NINE DROWNED.

Every Member of a Rowing Party on the Susquehanna is Lost.

Wife of One Victim Restrained From Throwing Herself Into Water.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 9.-A small boat containing a party of nine was upset in the Susquehanna River at Port Griffith near here this afternoon. All the occupants of the boat were drowned. The victims were: W. A. Andrews, Port Griffth, 27 vears old.

Late to-night none of the bodies had been recovered. A squad of the state troops has been sent across the river from Wyoming by Captain Robinson, and they will take charge of the work of searching for the bodies.

The boat was so heavily loaded that it sat low in the stern. One of the men in the stern moved forward to help Andrews with the oars. The movement caused the boat to rock and it shipped some water. Some of the occupants stood up to avoid getting wet. At that moment the boat capsized and the occupants were all thrown into the water.

Whether any of the unfortunates cupants were all thrown into the water. Whether any of the unfortunates could swim is not known. All nine were quickly swept away by the current. Some of them grasped each other and went down quickly.

A couple clung to the boat for a few seconds, but others who hung on to them dragged them off and in less than three minutes pathing remaining.

Larry Burke, mixerologist at the Schmidt House, and for years a wellknown umpire, is a very angry man. He has been mad since Saturday afternoon, has been mad since Saturday afternoon, when the Spectator published the following item on its sporting page:

"Umpire wants a place in a good town or a league, where he will have a chance to show his ability. Can be partial or impartial as required. Pearless in a tight place and willing to fight in a pinch. Police protection no object. Nationality, Irish. Address, Mike Burke, care of Schmidt House, Hamilton."

Mr. Burke is considering the question Alf. Burke is considering the question of taking legal proceedings for defamatory libel. The only reason he can make, he says, for the attack on him is, he declined an offer to umpire in the Brantford-Hamilton League, which is being promoted by a member of the Spectator staff. He says he was never accused of being partial, and he resents that part of the article, as well as the reference to the Irish. He is proud of his nationality, like every good Irishman.

SUIT OVER DOORS.

The suit brought in the Division Court some time ago by William Magill and Gill Blazas against Joel Jerome, David Hobbs and Mills & Company, was heard before Judge Snider this morning. The case arose out of the tearing down of some of the old houses at the corner of John and Hunter streets, where Mills & Company started to build. Jerome and Hobbs took away some of the doors that Jerome had made, Hobbs being the carter who took them away. Magill and Blazas objected to this, and sued the two men in the Division Court. The defendants asked that Mills & Company be added as a third defendant. This was done, and the case enlarged till to-day. His Honor after hearing the evidence decided that the defendants would have to pay the plaintiffs just $10 and costs. Mr. M. J. O'Reilly, K. C., appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. J. R. Marshall for the defendants.
