"tempted of the Devil;" and my soul rose in praise to the Unseen Father, who, in all her woe and wandering had hedged her in by His love and power, and I involuntarily exclaimed.

"He hath indeed taken thee from the fearful pit and the miry clay."

"The lines have fallen unto thee in pleasant places."

THE END.

ust ele-

in

nad

utithe ton

iile ich ied un

nes Irs. *

of to a a ner

he ut