PREMIER OF FRANCE GIVES EXPLANATION

Outlines Whole History of Balkan Situation Since Beginning of War.

Paris, Oct. 12.—Russian troops will be fighting in the Balkans to-day. There is a complete accord between France, Great Britain and Russia, and all have sufficient troops to throw into the Balkans without weakening any front.

These declarations were made in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday by Premier Viviani, in reply to a resolution adopted earlier in the day by a committee, which reads: "The committee is convinced of the necessity of a campaign and immediate explanation on the part of the government."

The Premier made no reference to Italian participation in the Balkan campaign.

RUSS TO FIGHT BULGAR.

"Our principal preoccupation is the defence of our front and the liberation of our territories," declared M. Viviani. "France and Britain, however, will go to the help of Serbia, and today Russia will throw her troops against Bulgaria."

"France, Great Britain and Russia are in complete accord. Sufficient troops are available without weakening any front.

The Balkan question was raised at the outset of the war, even before it came to the attention of the world. The Bucharest treaty had left in Bulgaria profound heart-burnings. Neither King nor people were resigned to the loss of the fruits of their efforts and sacrifices and to the consequences of the unjustifiable war they had waged upon their former allies. From the first day the allied governments took into account the dangers of such a situation, and sought a means to remedy it. Their policy has proceeded in the spirit of justice and generosity which has characterized the attitude of Great Britain, Russia and Italy, as well as France.

ROUMANIA WAS AMENABLE

"We attempted to reconstitute the Balkan union so the peoples might realize their national aspirations. The balance of power thus obtained by mutual consent would be the best guarantee of future peace. But, despite the good-will of Roumania, Serbia and Greece, Bulgaria raised difficulties, making claims on all of her frontiers in the expense of her four neighbors. Roumania was not unfavorable to a Balkan alliance. She knew that only a victory of the Quadruple Entente could assure her independence. Despite the cruelty of such a sacrifice, Bulgaria gave ready responses to our proposals and at the same time carried on parallel negotiations with our enemies.

"As to Turkey, which had thrown herself into the arms of Germany, there was no need for further consideration.

"Our efforts with Roumania were partially successful. Roumania, the people of which country frequently manifested French sympathies, was not unfavorable to the re-establishment of the Balkan alliance. Her partial mobilization permitted her to repulse any threatened aggression, defend herself against all German pressure and observe with the closest attention the loss of the frontier, both Austrian and Bulgarian. Roumania knew, moreover, that only victory on the part of the Quadruple Entente could insure her independence and satisfy her national aspirations.

ASK SOMETHING OF SERBS.

"In their considerate desire to give the Bulgarian people satisfaction in their aspirations the powers of the Quadruple Entente did not hesitate to sacrifice Serbia to make heavy concessions. Despite the cruelty of such a sacrifice and desirous of proving their attachment to the allies, which were combating for their common independence, the Serbs, who made this extraordinary effort and resigned themselves, hoping for compensations that the victory of the Quadruple powers would be able to give Serbia elsewhere.

"The equivocal attitude of the Bulgarian Government led the Greek Government to maintain a waiting policy. Our diverse proposals received early responses from the Bulgarian Government, which asked for additional details and at the same time carried on parallel negotiations with our enemies. Finally, at the moment when the Quadruple Entente informed Bulgaria of the important concessions Serbia was ready to make, King Ferdinand signed an accord with Turkey and engaged himself definitely with Germany.

"To our friendly question as to his intention the response was Bulgarian mobilization, in connection with the German troops on the Danube, and the Austro action against Serbia.

"In the presence of this attitude we immediately declared null and void the advantages and guarantees that we had announced we were ready to offer Bulgaria, and we have resumed with the other Balkan States our liberty of action toward them. On its side, heroic Serbia, whose patriotic and heroic glorious wars have not had the effect of diminishing its courage, silently prepared to meet upon two fronts the concerted attacks of Berlin, Vienna and Constantinople.

MUST BE ENERGETIC

"Our action must be energetic in order to meet the efforts of our enemies, who are dominated on the west front, checked on the eastern front and who now try to obtain on a new front, with the aid of Bulgaria, a success thus far impossible to realize either in France or Russia.

"In order to succor the Serbians we must go through Saloniki, and from the outset of the Bulgarian mobilization we have conducted negotiations toward that end with the President of the Council at Athens. These negotiations are most natural in view of the definite treaty concluded between Serbia and Greece after the second Balkan war in the event of Bulgarian aggression.

"They say," continued M. Viviani sarcastically, "that we are violating the neutrality of Greece, and they even dare to compare our action to that of Germany in violating the neutrality of Belgium, perjurying her signature and plunging that noble country into fire and bloodshed. The conditions under which we went to Saloniki, the conditions under which we departed, the welcome we received suffice to demonstrate the stupidity of these accusations.

"This energetic action Great Britain and France, in accord with their allies, have undertaken. They have weighed the difficulties. Our principal preoccupation is the defence of our front, the liberation of our territory by mighty efforts, to which we owe the victories already won upon our soil with the valorous support of our heroic allies, with our forces, sacrifices and our blood. No Government could do otherwise in a duty so tragic but so simple.

"Gentlemen, we have done our duty toward our ally," said the Premier in conclusion. "Never has an accord been more direct and more complete between allies, and never have we had greater confidence in a common victory."
