

able provision for bad debts everywhere, and if the city had annually placed the amount overlevied to the credit of a reserve for uncollected taxes, the present situation would not have existed.