SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 16 1882 THE GLORIOUS GOSPEL.

(To the Editor of The World.) SIR: The verses written for Dr. Wild's dification which appeared in The World on Wednesday last over the signature "G" rve notice, not from any value in themwes, but because they are the expression of a certain phase of religious opinion which prevails widely among uneducated people. The key is found in the last line, "Preach the glorious gospel of Christ," and the idea which underlies is that it is the duty of a secher to confine himself very strictly to the preaching of certain threadbare, orthodox he preaching of certain threadbare, orthodox feetines and not get out of his latitude by meddling with anything practical or anything touching on science or the progress of odern thought.

This method suits some preachers admirbly as it does not put them to the trouble of learning anything new or keeping up.

of learning anything new or keeping up with the times but it does not seem to suit with the times but it does not seem to suit the more intelligent members of their congregations to hear the same thing over and over again forever. It may be an old, old story, but there is a possibility of its becoming a trifle too old, if people have to listen to it twice every Sunday for fifty-two Sundays in the year. The trouble is that what suits "G," or the class he represents, may not suit people of greater intelligence and culture. It is true the preaching of the glorious gostel worked wonders under Wesley and Whitfield and similar cases, but the times have changed a little since then. There was really a great deal of novelty and originality in their preaching, and that was the secret of its success. These qualities are not necessarily sinful in a preacher, though peoble like "G" seem to think that they are.

though people like "G' seem to think that they are.

The truth is that Wesley and Whitfield preached to suit the people they were addressing. They taught the first lessons of the gospel to people who had never heard them before, and to whose untrained minds God was an enraged and avenging deity. To these people a gospel of love and mercy and forgiveness was indeed a novelty and a strange wonder, and they eagerly embraced its truths fresh from the lips of these earnest and fervent evangelists. Now, you must take people as you find them, and when any one wants Dr Wild to preach to his Bond street congregation in the same strain as Wesley or Whitfield or Paul preached to their hearers, he necessarily makes the assumption that his congregation is on the same moral and intellectual level as their's were. This is where men of "G's" persuawere. This is where men of "G's" persua-

THE GLOBE AND COLONIZATION.

(To the Editor of the Montreal Star.) SIR: The Globe of Toronto is up in arms against the appointment of Sir John as governor-general of Canada. It would be breaking the last link which connects this great dominion with the colonial office, great dominion with the colonial office, cries the liberal organ, in its agony of despair. Is it not a pity to see the champion of reform in Outario advocating dependency and colonialism as the only political state for us Canadians. The liberal party is heartily sick of the Globe and of its bigoted sentiments. The National liberal union, of which the Mayor of Toronto, a true liberal is the president, advocates Canada for the Canadians in opposition to the Globe, and every Quebec liberal will hall with pride the appointment of a native born Canadian to the proudest position in the country. to the proudest position in the country With the large majority of the conserve to the proudest position in the country. With the large majority of the conservatives in Parliament, a conservative must have the appointment, and no leader in that party has ever stood more prominently before the Canadian people than Sir John A. Macdonald. His appointment will give general satisfaction to every true Canadian, whatever the "old country" people of the Globe stamp may think of it.

Perbaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of two thousand patients treated during the past six months fully innext per cent have been curred of this stubborn malady. This is none the less starting when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Striting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue. Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the catarrh is practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him two years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure extarrh in his manner, also other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being oured a four the product of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being oured a four the product of the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being oured a four than the product of the prod nachieved in modern medicine has been attained

The most cardless observer has remarked again and again the fearful mortality by Co sumption in and again the fearful mortality by Co sumption in and again the fearful mortality by Co sumption in anatumn and spring. Whatever improvement there may have been during the summer by the influences of nature, unaided by proper medical treatment, will dupon the advect of fall a return, with aggravation, of the dread train of symptoms which lead to the chamber of death.

The falling of the leaves is ominous to the victims of Lung Diseases, for the chill, winds of autumn are the harbingers of death. The transition of summer to the severe changes of fall and winter aggravate symptoms and give an impetus to the disease. Catarrh advances into Throat Disease; Inflammation of the Throat Into Bronetia, and the invasion of the Throat into Bronetia or Tubercular Consump ion, insidious hough it is, becomes, nevertheless, a fearful real-of the inroat into Bronchitis, and the invasion of Bro chial or Tubercular Consump ion, insidious though it is, becomes, nevertheless, a fearful reality. Nature in early autumn se musto hold a truce, so to speak, with the invalid, and to hold out the last and most favorable opportunity for overcoming the malady and regaining former vigor and he ith. It was an old dogma, as false and per ricious as comfortless, that all who were victims of Lung Discases must die—there was no hope; but happly that day has gone by, and he who clings to that theory is a long way behind the times. Medical science has kept pace with the spirit of the age. New discoveries, new improvements, new inventons have been made in medicine; new theories have taken the place of the faladies of former days, and experience year by year dune strates their truthfulness; and thousands are o-day living and well who under the old regime would have been in their grave.
