Open Verdict Returned
That Badros Anigian came to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown was the verdict brought in after nearly two months' deliberation by the jury at St. Catharines. Anigian was shot in the doorway of his store on Ontario Street on April 28th. Chief of Police Greene gave testimony that the evidence given at a previous sitting of the inquest by Frank Boyd was the truth. Boyd, a youth now employed on a boat running out of Toronto, failed to attend a sitting of the inquest when ordered. The jurors before closing the enquiry sent the Chief to Toronto to investigate the statements given by Boyd for his non-appearance. Two Armenians who are being held will come up before the Magistrate tomorrow. No direct evidence was given at the inquest connecting them with the crime.

This is the second open verdict on murder cases returned by coroners' juries in St. Catharines within the past two months, and the police have no clues in either case. The shooting of Pasquale Catalano in rear of a few weeks ago, makes the third mystery to baffle the police within the past two months.

Sir Lomer Gouin
Retains Power

TWO LABORITES ELECTED
MONTREAL, June 23.—Sir Lomer Gouin goes back to power in Quebec with a slightly reduced majority as the result of the provincial elections to-day.

His former strength was 75 Liberals to six Conservatives. His present strength, leaving out Pontine and Temiskaming, both of which returned Liberals last election but for which are not to hand to-night, is 68 Liberals, against nine Conservatives and two Labor men. Labor is represented for the first time officially at Quebec men who have formerly run under the name having been straight Liberals.

The Government lost three seats on the Island of Montreal, Maisonneuve, Laval and Dorion. In the first and last Labor replaces Liberal in Laval it is straight. Conservative gain; Maisonneuve is the scene of Sir Lomer Gouin's speech last week. The Conservatives lost only one seat, Charlevoix-Saguenay. By not con-

Outside Montreal.
Outside of Montreal the Government lost five seats, Iberville, Joliette, LaBelle, Chicoutimi and St. Hyacinthe.

The leader of the Opposition, Arthur Sauve, was re-elected by 600 majority, a large one for a rural constituency.

In addition to the official Opposition of nine members there are several Liberals who are elected on an independent ticket and of whom the Government cannot be sure. The future of the elections was the competitive small minorities gained by the Liberal candidates, as compared with previous elections. Thus, Hon. Napoleon Seguin, who have returned during the past month.
