What the F.P.U. Will Accomplish for Conception Bay

(To the Editor)

Dear Sir—

I wonder how many Non-Unionists realize the gigantic task that President Coaker set for himself when he undertook the work of rejuvenation in connection with the old-time system under which our staple industry was conducted. I fear there is still a very large number of Unionists who do not thoroughly appreciate it. The distressing, but deep-rooted old-time order of things had to be tackled and their death must, naturally, be a slow crumbling back to the dust, and obnoxious premises are decaying, prolonging life. Some who formed that partnership and who moved among the greatest of the land, have passed beyond the veil, and others are to-day halting on the threshold of a misused life, and, where is the monument of their material success? They are leaving their home town poorer than they found it, and who will regret the passing. If the toiler were given a fair share of the products of his labour could the foregoing state of things come to pass? Certainly not. Happily this conditions and customs belong to the sad past. A brighter day has dawned for Conception Bay as well as for the North. To-day the F.P.U. has invaded those fortresses of graft. President Coaker has been instrumental in the fishermen both at Labrador, as well as at home, getting the best value for their catch. The advent of stores in some of those centres has brought about a more reasonable and honest system of trade, as in Port of Grave and Bay Roberts. In Bay of Verde alone last year many thousands of dollars were placed in the pockets of the toilers through the competition of the Union Store. The fishermen who operate as squatters on the Labrador Coast were able to demand the highest figure both because of advice through Union Press, and circulars as well as by the Union competing in the buying of fish on the coast. This year the same will be done on a much larger scale if vessels can be procured to bring cargoes. It is unfortunate that some outside the
