PRaise FOR PROVINCIAL PRODUCTION OF FOOD.

Fredericton, Jan. 16.—Hon. J. W. Tweeddale, minister of agriculture for New Brunswick, is in receipt of a letter from Dr. J. W. Robertson, of the Canadian food organization, who has been in England for some time on business connected with food production in Canada, which speaks in the highest terms of the effort made by New Brunswick last year to increase agricultural production.

Speaking particularly of the situation in Europe at present, Dr. Robertson writes that the needs of the European nations including allied countries, new countries which have formed from the chaos on the continent and even enemy countries which will have to be fed will absorb the world's 1919 crop except the reserves, which must be carried over into 1920.

Dr. Robertson stated also that the response of the people of New Brunswick for increased production was greatly appreciated and he advocates the formation of local production committees which will organize and supervise work in the future and decide upon the best methods to pursue in the various localities.

She is a member of the Women's Municipal League of Boston, and of the Authors' Society.

BRADSTREET'S ON STATE OF TRADE

(Bradstreet's Report.)
Trade at wholesale and with jobbers ranges from only fair to distinctly quiet, most animation being visible in the west and south, and most marked hesitation being noted at the large eastern centers close to large primary production. Industry is even quieter than in preceding weeks, with a greater percentage of capacity idle awaiting the readjusting process, which moves but slowly. Where readjustments have been completed as in a few lines, activity is being resumed guardedly. Of the three great departments of business activity, retail trade shows relatively most animation, due to clearance sales, which are extensively advertised, though decidedly quiet weather overspreading the country has given long-needed stimulus to final distribution of winter-wear goods. The vital change in retail trade from a year ago consists largely in the featuring of after-holiday sales, whereas last year these sales were conspicuous by their absence. Perhaps the most distinctly pleasing feature of the week's reports are the advices from practically all points that conditions are good. Prices are comparatively few, and the different crops of embarrassments is almost non-existent. Wholesale and jobbers now have most of their salerback on the road, with the result of a slight gain in orders in some sections, but the general report is of conservative buying by final distributors, who believing prices are to be lower, are slow to buy freely and are content to work off stocks pending clearer views of the situation. It is, of course, in the industries that readjustment rather than conditions of manufacture than of prices, are in evidence. The supply of labor is increasing, though so slowly that it is not yet a serious problem. The country's capacity is larger than it was some years ago. Coal is in better demand, but there are plenty of cars available, and absolute scarcity will not present itself this year, unlike last. Copper and lead production in the west is showing off, with quotations lower; on the other hand, requirements in the Pacific northwest lumber industry seem to have been fairly completed and many of the mills are now shut down. The wool trade is quiet, but government valuations check trading, and the prospect of unimpeded imports after January 10 has not stimulated business as yet. One of the quite cheerfully situated industries is that of automobile manufacturing, itself in process of readjustment, but looking forward to a good business, now that restrictions on manufacture are nullified. Cold weather in the west is militating so far as the wheat area is concerned, by a good snow covering west of the Mississippi, but little is reported in the central west. Bad-of-year settlements and a full week's operations have resulted in a recovery in the wool market, exceeding even that of the first week of December. Recent foreign trade has been good, but the outlook for the year forecasts a decline, with the exception of manufactured goods in the 1918 export trade as a whole. The wool market is still quiet but shows a steadily strengthening side from shares, which are strong with optimism. The demand for investment securities is good, and large tracts of government bonds and note offerings were quickly subscribed for.

Borrowing Our Own Money

Some Views on the Plan for Financing Housing Scheme
(Canadian Finance.)

The federal government recently made an appropriation of $20,000,000 for the construction of houses throughout the Dominion. This money is to be divided between the provinces according to their respective populations. The loans will bear interest at 3 per cent, payable semi-annually. No loan in any province is to run more than twenty years, and repayment may be made at any time before the maturity of the loan. It is understood that the provincial authorities will distribute the funds received among the municipalities, which in turn will carry on the actual work of construction or supervise the expenditure of the money.

Although the money loaned is cost-free, the housing problem is one that needs prompt consideration. In many of our western cities even now there is a scarcity of suitable dwellings, and the return of thousands of ex-soldiers will make the situation still more serious.

Problems can only be solved effectively by solutions evolved after an intelligent and comprehensive survey has been made of the conditions which created the problems. Proper house accommodations are scarce because of the temporary suspension of building operations during the past four years. The reasons for this inactivity were: the shrinkage in demand for houses during the earlier period of the war, and the consequent rise in rental values to a point where it became cheaper to be a tenant than it was to be a house owner.

It is safe to assume that although the logical result of carrying on an extensive building campaign during 1919 will therefore be that rents must be increased.

Sat Up in Bed To Get Her Breath

Palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, inability to lie on the left side, feelings as if unsharpened, oppressed feeling in the chest, dizziness and faint spells, tired, weak, worn out feeling, involuntary twitching of the muscles, sleeplessness, restlessness, etc. all point to the fact that either the heart or nerves, or both, are not what they should be. Any of these conditions should be remedied immediately so as to avoid a complete breakdown of the whole system.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring energy to the weakened constitution, strengthen and regulate the heart, and tone up the tired, overstrained nerves.

Mrs. William Steeves, Chemical Road, N. B., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles and palpitation of the heart, which was so bad I had to sit straight up in bed to get my breath. I could not lie on my left side at all. I tried doctor after doctor, and used several different remedies, but got no help from them. My mother insisted on my trying Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. By the time I had used one box, I was feeling very much better. I took in all three boxes, and now I am in perfect health and can enjoy a good sleep, and can lie on my left side without any trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

How Gray's Syrup Breaks Your Cough

In breaking up your cough and correcting the accompanying ailments, you will find that Gray's Syrup brings prompt relief in three distinct ways.

First—Immediately on taking Gray's Syrup the dry, inflammatory condition of the throat is cooled. Swallowing becomes less difficult and the throat performs its natural functions in comfort.

Second—no matter how tight and dry a cough is, Gray's Syrup loosens it up. The cough rapidly diminishes under consistent treatment and does not again become distressing enough to continue to strain the throat and lung muscles.

Third—the phlegm which collects on the inflamed parts and clogs the tubes is quickly raised. The healing and soothing influence of Gray's Syrup coming into direct contact with the affected parts brings them back to their normal condition.
