

BY A WOMAN. Facts, Fashions, AND Fancies. FOR A WOMAN.

Home Table Hints. We have now reached the mackerel season again, and the fish is esteemed by both high and low, rich and poor.

Mackerel broiled a la maitre d'hotel: It must not be washed, when intended to be broiled. Empty and wipe well; open the back, and put into it a little salt and oil; broil it on a gentle fire; turn it over on both sides, and also on the back; with the point of your knife try if it is done, by detaching the bone from the flesh; send it up with a maitre d'hotel melted, in a boat; when you wish to eat them very good, and have the taste of the fish, they must not be washed; only pull out the gills and empty the intestines; then wipe them clean and dry them with a damp cloth; next make an incision on the back, put over them some salt and pepper, and a drop of sweet oil, to prevent them from sticking to the plate; broil them again, and then put into the back some butter, kneaded with chopped parsley, pepper, salt and lemon, etc., as directed above.

Fashion Notes. Green cross pearls are made over color which shows through. In June satin, liberty satin and Louisiana silk satins with double hem-stitched ends, or elaborately figured with field flowers and fringed on the ends are worn by young girls, with hair ribbons to match. Stockings of finest white silk or bale thread are worn with white gloves. Jeweled roses in all colors are a Parisian fancy in hair ornaments.

Hints for Campers. Don't forget soap to wash dishes. Don't pack the dishes away in cases. Leave them in the air and sunlight. Don't forget the matches with which to light the fire. Better have a water-proof matchbox.

Train Cancelled. No C. P. R. Between Montreal and St. John Yesterday. The C. P. R. trains to and from Montreal yesterday were cancelled owing to washouts between Sherbrooke and Montserrat.

CROUPY COUGHS OF CHILDREN. The tendency to croup is a foe that all parents have to fight. Croup comes in the night, when the help must be right at hand.

NO JUNE DROP. The Cultivator and Not the Plow Used in a New Jersey Orchard. Many farmers leave their orchards until the other spring work, such as plowing and sowing, is done.

Destroying Grasshoppers. By all odds the best method for destroying grasshoppers after they become half grown is the use of the "hopper dozer," or "hopper puller," which is made of steeple iron by turning up the sides and ends about four inches so as to make a long, flat pan about four inches in depth.

Washing Sheep. Reasons For the Discontinuance of This Practice. W. N. Cowden of Ohio, discussing the subject of washing sheep in The National Stockman, arrives at this conclusion: Washing wool as now practiced injures the wool.

THE GARDEN HE KNOWS LEANS.

All the Latest Notions About Them by an Ohio Grower. The old saw "Too poor to raise beans" is usually associated with the idea that the bean crop can be made a last resort on wornout soil and that, other crops failing, beans may be planted.

It is true that beans may be grown on certain soils that are low in fertility when the water will not interfere with its consumption that it merits careful consideration. The time to irrigate depends largely on the crop, the weather conditions and the soil.

Another ranchman near Laramie says: "Where the soil is covered with alkali, and practically all the land here is alkali land, the white incrustations of salts interfere with the growth of grass and keep the land cold by reflecting the sun's rays."

Various reasons are given for turning the water on the meadows as early as possible. A ranchman who raises excellent crops of hay on the Laramie plains states that the water draws the frost out of the soil, softening the land so the grass can make an early start and produce larger growth than where naturally left back by the cold weather.

Group No. 1 represents the product best results of experiments in growing alfalfa and alfalfa hay on a plot measured length of row on a plot manured with a complete commercial fertilizer said to contain in a high grade form the three principal elements of fertility in the following proportions: Nitrogen, in sulphate of ammonia and organic forms, three-fourths to 1 1/2 per cent; phosphoric acid, available in the form of dissolved bone, 1 1/2 to 2 per cent; and potash, actual, 1/2 to 1 per cent.

Group No. 2 represents the product from a row on a plot receiving the application of commercial fertilizer alone, together with the addition of human manure in the form of leaf and straw mold.

Group No. 3 is the product from an exactly equal length of row on a plot immediately adjoining the first two that had received no fertilizer, manure or added humus of any kind.

The soil for beans should be light, loose, loamy or "suffy" naturally or made so by humus artificially supplied to produce such conditions. Any marked acidity of the soil should be removed by the application of lime.

The field should have sufficient drainage to prevent water from remaining in any considerable quantity on the surface of the ground after heavy rains.

WHEN TO IRRIGATE.

Every Irrigator Should Feel Awestruck and Find Out For Himself. The question when to irrigate is so closely related to the water supply and its consumption that it merits careful consideration.

The day the water will not interfere with its consumption that it merits careful consideration. The time to irrigate depends largely on the crop, the weather conditions and the soil.

BULL STOCKS.

Great Convenience in All Cattle Breeding Establishments. Probably most of the stocks now in use at cattle breeding establishments in the central west were patterned after the one built at Shadeland by the late Adam Earl, says The Breeder's Gazette.

"I send herewith sketch and dimensions of our stocks. We have used them with all our bulls, including The Grove III and many of the cows, and they work perfectly. The timber is pine or hemlock, except the floor, which is of oak plank four inches thick. This gives a solid foundation to stand on, and in some cases you can trim the feet to advantage while the animal is standing on the floor. The side timbers D should also be of oak plank four inches thick. It extends beyond the frame and that there are three holes bored through it. This is to bring the foot back as follows:

Buckle a strap around the foot just above the hoof, and draw the animal in, draw up, and bring the rope through one of these holes. This will bring the foot on top of D, and it can be tied there and the bottom of the foot pared off as much as necessary. There is a hole in the octagon roller as looks to which the chains are fastened, and two holes are bored in the roller to hold iron rods used in turning the roller and drawing the animal up. The chains are ordinary trace chains, five on each side. The belt is made with an iron rod on each end one inch in diameter, and the belt is fastened around this with chains attached to rods. Use heavy leather. The drawing shows the front of stock. The round sticks ZZ are removable from the top. Usually take one until the animal is led in and placed and then put the other one in, thus making the head secure. There is only one timber across the rear end of the stock, as shown by C.

"It is a good idea to let the animal stand awhile in the stocks before drawing him up, and the time can be utilized in trimming the ends of the hoofs with a chisel. The tools we use are a heavy mallet, an inch and a quarter chisel and two crooked knives (right and left), such as blacksmiths use. The best of the best often require attention, and this can be done best by swinging the animal up and drawing the feet back and using the crooked knives. The dimensions of timbers are as follows: A—6 by 6 inches by 7 feet 6 inches. B—6 by 6 inches by 9 feet 1 1/2 inches. C—6 by 6 inches by 9 feet 10 1/2 inches. D—4 by 4 inches by 9 feet 1 1/2 inches.
