

Speaker's Ruling

members of the house that if the contents of this bill were referred to a committee, the committee would have to report back to the house and there would be an opportunity of debating that report and all that took place in the committee. The proposed amendment of the hon. member for Lake Centre is sufficiently, in material respects, similar to the amendment moved earlier in this debate by the leader of the opposition to be inadmissible.

For the reasons which I have given, I am ruling the amendment out of order.

Mr. Diefenbaker: Mr. Speaker, I regret that I must respectfully appeal from your ruling.

Mr. Speaker put the question as follows:

Mr. Garson moved that Bill No. 144 be now read a second time. Mr. Diefenbaker moved, seconded by Mr. Green, that all the words after "that" to the end of the question be deleted and the following be substituted therefor:

While this house is at all times anxious to assist in remedying any defects in the law with respect to combinations in restraint of trade that operate against the public interest, it regrets that His Majesty's ministers have failed to comply with the mandatory requirement of publication of reports under the Combines Investigation Act and that before inviting parliament to enact the said bill have failed to give any assurance that there will be no similar breach of the constitution in respect of this or any other act passed by the parliament of Canada.

I ruled the amendment out of order on the ground that it was not relevant to the act which is now under consideration, and also on account of its similarity to the amendment of the leader of the opposition (Mr. Drew), which was recently before the house.

From this ruling the hon. member for Lake Centre (Mr. Diefenbaker) and others appealed. The question is on the Speaker's ruling.

The house divided on the question: Shall the Speaker's decision be sustained? And the decision of the Chair was sustained on the following division:
