Progress of the Work on the New Parliament Buildings—Some Meavy Work.

The stone work in connection with the new Parliament Buildings is progressing satisfactorily. Contractor Lionel Yorke has nine steam derricks running, and will increase his present force of 100 to double that number in the course of a few days. The foundation for the boiler house and the chimney is massive and substantial, and is superior to that of any public structure in Ontario, with the possible exception of the Hamilton Postoffice.

The concrete work is about completed for the west wing; it is built of Portland cement five to one, and will ensure a solid and substantial foundation. The native cement has been, after a thorough trial, superseded by the Portland, the Government being forced to utilize the lat-
