PROMINENT GERMAN PUTS END TO LIFE

Leaps Ten Stories to Death In New York

FIRST OPENS WRIST VEINS

Then Lies in Bath Tub to Die
But Becomes Impatient and Springs From Window — Once
Bank Manager

The suicide of Richard Adam Timmerscheidt, once manager of a German bank and representative of important German interests, who threw himself out of a window of his apartment on the tenth floor of the house at 200 West

ONIR

Fifty-ninth street, New York, early on last Thursday, was followed by the disclosure that he had been interviewed on several occasions by the federal authorities in relation to the activities of secret agents. The fact that the last interview took place not more than seven days ago led to a report that he had been under surveillance as one of the men who had been giving Germany information of troop movements, but this was denied.

"It is true," said John C. Knox, assistant United States attorney, "that the federal authorities had occasion to question Mr. Timmerscheidt, but nothing was learned as the result of these interviews offering a reason for the suicide."

Timmerscheidt threw himself out of the window a little before five o'clock in the morning. He had severed the veins in his wrists with a safety razor and there was evidence to show that he had lain down to die in the bathtub, but evidently had grown impatient and had jumped from the window.

Up to 1900 he had been manager of one of the foreign departments of Ladue, Thulman & Co., New York.

According to a statement made by a member of this firm, he then left to accept a place in the foreign department of the Deutsche Gesellschaft, in Berlin, at a large salary. He left that place to become manager of the Hong Kong branch of the Deutsche Asiatic Bank, which has close affiliations with the German government.

At the outbreak of the war he returned to New York, sending his wife, who is an English woman, and their children to the United States. He was the representative of the Deutsche Asiatic Bank, but efforts to learn details of his business were not entirely successful.

AUTHOR AND NURSE WED

Announcement of the marriage of Owen Johnson, author, to Miss Cecile Denis de Lagarde of Chignens, France, was made last week. They were married on July 5 in Boalsburg, Penn., in the private chapel at the home of Captain Theodore Davis Boal of the First Pennsylvania Cavalry, the Rev. Byron A. O'Hanlon officiating. Captain Boal, whose wife was a sister of the bride, is a nephew of the late Theodore M. Davis of Newport, the Egyptologist, of whose family Miss de Lagarde was long a member.

She was born in France, and spent much of her time in Washington, D.C. She has been in the Red Cross service in France as a volunteer nurse during the war, in charge of the wards in the hospitals of Chambery and Cannes, and wears the medal of the Red Cross. Outside of her activities as a nurse she is the founder of the society for disposing of the handwork of French gentlemen, known as "Abelles de France."

Miss de Lagarde was married in the blue habit of the Red Cross. The wedding was a quiet one, those attending including Captain Boal, who was in uniform, his mother, Mrs. M. A. B. Boal, and his aunt, Miss Buttles of Washington, with officers of the camp at Boalsburg; also Robert Underwood Johnson, father of the bridegroom, and his daughters, the Misses Olivia and Katharine Johnson, who represented Mr. Johnson's family.

After spending August at York Village, Me., where Mr. Johnson's parents and his children are passing the summer, Mr. Johnson and his bride plan to return to France.

Mr. Johnson is best known as the author of "The Salamander," "Stover at Yale," and "The Wonder Giver," which has also written several plays, including "The Comet," in which Mme. Nardis appeared. He is 39 years old and is a graduate of Yale, class of 1900. He is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and belongs to the Players' and Authors' Clubs.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WILDES
A shipment of spars from British Columbia has arrived at Parrishboro for G. M. Cochrane of Port Greville and will be used in two term schooners he is building. The freight bill of the shipment was $1,007.

Two commercial men, H. P. Crouse of St. John, and Frank L. Magee of Moncton, were in an auto accident at Bass River, Kent county, on Friday afternoon. While going down Murphy's hill their car struck a sand bed, the machine got beyond control and plunged over a bridge into a gully twelve feet deep. The occupants were thrown headlong over the windshield. Crouse fell under the car, but escaped with few bruises and scratches. Magee was thrown clear and escaped with a slight shaking up.

The new principal of the Mount Allison Ladies' College, Rev. Hamilton Wigle, B.A., has arrived at Sackville and taken up the duties of his office. Dr. B. C. Borden, who has been acting principal of the Ladies' College in addition to his duties as president of the university, remains at the head of the latter institution.

Veterans in Boston.
The St. John veterans who have been in Boston for the last week, enjoyed their first evening rest on Friday, that evening not having been set aside for a function of some kind. On Saturday afternoon, led by Lieut. McKinney and Lieut. Brooks, they assembled outside the city hall and listened to a farewell address by Mayor Cutler, who is largely responsible for the splendid hospitality that has been shown them by Boston citizens. The veterans will arrive in St. John tomorrow.

