

(b) Students attempting their Matriculation Examinations after taking our course, have also the same advantages; but there is this further fact to be reckoned with: The majority of our students who try the Matriculation Examinations, are persons who, at the eleventh hour, have made up their minds to try the examinations, and who, after rushing through our course, have hardly time to more than glance at the special work on which they are to be examined.* Their practical knowledge of Latin saves them from failing outright, but they do not rank as high as students who have had two or three years in which to prepare their work. The student who begins in time with the Analytical Method need fear no Latin examination.

---

COLLEGE CLASSES.

Classes for the study of Latin by the De Brisay Analytical Method have been formed this year (1894) among the students of the following Colleges:

McGILL UNIVERSITY.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY.

WYCLIFFE COLLEGE, TORONTO.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK,

ETC., ETC., ETC.

---

* Thus a student in May will write: "I have decided to try my examinations in July. Have I time to get up the work?"