THE CANADIAN PHOTOGRAPHIC JOURNAL.

the "St. George and the Dragon," at Wargrave. The latter was painted in conjunction with Mr. J. E. Hodgson, R.A., Mr. Leslie delineating on one side an orthodox St. George spearing a dragon, and Mr. Hodgson represented on the other the saint refreshing himself after the fight with a tankard of beer. Mr. W. P.Frith, R.A., has also displayed his talents in this direction in one or two instances.

An English traveller stood looking at the glories of Yosemite for the first time. He had journeyed three thousand miles to see the wonderful valley. Before him in solemn grandeur rose the Cathedral Rock, the Three Brothers, and the Sentinel Dome. The Bridal Veil Falls, dissolving in a feathery mist as the waters descended the tremendous precipice, lit up with varied tints the sombre majesty of the scene; while El Capitan, mighty, overpowering, unapproachable, seemed to frown sternly overall. The traveller became conscious he was not alone. At hisside, apparently lost in wonder, stood a stranger, looking at the marvelous scene. He addressed the stranger:

" Is not this stupendous?"

The stranger bowed his head, as if he felt the inability of words to describe his emotions.

"Do you think," pursued the traveller, "that this terrific gorge was caused by some Titanic upheaval from below? Or is it the result of glacial action? What are your views, if any, as to----"

"My views," blandly interposed the stranger, opening a bag he carried in his hand containing photographs, "are only one dollar fifty cents a dozen, and cheap at twice the money. Permit me to show you a few samples."
