

Q. How many meals a day?

A. Three, sir.

Q. Did you have a bed while you were at the Depot?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you draw any blankets?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were enjoying the privileges of a soldier at the Depot?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you draw any pay?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you report to anybody except the Orderly Room?

A. No, sir.

Q. Were there any other people at the Depot living at the Depot and working in Toronto at the same time?

A. Yes, sir; quite numerous.

Q. Under what circumstances would that be?

A. The men are doing nothing waiting for their discharge and they go downtown and work ~~there~~ during the day-time.

Q. And you were in military uniform all the time?

A. Yes, sir; that's all the clothing I had.

Q. You said something about a pair of boots?

A. The boots I was wearing was worn down so I went to the Quartermaster and showed them to him and he took my oxfords in and gave me a pair of high boots and took my oxfords to be repaired at the Depot.

Q. What is this document?

A. That is the receipt he gave me.

Q. And it is issued to C-49968, Pte. Freel, M. H.; is that you?

A. Yes, sir.
