

A Bronchial Cough, Perhaps Weak Throat Use "Catarrhozone"---Dead Sure Cure

Wonderful Success Reported in Thousands of Bad Cases.

How many thousands are there who would gladly pay any sum to be cured of bronchitis or catarrh. Many could be cured if they would just use common sense in selecting their remedy. Bronchitis of course is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes which were made for the passage of air alone, and neither the moisture of an atomiser nor the liquid of a cough syrup can get where the trouble really is. The diseased parts can only be reached by a remedy that can force its way through all the breathing organs. Doctors who have used "Catarrhozone" say it is the only rational cure for bronchitis. It cures by inhalation. You breathe in its healing balsam,

Inhale the soothing antiseptic vapor and relief is immediate. Simple to use, delightful and pleasant---nothing compares with Catarrhozone which is the cure of the day for all bronchial and throat troubles. Mr. H. B. McLaughlin, the well-known representative of Parks and Blackwell, Toronto, says: "I have used Catarrhozone for years and can honestly say it is the only remedy that relieves me from a painful attack of Bronchial Catarrh. The inhaler for Catarrhozone is always in my pocket and I simply couldn't get along without it. I firmly believe Catarrhozone is a wonderful remedy." Large size sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed $1.00; small size 50c.; sample or trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Jerseymen in Newfoundland.

By H. F. SHORTIS.

(Concluded.) In this connection I just wish to mention a few of the descendants of Jerseymen who hold very prominent positions in our Island Home to-day: Henry W. LeMessurier, who takes such complete charge of our Customs House, and all financial matters connected with it. Every one recognizes his able and guiding hand. His methodical grasp of statistics places the whole community under the deepest obligation to him. He comes from a sturdy and long lived family, and may have many years yet to receive further acknowledgments of gratitude from an appreciative people.

If there is one position in our Government that commands the greatest respect of all it is our Auditor General, who holds the balance of power, irrespective of party adherence. Who do we find in charge but the son of another worthy Jersey family, F. C. Berteau. He has held this position for many years with honor to himself and our country.

Now we come to the indefatigable Secretary of the Newfoundland Board of Trade, Ernest A. Payne. Any one who has much to do with our merchants knows how hard it is to get along amicably with them, and it speaks volumes for Mr. Payne to find him so popular with all, and placing the work of this institution on a higher plane than it has ever been before.

Visitors to our outports frequently state what a great many places or settlements have Jersey rooms, but there is not a dwelling house or a fishing establishment to show, perhaps there is a grassy mound on the cellar of an old house. In Placentia we have a splendid spring of water to mark the old site and nothing else. No one, not even the oldest inhabitants can tell when they were occupied by Jerseymen. In many places in the island there are private graveyards, which the oldest inhabitants will tell you are the resting places of Jersey families. The traditions cling to the old spot but the race of these fine old Jerseymen in many places have died out.

Now I must give you a few well known names of the Jersey firms doing business in Newfoundland in the early part of the last century.

Philip Nicolle, Straits of Belle Isle and West Coast.

David de Quetteville, Blanc Sablon. William Fruling & Co., Lance-au-Loup and Gaspé. To this day Morel is their agent at the present time.

Clement, Renouf & Co., on the West Coast, afterwards known as De-many descendants, one of which was Claudius Watts, another Capt. Frank Taylor, of sealing renown, and if you wish to know more about her ask the genial Capt. James Pike, now living in Carbonar.

In the John Guy controversy four years ago, old Captain Thomey gave us some interesting stories about the old Jersey foundations on which his grandfather had built their houses at Mosquito (now Bristol's Hope), over one hundred and fifty years ago.

Capt. Nicholas Peddle also told us of traditions from his forefathers about the Jersey houses in that old settlement with red brick tiles for the roofs. I mention these facts now to establish the real ancient connection of these older settlements in the country with the Jersey Islands.

We have well authenticated information of how the most of the buildings were erected in Newfoundland even one hundred years ago. Many of them were nothing better than what our fishing stages are like to-day, and many were mere mud hovels, but the "stone houses" in Harbor Grace and red tile roofs at Bristol's Hope show that the Jerseymen considered themselves far superior to the general class.

There are many disconnected stories in Jersey about trade with Newfoundland, as far back as the commencement of the 16th century, but there was no Hakluyt in Jersey to keep a proper record of the many voyages, and therefore what we do find is only a crumb here and there.

Mr. E. T. Nicholle, a celebrated lawyer of Jersey, who has been making a research, writes that in the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries up to 1850, the trade between Jersey and Newfoundland was very extensive. He has found one record in the Royal Court dating April, 1591, where a Jerseymen, who had obtained a license from the Governor to go to Newfoundland, had returned thence to St. Ma'o in France, and sold his cargo of fish there. On arriving at Jersey this fact became known, and he was fined by the Court for evading the payment of dues to the Crown, and it was also stated that the inhabitants required the fish for their own use, and should have had the first offer of it. This poor chap appears to have made the mistake of taking out a license, or he would never have immortalized himself in the Jersey annals.

