Jeanie's Crew On the Way Home.

Dominion Government Survey Expedition Arrived at Winnipeg After a Tramp from Port Churchill.

(Special to the Montreal Star.) Winnipeg, January 17.—Thirteen travel-beaten men, most of them bearing the marks of the rigors of an eight hundred mile "mush" over the ice and snow in weather that often went more than forty degrees below zero, arrived in Winnipeg this morning by train from Gimli, on Lake Winnipeg.

The party comprised Prof. J. Macoun, F.I.S., F.R.C.S., director and naturalist of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; A. G. Bachand, of the Hydrographic Survey, Ottawa; Sergeant Nicholls, Royal North West Mounted Police, and the nine men of the party which accompanied Mr. Bachand on the work of surveying the harbor of Port Churchill.

Mr. Harry Ford, an interpreter who had been connected with the Mounted Police at Fort Churchill for the past seven years, was also a member of the party, all of whom, with the exception of Sergt. Nicholls, will leave for their respective homes in the east to-morrow morning.

Captain Harold Bartlett, of the ill-fated schooner Jeanie, which was wrecked at Wagner Inlet on Hudson Bay, on September 9, with Prof. Macoun on board, is still at Gimli, with the members of his crew, and will not come to Winnipeg until to-morrow. The members of the crew include Mate Eade, Engineer Fred Gerrard, Assistant Engineer, Jimmy James, Steward, Jimmy Way, Boatswain Tucker, Coxswain Doolan, and two A. B.'s, named Morrissey and Kenny.

Placencia Notes.

On Wednesday, 18th inst., a pretty wedding took place in the Sacred Heart Church. Mr. W. Wyse and Miss M. E. Lannon were united in the bonds of holy matrimony, the knot being tied by Rev. V. F. Reardon. The groom was assisted by Mr. A. Wyse, while the bride was attended by her sister, Miss T. Lannon. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple dined at the bride's residence, South East, where a sumptuous supper was partaken of, after which dancing was kept up until the wee small hours of morning. On Saturday they returned to Placencia where they will reside in future. The writer wishes Mr. and Mrs. Wyse many happy years of wedded happiness.

During the past few days the Gut has been blocked with ice, and consequently one could not cross. But it is now clear again.

Miss M. Murphy, of the city, is at present enjoying a visit to Placencia. What here she is the guest of Mrs. P. Barron.

There is now to be had some good skating on the South East Arm and in many other places.

Hats and Bald Heads.
Why the Wearing of the Former Causes the Later.
Ingenious men are continually contriving new kinds of shoes, new suspenders, and hundreds of different kinds of braces, but so far says the 'Therapeutic Gazette,' no one has taken up the idea of making a hat which will hold on the head and not blow off, and at the same time not bind the head all around like a constricting band.
Some men go without a hat, with the idea that the hair is improved by ventilation and sunshine. Undoubtcushion like effect and preventing the constriction at that portion of the scalp.

Girl Breaks Leg.
Saturday night, shortly after 8 o'clock, Miss Flossie O'Neill, daughter of Mr. H. O'Neill, of 27 Pope Street, was proceeding down over Barter's Hill when, near the end of the thoroughfare she slipped and fell, and her right leg turning under her was broken just below the knee. The girl suffered intense pain and her cries brought quickly to her side several persons, including Sergt. Byrne, who was passing along New Gower Street at the time. He despatched a constable to the stand near the Post Office for a sleigh and the girl was brought to her home, where Dr. Tait attended her, and after doing all possible for her had her sent to Hospital for further treatment.

Hats, like those of stiff straw which are easily blown off, should never be worn, as they will not stay on unless jammed so tightly upon the head as to impede circulation. All stiff, rigid hats should be very light, and one should select a size larger than the head measurement and correct the over size by inserting felt strips under the sweat band, thus giving a

Demon Ships

Ships That Seemed to be Moved by the Spirit of Destruction.

There is an old Cornish legend of a phantom ship which is seen in or off Portcharno harbor and which, unlike most ghosts, has a terrifying habit of pursuing any vessel which it sights. If it catches its victim there is a collision, but no roar of rushing water. At the moment of contact the ghost ship vanishes into thin air, and the puzzled crew of the other vessel rub their eyes in terrified amazement.

To any one who knows the legend the vessel that saw the phantom ship is however, doomed. Before the next New Year's Day she will be sunk in collision with another vessel or a rock.

One wonders whether the original of this phantom at all resembled that notable and appropriately named Yacht Satanita. The Satanita was a fine and very powerful cutter, which originally belonged to Mr. C. D. Clarke and afterward to Sir Maurice Fitzgerald.

The Satanita was a hard weather craft, but let the breeze be the least heavier than she liked and she would be seized with what seemed more like demonical possession than anything else, and even with four men hanging on her helm she would sometimes take charge and rush right up into the wind.

She was the cause of several serious accidents, the worst of which happened at the Mudhook club's regatta in 1894. On that occasion she was behaving in the most perfect fashion when suddenly and without the slightest warning she flung all control, and, just as a race horse will sometimes "savage" an opponent, she dashed in a mad fury at Valkyrie II, and sank her like a stone. Well was the Satanita called the "demon" yacht.

But it is not only sailing ships that get at times in a strange and unaccountable fashion. Some years ago the British warships Pique, Mutine, Rosario and Britonart entered Kluksing harbor and rapped anchor in Fell 240 Feet.

A steplack, who has been engaged for some days past repairing the 260ft. chimney at Messrs. Barbour's thread works, Hilden, near Lisburn, Antrim, has had a marvelous escape from death.

When within about 10ft. of the top of the stack he accidentally lost his grip of the handrope by which he raises and lowers himself, with the result that he came down with a rapid rate. Some 18ft. from the ground he struck a steam pipe and was flung off his wooden seat into an adjoining tree, from which he dropped on to the grass, escaping without the slightest injury.

After the meal hour he resumed his work as if nothing out of the ordinary had happened. It is calculated that he fell about 240 feet.

When the Joke Was On Me.

Dr. Clark, M.P. for Red Deer, Alberta, and who formerly practised medicine at Newcastle-on-Tyne, tells the following story, which was certainly "one on him."

Walking down the street one Sunday morning, feeling at peace with himself and the world, and particularly benevolent, due perhaps to the Sabbath feeling in the air, but more probably to the frock coat and top hat that he was wearing, he saw coming towards him two small urchins, the older of whom—a boy of perhaps ten or eleven years—was puffing vigorously at a cigarette. As they drew near, the doctor placed his hand on the shoulder of the youthful smoker and said in his best paternal manner, "My boy, do you know that if you smoke cigarettes while so young you will never grow up to be a big man?" Immediately the smaller urchin piped up, "But he's going to be a Jockey, sir."
