ENEMY'S PLANS UNCERTAIN. "Whether the motive inspiring the present action of the Germans mainst that place is an ambition to win thru to the Port of Calais, as is to be gathered from articles in their newspapers, or whether the opera-tion is due to a desire to drive the allied forces out of the whole of Bel-gium in order to complete the conquest of that country with a view to its amexation and to gain prestige with neutrals, is immaterial. "What concerns us more closely is that they have been making and setill pressing a desperate attempt to gain the town. "On Monday, the 26th, south of the Lys on our right the enemy at-tacked Neuvechapelle, one of the villages held by us. In the evening advancing under cover of a wood, they managed to gain possession of a portion of it north of the Lys.

"In the centre a bombardment alone was kept up and some ground was made by us. A detached post, which was attacked in force during the night, drove back its assailants, who left fifty-six dead behind. Germans Must Soon Weaken Forces to Meet Russian Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Nov. 5, 9.15 p.m.—No de-cision has yet been reached in the battle in the sand dunes of West Flanders, and the opposing armies stand now virtually as they have stood for many days. While the Germans keep hammering away at the allies around Ypres, which route they chose for their march to the coast after they had found the road along the sea barred to them, and the allies are making an effort to move northward to Ostend, neither side has sot very far. The Belgians and those supporting them have found that the floods that they created to stop their German advance are a hindrance to their movements altho they have been able to occupy some villages, including Bixschoote, which had been in the possession of the Germans. Around Ypres the German offensive, according to the accounts of the allies, has met with no success. Nov. 5 .- The British mine sweeper Mary was sunk by a mine in the North Sea today. Six out o fa crew of fourteen were saved. The survivors, who were landed at Lowestoft, reported heavy firing off the Yorkshire coast this afternoon. The hospital ship Rohilla, which was recently wrecked off the Yorkshire coast with a heavy loss of life, was struck by a mine and so badly injured that her captain was forced to run her on to the rocks in order to escape sinking at sea. Captain Wilson, the commander of the Rohilla, so testified against the Boer armies, was found dead in his bedroom today from a selfat an inquest held today. "The Franco-British lines have at no point drawn back and our troops, undertaking the offensive, have made notable progress in several directions. Between the region of La Bassee and the Somme the gay was notable particularly for an artillery contest. "In the region of Roye we have maintained our occupation of Le Quesnoy-En-Santerre and advanced perceptibly in the direction of Andechy: "On the centre, between the Oise and the Moselle, there has been a recrudescence of the activity of the Germans, manifested especially by their artillery fire. "Summing up it may be said that the attacks of the enemy at various points on our front have been repulsed, in some instances after an en-gagement which lasted all day long.