In the Histories of Jersey, mention is always made that Sir Walter Raleigh was Governor there in the year 1600, and he continued Governor for three years. In some books it is stated that he established the fishing trade with Newfoundland, but Mr. E. T. Nicholle states that this is quite incorrect, what he did was to encourage the trade with Newfoundland at that time. I am also pleased to note that Mr. Nicholle quite believes that the Jerseymen were in Newfoundland before John Cabot's discovery in 1497.

There is still so much to write about on this subject that I find it hard to stop, as I could enumerate ever so many racy stories, and there are many names left out that should be mentioned, but I must say to any who may feel vexed that it is not intentional on my part, but it is impossible to say all I would like at this time.

In bringing this article to a close, let me mention two of the fair Jersey lilies of our town, who are proud of their attachment to the Channel Islands. Mrs. John Browning, formerly a Miss Hubert, had relatives at Harbor Breton, but was born in Jersey, and few there are to surpass her. The wife of our Premier, Sir Edward Morris, was formerly Miss Le Gallis (born in Newfoundland), who still has many relatives in Jersey, where the son of our Premier is now being educated, and let us all hope he will follow in the worthy steps of his father.

Germany Must Play for a Draw.

"It is necessary that the British people should consider very clearly the true invardness of the desperate attempt of the Germans to reach Calais," says the London Times. "We have to remember that the original German plans, which were based upon the expectation of a series of overwhelming triumphs, have been shattered. The Germans cannot now hope to beat the Russians. Warsaw and the constant failure of the Austrians have shown us that. Unless something extremely unexpected happens in France, it is not at all likely that they can reach Paris. Their hopes were based upon swift successes, but they did not obtain them and they are confronted by enemies who steadily grow stronger."

GAME OF BLUFF.

"They cannot achieve their original purpose, but they can still strive for a draw, and aim at concluding a perhaps not wholly unprofitable peace. To accomplish that end, it is above all things necessary for them to weaken the moral resolution of Great Britain. This is the true object of their advance towards Calais, a secondary object being to revive the drooping spirits of their own people."

"They know very well why they want Calais. They hope in vulgar parlance, to 'establish a funk' in this country. It is our business to see that they fail, and to that end the British nation must consider the question of Calais quite calmly, and make up its mind that a dozen German army corps in Calais would leave us quite undisturbed."

Magic "Nerviline" Ends Stiff Neck, Lumbago.

Any Curable Muscular or Joint Pain is Instantly Relieved by Nerviline.

GET A TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY.

You don't have to wait all day to get the kink out of a stiff neck if you rub on Nerviline. And you don't need to go around complaining about lumbago any more. You can rub such things away very quickly with Nerviline. It's the grandest liniment, the quickest to penetrate, the speediest to ease muscular pain of any kind.

One twenty-five cent trial bottle of Nerviline will cure any attack of lumbago or lame back. This has been proved a thousand times, just as it was in the case of Mrs. E. J. Grayden, of Calcutta, who writes: "I wouldn't think of going to bed without knowing we had Nerviline in the house. I have used it for twenty odd years and appreciate its value as a family remedy more and more every day. If any of the children gets a stiff neck, Nerviline cures quickly. If it is earache, toothache, cold on the chest, sore throat, Nerviline is always my standby. My husband once cured himself of a frightful attack of lumbago by Nerviline, and for a hundred ailments that turn up in a large family Nerviline is by far the best thing to have about you."

Surprising News.

Then there are our ships. Dinna ve loss min' o' oor ships. There was a cruiser launched a mile or so frae this hoose a month or twa afore the war began, an' after she was launched, mackerel heart' o' her till last week if there had been nae war, we wad hae had paragraphs about her leavin' the Clyde, an' about her trials, an' her guns, an' a' the rest. But the vera first the public kent o' that boat was when the Admiralty calmly intimat' that she an' four new destroyers had sunk four German destroyers. That's hoo we dae things noo-a-days. Nae flag-flyin', or trumpet-blowin', or talk about the big things we are to dae when we mak' a start, but just the slippin' awa' quietly, an' then the actual dashin' o' the job. An', no only the cruisers, but a' the four British destroyers were new, an' three o' them were built on the Clyde. After that who can say that we dinna live near the war?

Hearts That Stop Still.

"One's heart stops still at the thought---what if this misery were to befall our own people in the dear Fatherland." This from a German soldier's letter telling of the plight of women and children of Belgium in the wake of Germany's army of invasion. Perhaps here is one German who will not wonder that the heart of the neutral world has "stopped still" at the spectacle of a great nation, a nation that lays claim to leadership in civilization and culture, wantonly inflicting such misery upon the people of a neighboring nation whom it had given its solemn pledge to protect.---New York Herald.
