today, while one, Senator Shields of Tennessee, who voted for ratification Nov. 19, and since has become known as a "irreconcilable," today voted against ratification.

Of the Democrats who switched to support the treaty, fifteen voted for ratification and two additional Senators, George of Rhode Island and Jones of New Mexico, paired for ratification.

In the Republican ranks the irreconcilables gained but one new adherent. Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, who voted for ratification four months ago, today was paired as an opponent of the treaty. Twelve Republican "bitter ends" voted today, as they did four months ago, against ratification, while three others, Penrose of Pennsylvania, Fall of New Mexico, and Pointeclair were paired today in opposition. On Nov. 19 Senator Pointeclair voted in opposition, while Senator Fall was not present but his opposition was announced.

Just before the senate adjourned, Senator Knox, Republican, Pennsylvania, moved to take up his resolution declaring a state of peace. The attempt will be renewed Monday under present plans and the Republican leaders expect the resolution or some similar measure to be adopted.

Taft Very Sore. Greensboro, N. C., March 20—Former President William Howard Taft, who arrived here last night from Winston Salem, when told of the senate having failed to ratify the peace treaty, stated: "I have nothing to say except that I am very sorry." This refers to me, he said, but he is not a senator. However, although the senate has refused to ratify it, the treaty may be brought back. It was once, you know. It might be again.
