Popular beliefs die hard, and it is easy to understand that once the idea of ghosts had arisen it might continue to exist for countless generations. The difficulty is to explain how a superstition so contrary to common sense could have first arisen.

A new solution of the mystery has recently been suggested in "The Burial of the Dead." According to this latest theory, ghosts were originally not disportant of the most favorable opportunity to do so unperceived would be of the Dead." According to this latest theory, ghosts were originally not disembodied spirits, but living men. A survey of superstitions throughout the world discloses the fact that there are certain characteristics common to the ghosts of all nations. Among other things, they suffer from hunger and cold. So the good-natured Breton peasant, when he goes to bed at night, is in the habit of leaving a little food on the table and some fire in the grate, so that

Watch Your Gums-Bleeding a Sign of Trouble

Medical science knows how serious is the sign of bleeding gums. For it knows that tender and bleeding gums are the forerunners of Pyorrhea, that dread disease which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

If the disease is unchecked, the gum-line recedes, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the Pyorrhea poisons which seep into the system and wreck the health. These poisons often cause rheumatism, nervous dis-orders, anaemia, and other ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently.

Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult your dentist immediately for special treatment.

There is no question that B. A. is big, modern, progressive and up to date in every way. A visitor obtains the impression somehow that the people of "Baires," which is the code name for the Argentine metropolis, have shopped on the expensive scale throughout the world, bought liberally and brought back most of the essentials that combine, when thrown together, to make a big, impressive town.

B. A. Is Store Town.

In other words, B. A. is a "store town." Almost every feature of it was borrowed, confiscated or purchased in Petrograd, Brussels, London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Madrid, Rome, New York, Chicago, Boston, Mexico City and San Francisco. The Argentine is a great sportsman; like all South Americans, he loves to gamble. Racing amounts to a passion with him. The fabulously rich estanciero regards a blooded horse of established pedigree as his most valued possession. Some of these sportsmen have paid as high as $300,000 for race horses that have achieved great distinction on English and French Turfs. One of them recently bought from August Belmont, Tracery, an English thoroughbred sire, for an amount exceeding $250,000.

These thoroughbreds of celebrity are brought to the Argentine and mated