Another Gould Is Quietly Wed

George J. Jr., Married in Philadelphia

Bride Is An Orphan

Date Was Set Within a Week,
Mrs. Gould Asserts — She Is
Skilled as a Dancer — Second
Gould Wedding Within a Few Days

Following a few days on the heels of his brother Kingdome's wedding, George J. Gould, Jr., youngest son of a noted financier, was married in Philadelphia on last Thursday to Miss Laura M. Carter of Ardara, N.J.

So quietly were the arrangements made for the wedding that even Rev. Dr. William D. Chalfont who married them was unaware of the bridegroom's prominence. No member of Mr. Gould's family was present.

Dr. George A. Coleman, a dentist, and another man and a woman, said to be the bride's aunt, Mrs. E. J. Callahan of Ardara, N.J., witnessed the ceremony. The bride is said to be an orphan.

Soon after noon they walked to the City Hall, and entering the marriage license bureau on the fifth floor, took their places among those waiting for licenses. Mr. Gould was identified for Chief Clerk Ferguson by Dr. Coleman. Leaving the city hall, Mr. Gould and Miss Carter walked to the home of the Rev. Dr. Chalfont, about three blocks away, where the wedding ceremony was performed. It is believed that they were married there at the suggestion of the marriage license clerk, as Dr. Chalfont is known as a "marrying person" at the City Hall.

Following the wedding, Mr. Gould and his bride, who were a traveling suit of serge, disappeared. Dr. Coleman, who admitted he was an intimate friend of Mr. Gould, said he did not know where they had gone.

George J. Gould, Jr., gave his age at the license bureau as 21. His bride, who also gave her age as 21, is a handsome brunette of medium height. In signing the application for the license Mr. Gould gave his occupation as a clerk. Dr. Coleman said that he believed Mr. Gould had obtained a place as school instructor in New York city for next fall. Dr. Coleman would not divulge the name of the school. According to custom Mr. Gould was asked to show his draft registration, and he produced it.

Bride Skilled as a Dancer

Mrs. George J. Gould, Jr., said at Ardara, N.J., where she and her husband went after their marriage, that the parents of the Goulds had been told that the marriage was to take place.

Miss Carter is the daughter of Mr. Mrs. Stuart Carter, who died when she was 4 years old. For the last seven years she has lived with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Callahan, formerly of New York. For the last six years their home has been on a farm at Ardara, near Freehold, N.J. The Callahans, formerly were well known in New York, where Mr. Callahan was said to have many friends among racing men.

Miss Carter, who has considerable fame for her skill as a dancer, has been frequently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, Sr., "Georgian Court," at Lakewood, N.J., and Mrs. Gould Sr. were at Georgian Court with George J. Gould, Sr., until Tuesday of last week, when the parents left to go to Paris. Their summer home in the Catskills, George J. Jr., stayed at Lakewood until Thursday morning, when he went to Philadelphia.

George J. Jr., refused to say anything over the telephone, but his bride confirms the fact that they had been married. She was asked if the inspiration for the suddenness of their matrimonial plans came from the unexpected wedding of Kingdome Gould. She said:

"No, I don't think so." Asked how long ago it was that the marriage was decided upon, she said: "The date has only been fixed within the last week."

"Was it a surprise to your relatives?" she was asked. "Not at all," she replied. "Mr. Gould's relatives knew all about it and mine were present at the ceremony."

Mrs. G. J. Gould, Jr., was graduated from the Freehold High School in 1914. They first became acquainted about a year ago.

The wedding of two of the Goulds within the last week have contrasted strikingly with the weddings of their brother and sisters which were among the great society events of their season. Police reserves were required to control the crowds which gathered on the sidewalk and in the street at the weddings of three other children of George J. Gould.

The first of the children of George J. Gould to marry was Miss Marjorie Gwynne Gould, who became Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., in 1910. Miss Helen Vivien Gould married Lord Decies in 1911.

In the same year Jay Gould married Miss Annie Douglas Graham, who has in her veins blood of the royal house of Hawaii. Among the guests at this wedding, which took place at St. Thomas church, Fifty-third street and Fifth avenue, was the Princess Kawakani of Hawaii.

The next marriage in the family was that on last Monday, that of Kingdome Gould and Miss Annunziata Canilla Maria Lucet, an art student and formerly instructor to Miss Vivien Gould. This wedding took place in the rectory of St. Patrick's Cathedral. The only member of the Gould family at the marriage of Kingdome Gould was George J. Gould.

