ARMED GUARD FROM CAMP SUSSEX WENT OUT TO INVESTIGATE

Maritime Express Held-Up by Men Who Told of Seeing Suspicious Characters Working Under Bridge

After the Maritime Express left Sussex last evening and had reached the Salmon River Bridge near Plumesset, some excitement was caused among the passengers when it was brought to a sudden stop on being signalled by a man who stood upon the tracks warning against a further advance. He said he had seen several men working at something under the bridge, and had become suspicious, so when he knew the train was approaching he thought it advisable to give warning in case anything should be wrong. The matter was at once reported to the superintendent of the division, and a section crew was sent to the scene, as well as an armed guard from the 55th Battalion at Sussex Camp, under Major Rowe and the quartermaster, Lieut. Kirkpatrick. Although diligent search was made no sign of the men was seen. They had run into the woods.

B., Ltd., et al, an interesting report of the master was read. A motion was made by J. P. H. Fred to confirm the report. The leave was granted, and the master, and sold under a decretal order all the lands and property of the defendant in Queens county, at Chubb's corner, in this city, for the sum of $21,000. POLICE OFFICIALS IN QUESTION AND ANSWER

An Incident in a Case in the Police Court This Morning

Alexander J. Petersen, a Dane, was committed for trial by Magistrate Ritchie this morning on a charge of breaking and entering the tailor store of Henry W. Goldberg, Charlotte street, and stealing a pair of pants. Petersen was arrested by Special Policeman Barrett and the pants recovered.

When Detective Worrall began to question the witness there was some repartee between him and Barrett. The latter said that Detective Worrall did not know anything about the case, and Worrall intimated that if he had not been in court all yesterday morning he might have known more about it. He said the witness pointed out the prisoner to Barrett and that was how the arrest was made. This Barrett denied.

Peter J. Nordy told about having the defendant in his employ two weeks ago, and also of the complaint coming to him on Monday and asking where Petersen could be found. He said in conversation with the defendant after he had been taken into custody and he had acknowledged entering the store and taking the pants.

Barrett told of going to Mr. Goldberg's store Monday and in consequence of information received arrested the defendant on a Danish bark in West St. John.

LANCASTER PEOPLE PROVE PATRIOTIC AND GENEROUS

First Reports From Red Cross Collecting Campaign Reveal Excellent Spirit

The ladies of the Lancaster Red Cross Society met yesterday afternoon and reports were received from the various collectors appointed to canvass the parish for funds on a monthly payment basis. Owing to the unfavorable weather very few had finished the territory allotted to them, consequently no figures are yet available as to the total amount resulting from the campaign, but donations are already to hand and subscriptions promised, assuring the promoters of marked success considerably in excess of expectations.

As the ladies gave their reports yesterday each in turn emphasized the hearty manner in which they were received by the people, many of whom expressed themselves as anxious to do all they could to help along so worthy a cause as that which the Red Cross represents. There were several instances reported where men were giving a day's pay a month and some where amounts offered meant economy, something else to make up. Several little boys pledged themselves for a monthly donation and the ladies were enthusiastic over the fine spirit expressed wherever they went.

The collections of the Lancaster Red Cross Society are being continued within the parish limits, leaving West End and the city to other societies or branches of the organization. It was the opinion of the ladies yesterday that Lancaster, which has given freely of her sons, would prove her liberality equally pronounced when full returns were to hand.

SEVENTEEN YEARS.

In referring to the appointment of Dufferin W. Harper as manager of the branch of Provincial Bank of Canada, which is to be opened here the Times yesterday through a typographical error spoke of Mr. Harper's banking experience as extending over eleven, instead of seventeen years.

He was going to visit him on Sunday. He wished to be remembered to all his friends.

Gordon Kennedy of the 26th

A letter received from Pte. G. G. Kennedy of the 26th battalion gives the address of that unit as East Sandling Camp. He tells of having had a pleasant trip across in England. He tells of a visit which he made to a Canadian hospital, and says that he saw some heart-rending sights. He saw one soldier brought back from the firing line with both arms and legs shot off, and another who had been in the trenches but three hours, but who was brought back minus one arm. General Steel inspected the battalion a few days before Kennedy wrote and seemed quite pleased with it. Kennedy desires to be remembered to his friends in the city.

Frank Tennant of 26th

Pte. Frank Tennant writing to his mother, Mrs. B. Tennant, 294 Brussels street, from England, where he is with the 26th battalion, tells of their being given a hearty reception throughout that country. Mr. Campbell wishes to be remembered to all of his friends.

Several St. John Boys.

Mrs. E. W. Chase, of Hawthorne avenue, has a letter from her son, now on active service in which he says "I am in a convalescent hospital and expect to go back to the battery any day. I have been with Gordon Nuttall for the last few days, as his regiment is not far from the hospital. I have also been talking to George Curran and have seen E. Alward, another St. John boy. All are looking fine. It is good to get away from the sound of the guns for a while."

Mrs. Chase has also received a letter from her sister in England in which she says Canada cannot and have seen E. Alward and had tea. One was at Sandling and the other at St. Martin's. Major McLean and Colonel Rogers and his wife dined with us on Sunday."
