"No, not entirely. I think it is some-times produced by children beginning to dance almost as soon as they are able to walk, such as we see in some German communities. In dancing the little youngster, sometimes sustains the whole weight of the body on the tips of the toes a quarter of an hour at a stretch. The bones at that age are a little less that cartilage, and can be very easily deformed. As proof of this you have only to recollect the Chinese practice of shaping the feet of their female children. I suppose the feet of young girls of tender constitutions are also sometimes injured in 'jumping the rope,' especially in such trials of endurance where they pit

MCILROY, WAREHOUSE, 10 & 12 KING STREET EAST, TORONTO.

Among the most peculiar and least known fish of Nevada, is the couewer found only in Pyramid and Winnemucca lakes. One of the most striking peculiarities is a mane extending along the back from head to tail. which renders the creature so unsightly that it is always sheered by the fishermen before being sent to the market. They swim at the surface of the water, and in the early days ascended the river in mense schools that filled the niver from bank to bank. They make a great noise when thus going up the river, and can be heard at a considerable distance from the stream. In the spring of 1860, at the time of the Indian war, they stampeded the horses of a company of soldiers camped on the bank of the stream, and came near causing a panie, it being supposed that the Piutes were charging upon the camp. The long mutton sleeve promises to be quite general with the opening of spring and the use of light materials.
