

Threw Engine Into Lake As Makeshift For Lost Anchor

GODERICH, Nov. 5.—A new use has been discovered for a gasoline engine. Some fishing boats had a narrow escape from being lost recently when they were caught in a gale. Some were able to make Port Arthur, and one boat was out all night, sailing into the harbor here today, when it was learned that the captain had taken his gasoline engine out of the boat, and, putting a line on it, had thrown it overboard as an anchor, he having lost his original anched. He also lost his engine as a result. from being lost recently when they were Marshal Foch Is Authorized By the Allies To Receive the Representatives of Germany and To Communicate To Them the Term's of the Armistice.

Amsterdam, Nov. 6.—Gen. E. G. W. von Gruenell, Germany's military delegate to The Hague peace conference; Gen. H. K. A. von Winterfeld, Admiral Meures and Admiral Paul von Hintz, former secretary of foreign affairs, have been appointed members of a commission to deal with the allied powers on arm-

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Marshal Foch has been authorized by the United States and the Allies to receive representatives of the German Government and to communicate to them the terms of an armistice. The German Government is so informed in a note handed to the Swiss minister here today by Secretary Lansing.

The note announces that the Allied governments have declared their willingness to make peace with the German Government on the terms laid down in President Wilson's address to Congress last January, and on the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses.

The Allies reserve to themselves, however, complete freedom of action when they enter the peace conference on the subject of freedom of the seas. It was further stated with reference to restoring of invaded territories that the Allied governments understand that compensation will be made by Germany for all damage to the civilian population of the Allies and their property as the result of the aggression of Germany "by land, by sea, and age done to the civilian population of the Allies and their property by the aggression of Germany by land, by sea, and from the air."

"I am instructed by the president to say that he is in agreement with the interpretation set forth in the last paragraph of the memorandum above quoted. I am further instructed by the president to exactly you'to notify the German Government that Marshal Foch has been authorized by the Government of the United States and the Allied Governments to receive properly accredited representatives of the German Government and to communicate to them terms of an armistice.

Publication of details of the armistice terms still is withheld. They may not be made known until the may not be made known until the Germans have accepted or rejected them as the course followed by the Allies in dealing with Bulgaria, Turkey and Austria. Only the details are in doubt, however, and no one questions that acceptance means abject surrender.

The statement has been authorized that the drastic conditions under which Austria passed out of the war have been followed closely, and in answer to queries for further information officials said tonight the statement of Premier Clemenceau, cabled from Paris tonight by the Associated Press, told the story.

Text of the Note.

The text of Secretary Lansing's note follows:

"I have the honor to request you to transmit the following communication to the German Government."

"In my note of October 23, 1918, I advised you that the president had transmitted his correspondence with the German authorities to the govthe German authorities to the governments with which the Government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, with the suggestion that, if those governments were disposed to accept peace upon the terms and principles indicated, their military advisers and the military advisers of the United States be asked to submit to the governments associated against Germany the necessary terms of such an armistice as would fully protect the interests of the peoples involved and insure to the associated governments the unrestricted power to safeguard and enforce the details of the peace to which the German Government had agreed, provided they

the peace to which the German Government had agreed, provided they deem such an armistice possible from the military point of view.

The Allies' Memo.

The president is now in receipt of a memo of observations by the Allied governments on this correspondence, which is as follows:

"The Allied governments have given careful consideration to the correspondence which has passed between the president of the United States and the German Government. Subject to the qualifications, which follow, they declare their willingness to make peace with the Government to make peace with the Government of Germany on the terms of peace laid down in the president's address to Congress of January, 1918, and the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses.

"They must point out, however, that clause two, relating to what is usually described as the freedom of the seas, is open to various interpretations, some of which they could not accept. They must, therefore, reserve to themselves complete freedom on this subject when they enter the peace conferences.

Full Compensation.

"Further, in the conditions of peace laid down in his address to Congress of January 8, 1918, the president declared that invaded territories must be restored, as well as evacuted and freed, the Allied Governments feel that no doubt ought to be allowed to exist as to what to be allowed to exist as to what this provision implies. SETTLEMENT OF COULDN'T ASK FOR IRISH QUESTION IS POSTPONED

Motion Made By John Dillon In British House Defeated.

London, Nov. 6.—After a discussion lasting all day, the House of Commons yesterday rejected by a vote of 196 to 115 a motion made by John Dillon, chairman of the Nationalist party, that the Irish question should be settled without delay on President Wilson's principle of self-determination. As first proposed, the motion asked that Great Britain should not enter the peace conference until the Irish question was settled. This met with vigorous opposition from Edward Shortt, chief secretary for Ireland, and Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, who argued that the war had raised questions far transcending home rule. Mr. Dillon then consented to amend his motion.

PETROGRAD A DESERTED, STARVING CITY; AWFUL CONDITIONS FOR WINTER

New York, Nov. 5.—Norman Armour of Chicago, a secretary attached to the one-time American embassay at Petrograd, and who accompanied the embassy to Moscow and then to Vologda, reached here today on his way to Washington with reports for the department of state. He came by way of Finland. "Petrograd," he said, "was a deserted and starving city when I left. You notice a horse standing in a street hitched to a public cab. In another minute the horse has dropped dead of starvation. You pass that way again in an hour, and the people have cut the dead animal to pieces and carried it dead animal to pieces and carried it away for food. The Bolsheviki are more autocratic than the czar and his officers ever dared be, and conditions in Russia this winter will be beyond description."

To what extent the women of New York, exercising their suffrage for the first time, had been responsible for the close result in the state contest, was not apparent early today. There were several women candidates for Congress in the state, but all were defeated.
