NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

SATURDAY REVIEW.—"Most interesting; an extremely pleasant book. The Illustrations by Mr. Sydney Hall and Lord Lorne largely contribute to the attractiveness of this very attractive volume."

ST. JAMES'S GAZETTE.—"What we specially need to be told about Canada, Lord Lorne is exceptionally fitted to tell us; and he has succeeded in doing so with a fine modest frankness and hearty goodwill, and a copious wealth of well-put information. To the emigrant Lord Lorne gives some sound practical advice."

THE TIMES.—"Lord Lorne's book is not intended for those who know Canada well, but for those who have never been there."
THE GUARDIAN.—"Canadian Pictures' is both a pretty and an instructive book. Lord Lorne is evidently an excellent draughtsman, and his drawings have been skillfully reproduced by the graver of Mr. Edward Whympere. It would be a mistake to regard the book as a mere ornament of the drawing-room table. It will undoubtedly answer this purpose, and give a pleasing occupation to anyone who may listlessly turn over its leaves. But to the reader who takes it more seriously, it will convey also a large amount of solid information."

THE CANADIAN GAZETTE.—"Most entertaining throughout. The information given in many of its chapters is so complete and trustworthy as to make it a valuable work of reference."

THE ATHENÆUM.—"It shows on every page the writer's fitness for the task of producing a lively, kindly, and clear account of the Dominion. The woodcuts which illustrate the volume are bright and neatly engraved. Mr. E. Whympere's cutting of them could not be better."

THE ACADEMY.—"The Marquis of Lorne has here collected into one gossily volume what he has to say as traveller rather than as Governor-General. He seems to have kept in view throughout, the picturesque and the readable, though it was impossible for him not to convey advice by the way. Altogether, this volume depicts Canada in a way that we are not likely soon to see surpassed."

THE QUEEN.—"This charming book contains information so varied and so great that all classes of readers will be pleased and profited by it."

MANCHESTER EXAMINER.—"The volume is well got up, and is sure to be a favourite gift book."

PUBLISHERS' CIRCULAR.—"It is not too much to say that if it had been produced by a west-end publisher at three times the modest price charged for it by the Religious Tract Society, it would have been esteemed remarkably cheap."

YORKSHIRE POST.—"This will be one of the most popular gift-books of the season, for it is artistic, patriotic, and in price popular."
