PINE GROVE YORKSHIRES.

The wide renown of excellence, home won, of the Pine Grove herd of Large English Yorkshire swine, the property of Jos. Featherston & Son, of Streetsville, Ont., has created so great a demand for breeding stock from practically all over Canada, that the firm has been compelled to very largely increase the number of brood sows, and have now in breeding no less than twenty-six, the whole making an aggregation of breeding sows the equal of any lot that could probably be found on any one farm in any country. Ten of these will tip the scales at 700 lbs. each, the balance, which are younger, will average about 425 lbs. each. This, coupled with their ideality of type, and smooth, choice quality, make them an exceptionally high-class lot, many of them being Toronto, London, Ottawa and Guelph winners. These great sows, bred to the firm's quartette of prizewinning stock boars, are the kind of stock from which the young things are being bred that go to fill the orders received from the far East to the far West, as well as from the United States. The many years in which the Messrs. Featherston have been importing and breeding Yorkshires, and the enormous trade worked up, held, and continually added to, is certainly the strongest kind of testimonial of straight, legitimate dealing and honest representation. On hand are a very large number of youngsters of both sexes, up to three months of age, for which orders are now being booked.

OAKLAND SHORTHORNS.

In the county of Huron, 1½ miles from the town of Hensall, G. T. R., is the splendidly-equipped stock farm, Oakland, the property of John Elder & Son, breeders of dual-purpose Shorthorn cattle. The appointments on this grand farm are essentially the production of Mr. Elder, the stables being a model for convenience, light, sanitation, ventilation and comfort, and are well worth a visit by anyone contemplating the building or remodeling of a stable. The herd is a large one, and one of the best in the noted Shorthorn county of Huron, the major part of them belonging to that great dual-purpose strain or tribe of Waterloos, the original being Waterloo of Hillsdale =24010=, by Royal Saxon, dam Lady Waterloo of Neidpath, tracing to Lady Waterloo (imp.). They are an extra thick-fleshed tribe, good doers, and many of them heavy milkers. Another tribe represented goes to Lady Jane (imp.), the foundation cow being May Rose, Vol. 20, by Roseville Abbott, dam Mayflower, by Hopewell. Still another strain goes to Young Mary (imp.), the foundation cow being Bessie Bell, Vol. 19, by Prince of Orange. It will thus be seen that the whole herd are bred from what is known and what is becoming more and more popular as dual-purpose cattle, possessing a good thickness of flesh, easy-feeding qualities, and, without, having a capacity for milk production that would show a profit on the right side of the ledger. The first stock bull was the well-known Duke of Hensall =28601=, a son of the famous bull, Riverside Stamp, dam a descendant of the cow, Imp. Yorkshire Belle, breeding that only intended the tendency for milk production. The present stock bull is Scotch Grey =22692=, a Lady Ythan, by Golden Emu, a son of Imp. Golden Drop Victor, dam Lady Jane (imp.), by Count Amaranth, granddam by Clan Alpine. He is a roan cow in type, very thick of flesh, medium, and is nicking remarkably well with the herd. His predecessor in service was Count Sylvanus =56908=, a Mars Clara, by the Clara-bred bull, Imp. Space Count, dam Coronation (imp.). This bull is sire of a large number in the herd over twelve months of age, the present stock bull being sire of all under a year. There are a number of one, two and three-year-old heifers that are feeding as well as about twelve bulls, the lot of them two years of age, five of the yearlings, the balance under a year. It need not be said that, with so much selection, there must certainly be some choice ones, and there are, level of good depth of rib, nice, even texture, and bred from big milking cows, that line of breeding, they are a credit to the country, and can be got in the country and so quick at the prices asked.
