There are still some hide-bound Con-There are still some hide-bound Conservatives in this city, it is said, who refuse to believe that the Grand Trunk Pacific has bought a site for terminals, or has any intention of bringing any business to St. John. The last news they had on the subject was a report of some of Dr. Daniel's speeches and the editorials in the Standard at the time of the federal elections. No one who heard those speeches or read those articles, and had any faith in them, could be expected to anticipate any such developments as have since occurred in connection with Courtenay Bay.

But Tom But though Dr. Daniel was cleeted his Brown and William Jones and John Rob-W party was defeated, and the work of national development has gone on at a relege, do not see the wisdom of going out markable rate of progress. The St. John to a little town of two or three thousand of today is quite different from that of even two years ago. It is useless for opponents of the federal government to seven two years ago. The seven two years ago. It is useless for opponents of the federal government to seven two years ago. The seven two years ag other for the rest of their lives, or until they are removed to another sphere to fight any longer at the Grand Trunk Pacific or at the statements made regarding developments at Courtenay Bay. The government's great transportation policy is making itself felt at St. John, and the evidence daily accumulates and becomes more convincing. Necessarily time is required to carry out the great plans for public works and terminal facilities, but the work is in progress, and within ten or even five years an amazing change will have taken place in the general aspect of the shores of Courtenay Bay, as well as in that portion of the province traversed by the Grand Trunk Pacific.

One-effect of the change will be a breaking down of that petty narrowness of political view, which fixes the eye of harred upon the minister of public works, and tical view which fixes the eye of harred upon the minister of public works, and bitterly denounced him and all his works. His predictions are being fulfilled. His policy is being carried out. He is one of the big men of Canada in a period of big achievements. He represents and guards the interests of St. John, while administering the most exacting of all the departments of the government.

The construction of a line from Chipman to St. John is the natural outcome of a desire on the part of the company to reach its St. John terminals by the most direct route, and is the best guarantee that this port will derive great benefit from the G. T. P. connection. But some time must necessarily elapse before this line can be constructed, and in the meantime freight will come here via Moncton. The early operation of the main line of the G. T. P. In this province will lead to rapid development along the route. New Brunswick is