BOY EMPEROR OF CHINA ABDICATES

London, July 8.—A Reuter's despatch from Peking announces that Hsuan Tung, the young emperor, has abdicated. Reuter's Peking correspondent also reports that the palace there was bombarded by an airplane yesterday.

Republic Re-established.

Washington, July 8.—Official despatches to the Chinese legation here tonight says the republic has been firmly re-established at Nanking, with Feng Kuo-Chang, the former vice-president, as president of the new provisional government. Republican troops were reported converging toward Peking to drive out the Manchus forces remaining in position there in the name of the imperialists.

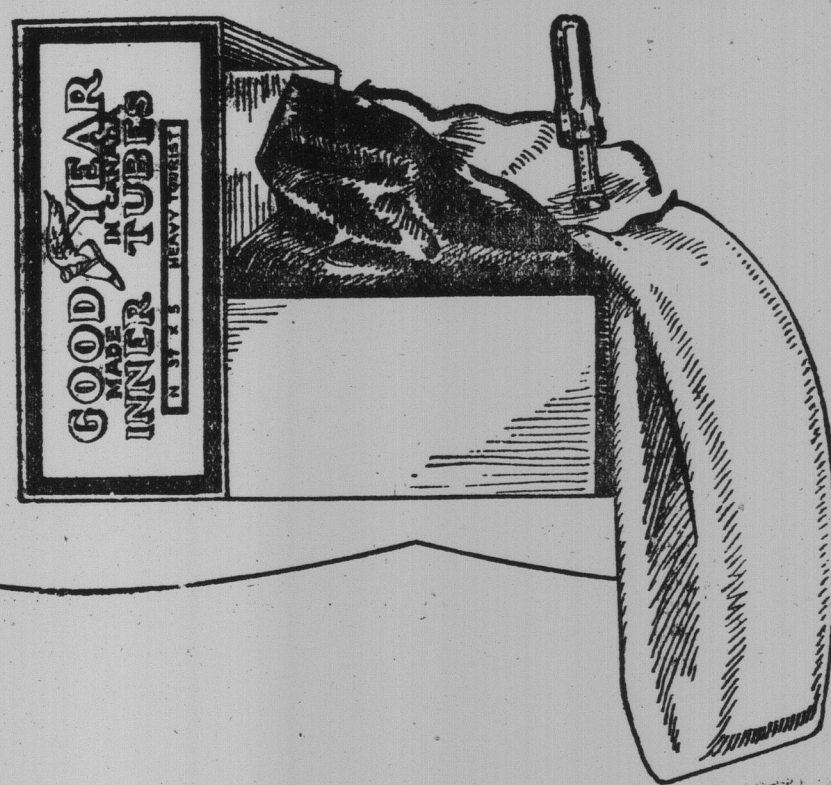

session there in the name of the imperialists.

TWO WERE KILLED

S. S. Made, Michigan, July 7.—Four persons were killed and one was injured last evening, when an automobile was struck by a Canadian Pacific passenger train near Blind River (Ont.). The dead are: Mrs. J. D. Stover, her daughter Mary, Mrs. J. W. Brooks and her daughter, all of Blind River.

The injured man was Ralph Glynn, a lumberman, of Sault Ste. Marie.

If you have a piano stool in your kitchen you will find it much more satisfactory than the ordinary kitchen stool, as the latter cannot be regulated to any height to fit the sink or the table or to suit a tall or a short person.

Good Tubes Increase the Mileage of Tires

You have read of extra long mileages that other motorists have got from tires. You may be amongst the thousands of motorists who wonder why the same brand of tires goes farther for other men.

Allow us to give you a pointer. Look to your tubes.

Good tubes—Goodyear Tubes—will get many extra miles from tires.

Because a poor tube, through slow leaks, causes under-inflation, the commonest enemy of tires.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes overcome this. Their exclusive method of manufacture insures air-tightness to the greatest possible degree.

For we take the highest quality rubber and roll it thin to transparency—so we can detect all flaws, sand holes, air bubbles. The inspected, perfect sheets are then built up, layer on layer, into a perfect, inseparable whole. This is the only right way to make tubes.

And we even vulcanize the valve patch, instead of merely sticking it on.

It is very much worth while, for the sake of your casings, and for longer tube service, to say "Goodyears" when you buy tubes.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Canada, Limited

Goodyear Tubes, along with Goodyear Tires and Tire-Saver Accessories, are easy to get from Goodyear Service Station Dealers everywhere.
